Good Morning Sofia

I just email Mr. Moreno and I will check in with him during passing. I will keep you posted. At the end of the day this would not be a reason why I would not allow a student to graduate. We will work this out.

Hi Everyone,

According to PowerSchool, [redacted] is currently failing College Readiness. He did not take college readiness last year, so if he receives an F, he will be 5 credits behind in this category. What is the protocol with this in regards to graduation (I've never had a student fail the course)?

Thanks,

This is a great question. I have not had a student fail in this area. This would be something to consult with the counselors on.

Best,

Got it. It might be good to schedule a parent meeting with parents and student that I can be a part of so we can determine if she may benefit from other supports as well (i.e. counseling). In this meeting we can determine is dropping AP is the best choice.

I can also try reaching out to parents, just let me know what you think is best.

Hi Jessica

I would say not to changing her schedule as I am not sure her parents know the impact this will have on her and what she will need to do to stay A-G eligible.

But with that said I have had several conversations with dad this year and they have been having a real difficult time with [redacted] all year long and it may be in her best interest.

Let me try to get a hold of dad in the next few days so I can talk to him.

Gracias

Hey Josh,

I hope you had a nice break!

January:

- Instruction: Direct Ed Sub-Month of January to cover AS and push-in classes.
- Compliance:
  - Lilly has one IEP this month, and the one IEP where parent has disagreements that need to be addressed. Glynis can support in facilitation of both of these.
  - Service logs: Until our LT SPED credentialed provider is cleared we will need to allocate for the SPED teachers to divide up her service logs to log for her students. The Direct Ed LTS will provide the services they just need to track the minutes.

Beginning of February (waiting for CA clearance) credentialed long term starts from Maxim for remainder of school year. Teacher can write IEPs, provide services, and teach classes.

  - Glynis will support in training in how to use Welligent for service tracking and IEP writing.

If you want to jump on a call today or tomorrow to go through logistics that would be great. Let me know what time is best for your team?

Best,
Glynis

Hey Miss,
I'm not sure I ever replied to this. We are working on our PD schedule for semester 2 because we had to make some changes. I'm hoping that I should have solid dates for you by the end of the week.

Also on a separate but related note if you have not already committed yourself to go somewhere else on Jan14th (the school site retreat day) we would love it if you could join us in the morning. We'll be discussing our vision and commitment to college ready teaching and learning and I think the department could benefit from your insight.
Let me know!

Thanks!

Sorry yes I meant to include the time! We're using the afternoon for advisory so this would be in the morning from 8 (probably 8:15 or 8:30 because of breakfast) until 11:30

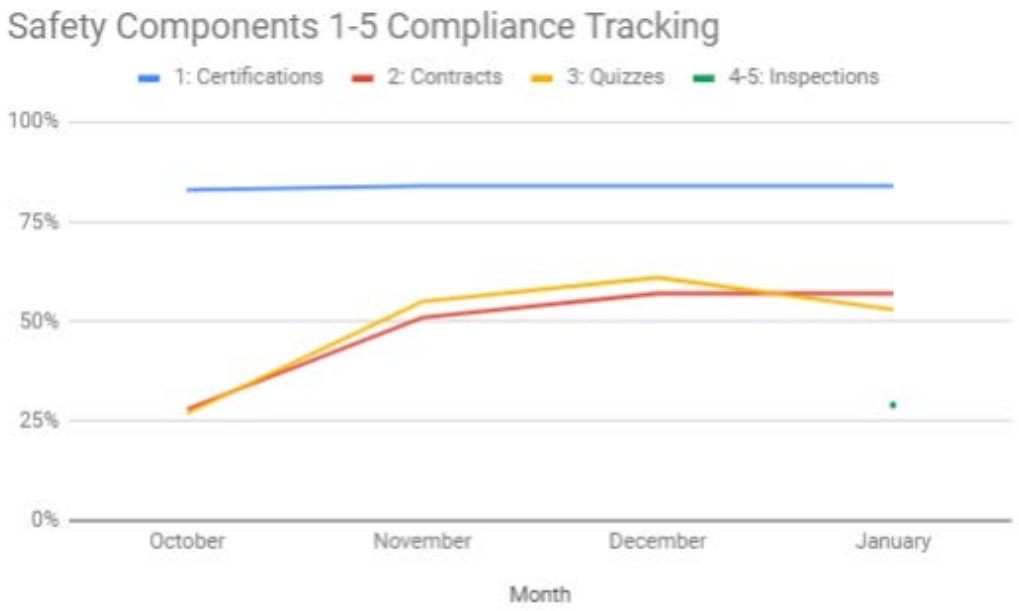
Subject: January Science Safety Update

Fearless science leaders,

This JANUARY Science Safety update is meant to provide you with a status update on your science safety compliance thus far this year.



Biggest Movers in December	Schools with full compliance thus far*	Schools which are oh so close
CPT DLH ING LEA ROB FLO	AEO JAM LEA DLH FLO CPT	Locke APW ACPA ING ROB WRN

*Most schools have 1 teacher or 1 item missing - an easy fix! Contact your CS to rectify this ASAP

Thank you to those of you who have worked with your team to meet the Science Safety deadlines thus far. Attention to these details will improve the safety of students on your campus.

Full campus compliance dashboards available here

As a reminder, science safety compliance has 5 components:

Due Early September each year (now past due)	Due January 31st Each Year (upcoming deadline)
Component #1: Safety Training Component #2: Safety Contracts Component #3: Safety Quizzes	Component #4: Safety Inspection Component #5: Chemical Inventory and Disposal (Final Follow-up of non-compliant items due in June each year)

For more information on requirements for components 1-3 (past due) click here

Components 4-5 - Due January 31st - Read Below

Science Safety Inspection AND Inventory Requirements (Deadline for both: January 31, 2019)

Note: These are two different inspections/inventories, one is for general safety and the other is focused on inventory/disposal of chemicals. Both are due by January 31, 2019, for safety purposes as well as preparation for department budget season.

Component #4. General Science Safety Inspection Survey 2018-19

- Safety Inspections are critical in ensuring that all of your safety equipment is available and functional in case of an accident. Notify your team of when you are coming in so they can be present to assist you in finding the items. You will then conduct your inspection with their guidance and complete the science safety inspection form for EACH classroom, including your own. Use the science inspection resources to support you through the process, if needed. Science Safety Submodule C-Inspections. If you have any questions or need support in completing these inspections, contact your school site CS for support.

- After inspections are conducted, coordinate with your SOM (School Operations Manager) to purchase necessary science safety items. Use the GD Science Safety Order Catalog to guide your purchases. If you come across safety material alternatives that are more cost effective or have any general questions, contact janee.gerard@greendot.org before purchasing.

Component #5. GD Science 7-Step Chemical Inventory and Disposal Checklist/Plan

- A chemical inventory is essential for the safety of your students and site. It allows you to account for all chemicals, helps you decide what needs to be purchased or disposed of, and the inventory sheet is required by disposal companies in order to provide you a quote for pickup.
    - Supporting documents including inventory sheet to complete the inventory are located here

- Email a copy of the inventory sheet to janee.gerard@greendot.org

Procedure for Turning in Science Safety Evidence

We request that you do the following in order to turn in evidence:

1. Open the 2018-2019 School Safety Evidence Folder
2. Open your school's science safety evidence folder.
3. Add your folder to your drive.
4. Save any and all safety evidence to this folder.
    a. Be sure you are naming the file or folder with the teacher's name and what the document is, for easy reference.
5. Email Phil whenever you update that folder with a quick note explaining what you uploaded – Phil will update the tracker

Science GDILT will be reviewing and making specific plans for Science Safety at our January 23rd GDILT Pull out Day. Administrators, please feel free to follow-up with your Science Leader to learn about their specific plans for your department.

If you have any questions regarding the Green Dot Science Safety Program, please read about it here.

Thank you for your attention to these details.
Sincerely,

Philip and Janeé

In most cases, my first line of defense is the advisor but since I am also his advisor I am reaching out to you for support with [redacted]. Although we have had many good conversations that feel like we are making progress in terms of him moving in the right direction, it is not transferring to his effort/willingness to follow expectations in advisory and now English credit recovery.

Today he showed up 40 minutes late. When I reviewed the expectations for evidenced gathering he announced to the class "that's too much. This is just English 9." This is his second full class period turning in work that is significantly below the 9th/10th grade standards.

For the 25 minutes of writing, he was on his phone in spite multiple attempts to get him on track

When I went to collect work he stated that he was just going to do during advisory. In explaining this is not an option and reviewing the policy for late work he began complaining how he is dependent on his mom and he can't get to school on time/before school.
In attempts to support him, I reviewed what I needed for him on the post evidence activities. He announced "this isn't for me" At that point, he reviewed his other options about night school. Other students told him that this was a better option than night school but he continued to complain about how he wasn't able to meet the expectations (which are already modified)

I am requesting admin support with his phone. It is getting in the way of his learning (he is constantly playing video games) in addition to disrupting class as he often is showing students what he is doing/refuses to put away/give when following protocol

Hey miss,

What are your thoughts on [redacted] in APEX vs. this class? One thing I'm thinking is pulling him and showing him here is everything you'd have to do if we put you in apex and here is what Ms. Tang is requiring and see if we can get him to see she's the easier option?

Also I'm wondering if you have a good relationship with parent and/or do you have any meetings with him and parent already scheduled?

Thanks!

In most cases, my first line of defense is the advisor but since I am also his advisor I am reaching out to you for support with [redacted]. Although we have had many good conversations that feel like we are making progress in terms of him moving in the right direction, it is not transferring to his effort/willingness to follow expectations in advisory and now English credit recovery.

Today he showed up 40 minutes late. When I reviewed the expectations for evidenced gathering he announced to the class "that's too much. This is just English 9." This is his second full class period turning in work that is significantly below the 9^{th}/10^{th} grade standards.

For the 25 minutes of writing, he was on his phone in spite multiple attempts to get him on track

When I went to collect work he stated that he was just going to do during advisory. In explaining this is not an option and reviewing the policy for late work he began complaining how he is dependent on his mom and he can't get to school on time/before school.
In attempts to support him, I reviewed what I needed for him on the post evidence activities. He announced "this isn't for me" At that point, he reviewed his other options about night school. Other students told him that this was a better option than night school but he continued to complain about how he wasn't able to meet the expectations (which are already modified)

I am requesting admin support with his phone. It is getting in the way of his learning (he is constantly playing video games) in addition to disrupting class as he often is showing students what he is doing/refuses to put away/give when following protocol

I attempted to communicate to him that his of effort for the first portion of class is problematic and ultimately cost him chances with any more opportunities as he has been given more than any other student. He has been given so many chances and seemed to understand that at this point it was unfair to continue to give him opportunities so I am concerned he did not communicate this .He assured me he was almost done and I stated that without that work there was no discussion. The parts that he was copying demonstrate he was nowhere near I do not need to meet with him first regarding the academic integrity contract – at this point unless you need me to. He was blatantly copying so there is nothing else I can say at this point that hasn't been said.

If you can please advise the school consequence for the student who gave him the work to copy.

Ms. Tang,
Thanks for updating me. I'm looping in the rest of admin just so we are all on the same page considering this new development with plagiarism [redacted] came to me after 5th period, but didn't mention the plagiarism. He told me he was just told that he was going to be given more time to complete the packet and I was going to touch base with you to see if that meant that he was going to get an Incomplete. Given the new situation, I completely understand your hesitation to give him any more time to get credit for 1st semester. If that is your decision, please make sure that you enter a log entry about the plagiarism and the offer of extended time that you originally gave him so that we have good documentation.

I will pull him in today to discuss this with him. Would you like to meet with him first and give him the Academic Integrity contract? I'm attaching it to this e-mail. Let me know if you would like support with that.

HI Josh,

I am adding onto this email that I wrote to send to you this morning, prior to speaking to you or meeting with [redacted]

We had another conversation. He finally ended up doing work (work that he has said was done already) about one hour into the period after two discussions with him about ways to get credit for the class. He ended up asking a student for their work and was caught copying it. THIS IS NOW A REFERRAL FOR PLAGIARISM.

Unfortunately the possibility of [redacted] getting an Incomplete is no longer an option and his final grade will be a F. He did not have any work to turn in after school yesterday as he said he would to both you and me. We discussed how this was different from what he was telling me/you. I reviewed his opportunity to come in during the mornings during quarter 3 and we agreed he would start today. He assured me he would come to morning practice and be in my room by 7:15 with the work he supposedly already did and to start the morning make up sessions. This did not happen despite the conversations.

I am including his advisor to be aware of the plagiarism and I am recommending we still somehow get him to attend morning office hours – he has communicated that he is able to get here early and attend. I am here to support him with his current classes but at this point does not have the opportunity to receive additional time to get credit for

Hi team,

On Monday, 12/3, [redacted] Aunt died after a battle with cancer. As the semester comes to an end, I'm asking that we be a little more flexible with him as he goes through the grieving processes. In supporting him, I have a couple of questions/recommendations for you all:

If [redacted] in your class and seems distracted and/or is staring off, please discretely (e.g., post it) offer to talk outside to see what he needs. He might just need some words of encouragement or a quick break to catch his breath/drink some water.
At times, [redacted] might need to meet with me for extended periods of time. If [redacted] needs to miss your class, is there a way for him to receive the assignments to work on in a different location?

If there are any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out! Thank you all for your support and flexibility!

Good Morning,

Happy almost last day before break
I have attached the rubric for our door decorating contest.

Admin and Ms. Rubin,
Can you please judge Mr. Castro, Ms. Makkar, and Ms. Shazeens door at any point today or tomorrow?
I will print the form and bring it to you.

The plan is for the winning advisory to have a pizza party as we start the school year.

Thanks,

Hi All,

Unfortunately, I was still thinking that we would have advisory in the afternoon on Friday- and that is why I suggested that the winning advisory would get pizza then. However, since it is in the morning, we will have the 3 doors judged and the pizza party will take place when we return from break. .

The good news- since only 3 of you participated, you have a 1/3 chance of winning.

OR

Another option could be, that we get all 3 advisories cupcakes for participating.
Please let me know how you feel about the 2 options.

Thanks,
Sarah

Thank you for the invite though, it sounds like a great time!

Hi Everyone,

Junior committee is hosting an on-campus Holiday "dinner/potluck" on Thursday 12/13 at 4:00pm in room 126 (Ms. Rubin's room) and we'd love for you to join us. We will be catering Italian food, we just ask that you bring a dessert or drink to share. So far we have about 20 kids confirmed. We have also extended the invitation to junior teachers and advisors.

Please let me know if you plan on attending so that I can make sure we order enough food!

Thanks!

If you see [redacted] please send him back to class. He went to the bathroom, but since it's been about 10 minutes, it would see that he either fell in the toilet or went wandering somewhere else.

Yes. He has been absent almost continuously for the last few weeks.

I think this is a choice on his part and not extenuating circumstances…I'm inclined to close his semester grade with whatever

We don't need to set up an IEP if he's checking out. If he is planning on transferring to adult school / Venice skills he may need paperwork from Carol, but I'm not sure. I'd like to get the checkout process going ASAP, as he's been absent for over a month now and it is impacting his IEP service logs / his teachers keep asking about him.

Hi team,

If he checks out, we need to ensure we send the return to district notification letter to his home district. This letter is sent by the SOM and is found in PS.

Do we know where he is planning on going?

Best,
Glynis

Sofia,
I was actually planning to check in with you this week about him. Last I spoke with mom he's planning to check out. Do you want me to set-up any IEP meeting before he does. He has not intent to return to Animo Venice.

Subject: Keep an eye out for cans for whipped cream

Good evening staff,

Please keep an eye out for students who are binging cans of whipped cream to school. With the holiday season in full swing it may be totally innocuous for a student to bring whipped cream for a class party but if that is the case they need to store it here in the office until that class period. No student should be walking around campus with a can of whipped cream. To the students the message is that we are worried about the potential mess they can cause and we will store them in the fridge.

For you all the concern to be aware of is that we had an incident with 10th grade students "huffing" this is using the gas in the can to get high. Signs that the can is being used for this are if you see a student holding the can straight up and squirting into their mouth or nose (this releases the gas but not the cream) another way to test the can is to shake it and if you can hear a liquid shake then it is an indicator that the gas has been expelled without the cream. Please do not feel you need to investigate just do your best to confiscate and make us aware if you do suspect anything.

Thank you

Hello all,

After taking the RI test, [redacted] was very upset that her score did not go up by very much (she grew by 2 points, landing at a 986). She began cursing and yelling and asked to take a walk, which I allowed her to do. However, when she came back, she was ranting to her friend [redacted] and said "One day I'm going to blow this fucking school up." [redacted] said that she shouldn't talk like that, and [redacted] responded by saying that she's going to "act a fool in this class" from now on and that she hates it in here.

I wanted to bring attention to the threatening language because I felt obligated to report that. [redacted] also seems to be under the impression that people can move into Composition in Semester 2, which I have explained to her is not really the case. I want to make Read 180 work for her, but her stance towards the class has soured as of late and will probably continue to do so. These may be areas in which we can support [redacted] either before the break or when she comes back.

Thanks as always for your support,
Franz

She began cursing and yelling and asked to take a walk, which I allowed her to do. However, when she came back, she was ranting to her friend [redacted] and said "One day I'm going to blow this fucking school up." [redacted] said that she shouldn't talk like that, and [redacted] responded by saying that she's going to "act a fool in this class" from now on and that she hates it in here.

I wanted to bring attention to the threatening language because I felt obligated to report that. [redacted] also seems to be under the impression that people can move into Composition in Semester 2, which I have explained to her is not really the case. I want to make Read 180 work for her, but her stance towards the class has soured as of late and will probably continue to do so. These may be areas in which we can support [redacted] either before the break or when she comes back.

Thanks as always for your support,
Franz

Good Evening Team

Today during PD I briefly mention about the we will do if there is an LAUSD strike. Joshed asked about what will be the plan if we need to do something different with the students in case of anything. Adriana pointed out that we do not expect to have any major events.

Mates attached is the plan we will implement if needed. In the PP you can see about the extra security to also using the back of the school to let student in or out if we need to do anything.

If any questions or concerns please feel free to stop by and check in with us.

Dotters,
On Tuesday, the LAUSD Board will be voting on one of the most important charter-related items that has come before them in years. The resolution (attached here) has changed over the last few days and is potentially more harmful than the original version. If passed, it would lead to a moratorium on new charters within LAUSD. This vote may limit families from having the same opportunities that Green Dot families do. Charter schools like ours provide choice to families who have been systemically denied access to high-quality educational options. This resolution also sets a dangerous precedent and could encourage other actions that would hurt existing charter schools in Los Angeles and statewide.

Green Dot California's Board Chair, Kevin Reed, and I wrote an op-ed that outlines our stance on a moratorium on new charters. Please take a few minutes to read it so that you understand why this vote is so important to Green Dot. I understand that this is a complex issue, and we all may not agree on every point. I am hoping we can all acknowledge that Green Dot is doing good work on behalf of the students we serve, and without our schools, many of our students would not have access to high-quality schools in their neighborhoods. We are part of the solution, not part of the problem.

I am reaching out to ask you to join me in contacting LAUSD Board members tomorrow to ask them to vote NO on this resolution.

Good afternoon,
I am writing to all of you to encourage you to continue the work you are doing on the end-of-the-year campaign to raise money to ensure college access for all at each one of our schools. Congratulations to Ánimo Jackie Robinson for being the first school to get over 100 donors AND reach the minimum goal of $5,000. You can see the progress made to date for every school that has activated their campaigns. If you don't see your school's name, please activate your campaign.

Remember, matching funds will be given to any school who meets the criteria listed below under "school prizes". I have also asked the California Organizational Leadership Team (OLT) to donate to increase the amount of matching funds available. Please work with your Area Superintendent to develop a plan to get to 100 donors and $5,000 by January 4th!

SCHOOL PRIZES:

- 1st school in the CA network to secure 100 donors receives: $5,000 match from the Boards of Directors.
- Additionally, the next 10 schools across the National Green Dot network to secure 100 donors will receive a $2,500 match.
- Schools that achieve both their donor and dollar fundraising goals will receive an additional $2,500 match.

Hey Mary,

I contacted LAUSD and we discussed an alternate means to correct the item. I will be signing a letter with your principal and are superintendent indicating that we are developing a system for this to avoid in the future.

The letter you signed will not be submitted and will be discarded.

I will be on campus between 10:30-12:30 today. If you would like to talk more in person please just let me know.

Best,
Glynis

As I am sure you are all aware by now, [redacted] was induced today (no baby yet as far as I know). The grade level team had all agreed that we wouldn't hold her accountable for finals since she has already proven herself throughout the semester.

The team needs clarification. Can one of the admin or Carol email her teachers and tell us how to best go about this? Will her grades be locked as of yesterday (her last day) or should we exempt her from the assignments we have the next couple of weeks? The team was fine either way, we just need clarification as to what is the "correct" way.

Thank you!

Hi team

I like all the names below. The students in yellow our seniors are the only ones that I am not sure. I feel that we only have a few months left and I would want to make sure we dedicate more time to those students who will be with us longer.

Hi girls,
I am at home right now taking care of a situation. Was planning on coming in just for [redacted] IEP meeting at 1pm today but I see that she is absent. Could one of you lovely ladies please call home (mom speaks only Spanish) and see if she is still planning on coming to the meeting? If she is not, I will stay home for the day and finish up what I have to take care of here.

[redacted] came and spoke with Mr. Murcia about multiple schedule changes. He is checking in with Ms. Moreno tomorrow and we will clear up any confusion about why changes were made. I remember that we did speak about having her not be in so many classes with her boyfriend but in any case we will work with her tomorrow.

Thank you for the email Mr. Stern.

Would it be possible for us to work from a central Google Doc where we can track all seniors who have lost privileges thus far and moving forward?

If ok, I will create and share with all necessary parties.

Thank you!

Thank you all! Please remember that since this teacher will be teaching AS (which is considered a SPED classroom), if the LTS does not have a SPED credential thy can only serve for 20 days. Which means if we do not find a credentialed teacher we will be looking at about 5 or 6 subs next semester.

Best,
Glynis

Happy to hop on the phone.

My quick two cents – I think we do move forward with this interpretation, we should develop a tracking system (which it sounds like district already have, so we could learn what their automated tool looks like) to document that we're in compliance with the 20-day and 30-day limits.

Hi Everyone,

This is an interesting way to approach the limit on the number of days a sub can serve. I want to consult with Annette and Annabelle before giving the go-ahead because we will have to explain this during oversight visits (not just yours, it would set a precedent). Note that if this is allowable, it would be true of most any class taught on a block schedule, they all generally meet 3 days a week and not 5. We have not allowed this in the past in this situation.

Carol, can you confirm that our rationale here is that the teacher is allowed 20 total days in a given SpEd class for a given school year? If so, would the rationale hold for subs on 30 day assignment in a gen ed classroom where the teacher was teaching a given section 3 days per week?

Annette and Annabelle, I would appreciate your feedback. I'll send an invite for a call for Monday.

Thanks,

Damon

Damon,
I spoke with HC about the 20 day permit for a SPED Long Term Sub and asked if they was just for those days teaching Academic Success. They gave me the impression that the days not teaching the class wouldn't count towards the 20 days. The idea is that the sub would be providing other services outside of the classroom during those days and if we calculated the time only counting the AS days towards the 20, then we would be able to stretch the person out for 6 weeks because they'd only be teaching AS 3 days a week.

Glynis and I spoke about it today and she asked that I loop you into the conversation so that we all have clarity on it. I hate to think of our kids going through a different sub each month.

Checking in regarding [redacted] She told me that she told you that she would tell me if she wanted you to go with her tomorrow. Sounds like you had already confirmed and she just wanted me to know she was following my advice and also just liked hearing me reassure her that we're all looking out for her.

I'm thinking you've already made plans to go with her but just wanted to make sure someone was.

Thank you Sherrie.
So currently [redacted] overall grade is an F. I just looked in PowerSchool and there is not one log for this student from the math teacher for the current school year. Last semester grades were so rarely entered that it was impossible to track a student's actual progress. What is your recommendation in this particular case?

Good morning team,

I'm going to ask us to pause a bit on this conversation. We want to make sure that ARC is supporting the student athletes and not interfering with practices. I'm looping in Mr. Stern as AP over athletics so that he can plan to meet with our AD and coaches at the beginning of the second semester and introduce the idea of mandatory tutoring to them and come up with a solid plan. Some students may need to do tutoring in the morning and some in the afternoon.

Academics is a priority especially when it comes to eligibility but I also want to make sure that our after school programing and our sports programing are not at odds with each other.

Thank you all for your hard work and dedication!

Good Morning Ms. Tang,

I believe one day a week would work, however students who are behind in grades would do 2 days per week.

Mr. Castro is also doing Morning Math STEM , students can do Math & English in the mornings.

Students do not need to be present for a full hour. The minimum time is 30 minutes.

Thank you.

Best,

Hi Annie,

I've been in contact with Coach Fletcher. He is on board. How do you think is the best way to get kids coming in the morning. I'm thinking of assigning one day per week + adding days based on progress

It's a funky Welligent glitch. It randomly happens sometimes where it will be in pending, and print without the watermark, and then it will go back to in process. I do not know what causes it, but it happens sometimes.

Please just close again and lock it.

Thank you!

Glynis

It went from 12 to 1:1o on the 29th and that's the same day mom signed

Subject: RE: Master schedule "What if?"
Date: Tuesday, December 4, 2018 5:00:30 PM

Hey there,

This is a very interesting question. My answer is two fold well really three. ☺

Impact to Students

- Could be good if the new pathway sends students who are not ready for calculus on to Statistics. Though we would need to increase our statistics support game quite a bit to make sure we prepared teachers to teach it.
- Could be not so good if the pathway is to push everyone into Pre-Calculus. Don't let the "pre" in front of its name deceive you, it is a VERY difficult course and not everyone can go from Alg. 2 to Pre-Calc.

Impact to Teachers:

- I think teachers will struggle with the idea of getting rid of the course because they will struggle with having faith that all students could and should be successful at Statistics (if that is the option) and will really struggle to have faith that all students could and should be successful at pre-calc (I would struggle with this too)
- Ms. Smith has been working very hard to own Trigonometry and be the best teacher she can be at it. SO if/when it goes away I think she will feel overwhelmed by having to learn a new subject and will voice this quite a bit. However if it happens I think she will adapt.

Master Schedule:

- This could actually be very good for our master schedule. Doing the math with this year's group; if all kids who were in Trig were in Statistics instead we would have a total of 80 students in statistics and we could do 3 sections of 26 or 27 students. This would also allow us to open a section of Alg. 1 bring those numbers from an average of 31 (median of 33) to an average of 26! How cool would that be!?!

SO overall my opinion is that if the pathway allows for more statistics than I am all for getting rid of Trig and we'll have to make sure we pad the message to soften the blow to Ms. Smith. But if the pathway says everyone should do Pre-Calc (or God forbid we add a new course!) than I am much MUCH more hesitant.

I hope that all makes sense ☺

Hi,

Question for based on a pathway change we are looking at org-wide:

What if trigonometry went away? Would this have a negative impact on your campus?

Let me know your thoughts.

We can definitely do that. In her message it looks like she had intended to come in yesterday and take care of it and she got held up. I'm hopeful this is a onetime thing.

Hello,

I was supposed to come in to campus today and do this myself, but I had a commitment that took up much more time than I expected. If possible, could I have a student aid in the office print out the materials my students will need for tomorrow (Monday) during first period (my prep period)? I have a lot of paper in my classroom, and as much can be taken as needed.

1. 95 stapled copies of "comppacket_12:10."
2. 95 copies of "Logical fallacies quiz."
3. 25 stapled copies of "shela_12/10."
4. 25 copies of "per.7_Word Search Puzzle."
5. 55 stapled copies of "per3and5_packet."
6. 1 copy of "Sub notes_12/10"

All files are attached below.

I really apologize for the inconvenience! I'll make sure not to let this happen again!

Thank you,

Good Evening admin team,

Just wanted to put this on your radar-

On Feb 6, Lesson 6 requires each advisory to have spaghetti and large marshmallows for a team building activity.

This is 1.5 weeks away and I just wanted to make sure we give you ample time to help us gather the materials.

Thanks for all your support

Hello Team:

Not sure if this is something being communicated to students but I had a few 9th graders come to me this morning asking if they can be switched from Math Support to Geo next semester because they scores "on grade level" on their last RI score. I explained that we don't make those kind of switches throughout the year and once students are placed in MS at beginning of year, they will stay there to get that support all year.

Just want to make sure we're on same page with that.

I'm hoping it only takes an hour. I'm still trying to meet with the Grade level leads but maybe I can ask Greego to step in for me. I was going to cut it close and leave at 4 but I was worried.

Is Sofia also carpooling?

Sofia feels too sick to make it. She emailed Xochitl to let her know already.

4:00 sounds good. I checked google maps to see what time we should leave to arrive by 5:00 and it says it would take 35-60 minutes to arrive.

Hey Sharon—

I accepted the meeting maker for Thursday but didn't notice that you made the time for 2:30 which is during 4th period.

Did you want Thursday 3:00-3:30 or Friday 1:30-2:00 during 7th?

The Human Capital department will also be observing your student teacher, and asking you for written feedback – maybe more than once, depending on the length of placement. Please be timely in your response, as well as completely honest – providing as many specifics as possible. This will allow us to better gauge if the student teacher is a potential hire, especially if your school site does not have an appropriate opening and we want to present him/her elsewhere.

And finally, if you have concerns about a student teacher's performance, please document specifics and discuss with him/her as soon as possible - work directly with your student teacher on strategies to overcome issues. You are also welcome to address these issues with the TEP Field Supervisor, and, if you feel the situation warrants, please reach out to Lisa Nichols (Lisa.Nichols@greendot.org) with Human Capital (and notify your Principal that you are doing so). While we hope that most concerns can be addressed directly with the student teacher, we are here for you if you need us.

Again, thank you for taking on this role, and please know that the Human Capital team is truly appreciative. We are here to help and/or answer any questions you might have – so don't hesitate to ask!

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Call your student teacher a few days/a week prior to their start date to welcome them to your school and see if they have any questions. Make sure they understand how to get to you, where to park, and any other pertinent information they might need on their first day.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->▪ <!--[endif]-->If possible, have them visit the campus a day or so in advance, meet you, take a tour, etc.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Try to arrange a desk (in a pinch, even a student desk will suffice) where they can sit, and a place where they can store their belongings/organize work.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Let your students (and their parents) know that you will be hosting a student teacher for "x" amount of time, and what exactly that will entail. Remind your students that the student teacher is a teacher like any other, and should be accorded the same level of respect and consideration as any other teacher.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Arrange for your student teacher to spend some time with your introduce them to some of the other teachers (especially the ones with classrooms closest to yours), the office staff, and your administrative team.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Eat lunch with your student teacher in the teacher's lounge, and use this time to go over any questions they may already have, and/or have them get to know some of your colleagues. (You should probably do this for the first week or so, and at least sporadically throughout the placement.)

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->As with your students, discuss your expectations of the student teacher with him/her, and ask about their expectations of you.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Talk to them about why they want to teach and what kind of teacher they want to be. How do they envision students encourage your Principal and/or Assistant Principal(s) to come observe him/her, and have the three of you debrief together. Having an administrator(s) show an early interest may help convert a student teacher to a new hire more quickly. (Also, please notify Lisa Nichols in Human Capital, so we can help to convert this student teacher into a hire ☺)

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Provide your student teacher with several opportunities to observe and debrief with other teachers at your site – let them experience teaching styles different from your own, and see for themselves that many of the practices they observe/learn in your classroom are used across the board at your school.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->The more you can work with them on (and allow them to implement) classroom management, the better prepared they will be for their own classroom – regardless of where they choose to teach upon earning their administrator during their first week or so, so they can get to know each other, too. A short coffee date would be great! <!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Pull together all materials that your student teacher might need (copies of school calendar, bell schedule, campus map, student handbook, teacher handbook, etc.) If you can send this information to your student teacher ahead of their start date (or have it for them at the above-mentioned tour), all the better.	describing them when they have their own classroom?	credential. <!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Arrange some time for your student teacher to meet with a Curriculum Specialist (preferably one in their content area) to better understand some of the new teacher supports provided at Green Dot. Ideally, have them sit in on an actual coaching session with a new teacher at your site (with that teacher's and the CS's approval, of course). <!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->While they will be required (per their TEP) to attend all collaboration and professional development with you, be sure to have them actively participate – especially in collaboration activities. We want to student teachers to see what "working together" is really like here at Green Dot. <!--[if !supportLists]-->➢ <!--[endif]-->Share your reasons for coming to work at Green Dot – and most importantly, why you have stayed. Let them know what your goals are as a teacher – be it to remain in the classroom in a leadership position, or to move into administration. Again, it is a chance for them to understand what growth looks like at Green Dot. <!--[if !supportLists]--> --> <!--[endif]--> Get to know your student teacher, what makes him/her tick, likes/dislikes, how they learn best, etc. Put into practice with your student teacher, some of the same strategies you use with your students – strategies to build relationships, engage and teach. A strong and successful relationship with you will go far in converting a student teacher into a Green Dot teacher!

The Human Capital department will also be observing your student teacher, and asking you for written feedback – maybe more than once, depending on the length of placement. Please be timely in your response, as well as completely honest – providing as many specifics as possible. This will allow us to better gauge if the student teacher is a potential hire, especially if your school site does not have an appropriate opening and we want to present him/her elsewhere.

And finally, if you have concerns about a student teacher's performance, please document specifics and discuss with him/her as soon as possible - work directly with your student teacher on strategies to overcome issues. You are also welcome to address these issues with the TEP Field Supervisor, and, if you feel the situation warrants, please reach out to Lisa Nichols (Lisa.Nichols@greendot.org) with Human Capital (and notify your Principal that you are doing so). While we hope that most concerns can be addressed directly with the student teacher, we are here for you if you need us.

Again, thank you for taking on this role, and please know that the Human Capital team is truly appreciative. We are here to help and/or answer any questions you might have – so don't hesitate to ask!

Hi Friend

I was wounding if I can get the same letter but just removing it the specific job. I would like to summit it to other places that I need to apply too.

Also I am very sorry about today. I will bring you and Josh up to speed on Monday

Gracias

Hi Julio,

I gave mom a call to discuss, and left her a voicemail to discuss what services would align at our campus. One of the boys has an IEP meeting today, and will be discussing the new services. Can we please contact parent to complete enrollment?

Thank you!

Thank you for sharing this Ms. [redacted] came and checked in with me before leaving saying that he is very concerned about his grade and thinks that it is being lowered because of behavior not academics. He DID NOT tell me that he had just acted this way with you which is unacceptable. I told him that we could try to meet just the three of us and figure out what is going on which he thought was a good idea.

Can you and I touch base about this and figure out what needs to be communicated to him and parents? Then we can meet with him.

Could we check in tomorrow?

Hello Team:
I was only able to get to half the mid-year reports☹. When I returned from lunch I had 4 students that needed to meet with me. I will be back tomorrow for a 9:00am parent meeting with [redacted] and will stay after meeting to complete the Mid-year reports, and will focus on parchment transcripts next week.

I am currently working on submitting mid-year reports for private school applicants (41 students) and need to work on parchment transcripts as well (that's essentially all seniors). My hope was that I would have completed both items by yesterday, this did not happen. Just wanted to let you know that I am closing my office door today so I can complete these tasks, if there's an emergency with a student I am still available just reach out.

Hey Sharon—

Been thinking a lot about the possibility of weaving these two systems together and really trying to build out something for our school to try. If you wanted to collaborate on this- HARD- for the next 2-3 weeks- like almost every day until we get it fleshed out, I am totally willing. I have a lot of ideas that I keep thinking of, which of course have a lot of pitfalls and things that might not be possible.

But we could at least present something to culture team and then run it through them first and have them add to and improve it, then bring to ALT or ILT and then all staff if it keeps passing everybody's stress tests.

If we really don’t have any other answers or any better ideas then I would be really willing to create something and just try. Let me know ☺

I went ahead and created Ethnic Studies courses for Mr. Montenegro as we had agreed that would be the class students would be enrolled in this semester. I transferred all students into the courses. I also switched Advisory and College Readiness 12 to him.

I dropped all students from Cultural Relations B courses assigned to Stern EXCEPT those students who were absent today. PS doesn't let us drop students for the day if they were absent. I will take care of those students tomorrow.

Hello all,

It seems that many students, understandably, have some struggles with having my classes back-to-back for Read 180 and English. By the end of the second class, they are usually very unfocused and distracted. Below is a list of students for whom this is the case.

[redacted]

For students who have me twice but NOT back-to-back, our relationship is very strong as a result. Would it be possible to move some schedules to circumvent the back-to-back issue? I think that this would be especially helpful for [redacted]

Thanks as always for your support,
Franz

Good Afternoon,

As we prepare to deliver the mastery mindset curriculum training on Monday, we were wondering if it is possible to get Ms. Lee in for training so that she has knowledge and understanding of the curriculum. There is lots of information that she will need to access on the website and we want to ensure that all students have equal access to the curriculum.

Thank You, ,

Thanks for clarifying Lisa.

As per Carol's email we need CTC clearance but we also need her live scan and TB – she was sent her conditional offer so she has everything she needs from HR.

Ah got it! She's not cleared with credentialing yet. The application that she submitted on her own was rejected by CTC this week. I'll be working with her to get one in for a General Education Limited Assignment Permit that will need to go through the County office for approval.

As soon as it comes back from the County, I can clear her on my end.

Arlene,
Since it's per user, how would that effect us? I'm wondering how the licenses work? Would any teacher having a varied group of 30 students, for example be able to use it, or would it be for a set-up of chromebooks? Just trying to figure out how we might be able to pilot it with a few of our teachers as well.

Arlene, I'm also wondering if we have an extra $500 or so that we could use to pilot it this Spring and the $1500, or so, that would be needed if we went full bore next year.

Thanks,

Hello Team,

Happy Monday! Thanks all for your support! How hard would it be to add user licenses after the initial install? Currently, only one teacher is requesting access to this technology. I can reach out to the school site to see if this teacher has dedicated use to a particular cart (Jesse, maybe you know).

To manage the cost (and depending on the ease of installation), I'd say let's first focus on the carts in use by this teacher.

Take care,

Hey Arlene,

- Pricing:
  10 – 99 users: $3.00 each user
  100 – 249 users: $2.80 each user
  250 – 999 users: $2.60 each user

  This is a yearly subscription.

As far as install time this will definitely be labeled a project since it takes a while to get the software installed on all machines and get the teachers coordinated to install the software on their computers as well.

There is no real recommendation on how many computers to install NetOp on, that's on the comfort of the school.

Thanks for letting me know! Akilah, cc'd here, has been working with them to get licenses set up for Compton, so will be able to help you out with this (Pat Brown did it on their own, but we are now working to get one district account). IT will indeed have to install, so I've added Alonzo here so he is in the loop with the ask along with Jesse. How many licenses are they looking to purchase?

Thanks!

Hi Josh,

Thanks for reaching out. I believe that the license is tied to the chromebook. At Westside, they have a dedicated cart that will be set up with the license. That being said, Jesse and Alonzo would be better resources for the actual use of the licenses.

Regarding budget, we can look at finding the additional $500 for this year and including it in the FY20 budget.....pending Julio's approval of course. ☺

Thank you. I'd imagine that if we went with all of the carts, we'd be looking at close to $1000, since we'd be doing it by chromebook and not enrollment. Correct?

Hi Josh,

Thanks for reaching out. I believe that the license is tied to the chromebook. At Westside, they have a dedicated cart that will be set up with the license. That being said, Jesse and Alonzo would be better resources for the actual use of the licenses.

Regarding budget, we can look at finding the additional $500 for this year and including it in the FY20 budget…..pending Julio's approval of course. ☺

Take care,

Arlene,
Since it's per user, how would that effect us? I'm wondering how the licenses work? Would any teacher having a varied group of 30 students, for example be able to use it, or would it be for a set-up of chromebooks? Just trying to figure out how we might be able to pilot it with a few of our teachers as well.

Arlene, I'm also wondering if we have an extra $500 or so that we could use to pilot it this Spring and the $1500, or so, that would be needed if we went full bore next year.

Thanks,

Hello Team,

Happy Monday! Thanks all for your support! How hard would it be to add user licenses after the initial install? Currently, only one teacher is requesting access to this technology. I can reach out to the school site to see if this teacher has dedicated use to a particular cart (Jesse, maybe you know).

To manage the cost (and depending on the ease of installation), I'd say let's first focus on the carts in use by this teacher.

Take care,

Hey Arlene,

- Pricing:
  10 – 99 users: $3.00 each user
  100 – 249 users: $2.80 each user
  250 – 999 users: $2.60 each user

  This is a yearly subscription.

  As far as install time this will definitely be labeled a project since it takes a while to get the software installed on all machines and get the teachers coordinated to install the software on their computers as well.

  There is no real recommendation on how many computers to install NetOp on, that's on the comfort of the school.

Akilah, cc'd here, has been working with them to get licenses set up for Compton, so will be able to help you out with this (Pat Brown did it on their own, but we are now working to get one district account). IT will indeed have to install, so I've added Alonzo here so he is in the loop with the ask along with Jesse. How many licenses are they looking to purchase?

Thanks!

Arlene,
Since it's per user, how would that effect us? I'm wondering how the licenses work? Would any teacher having a varied group of 30 students, for example be able to use it, or would it be for a set-up of chromebooks? Just trying to figure out how we might be able to pilot it with a few of our teachers as well.

Arlene, I'm also wondering if we have an extra $500 or so that we could use to pilot it this Spring and the $1500, or so, that would be needed if we went full bore next year.

Thanks,

Hello Team,

Happy Monday! Thanks all for your support! How hard would it be to add user licenses after the initial install? Currently, only one teacher is requesting access to this technology. I can reach out to the school site to see if this teacher has dedicated use to a particular cart (Jesse, maybe you know).

To manage the cost (and depending on the ease of installation), I'd say let's first focus on the carts in use by this teacher.

Hello Team,

Happy Monday! Thanks all for your support! How hard would it be to add user licenses after the initial install? Currently, only one teacher is requesting access to this technology. I can reach out to the school site to see if this teacher has dedicated use to a particular cart (Jesse, maybe you know).

To manage the cost (and depending on the ease of installation), I'd say let's first focus on the carts in use by this teacher.

Take care,
~Arlene

Hey Arlene,

- Pricing:

10 – 99 users: $3.00 each user
100 – 249 users: $2.80 each user
250 – 999 users: $2.60 each user

This is a yearly subscription.

As far as install time this will definitely be labeled a project since it takes a while to get the software installed on all machines and get the teachers coordinated to install the software on their computers as well.

There is no real recommendation on how many computers to install NetOp on, that's on the comfort of the school.

Depending on the cost/license we may have to be selective.

Hi Arlene,

Thanks for letting me know! Akilah, cc'd here, has been working with them to get licenses set up for Compton, so will be able to help you out with this (Pat Brown did it on their own, but we are now working to get one district account). IT will indeed have to install, so I've added Alonzo here so he is in the loop with the ask along with Jesse. How many licenses are they looking to purchase?

Thanks!
Sam

Hi Sam,

I hope you had a great weekend! Westside is requesting to purchase Netop for their school site. I understand that Pat Brown uses this software to manage their chrome books in classrooms. Can you tell me where they purchased this software and who currently supports this? Did IT have to install?

Any information you can provide would be greatly appreciated.

Take care,

Greego,
Could you please pull [redacted] for a TA in the morning. You'll see in the referral below that he made some inappropriate comment at Mr. Liebster yesterday after school. I already spoke with his grandfather (called this evening) and Mr. Murcia will be pulling him in to speak to him.

Mr. Kannofsky is CC'd on this as his advisor.

Dr. Lara is CC'd as he was using a glue gun and I suspect that it he was working on his vehicle for her class and want her to be aware of his actions and words.

Thank you,

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Mild - handled in class FYI only
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	After school on 12/12, [redacted] approached me, apparently rapping along to some music. He held up a hot glue gun and brandished it in my face like a weapon, pretending to shoot me. I did not say anything in the moment because I was caught off guard, and he walked away saying "It's because I'm black isn't it".
Interventions Tried	I did not attempt to address the situation with [redacted] because he had music in and walked away as quickly as he came.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Small behaviors like this are piling up for [redacted], and I feel increasingly uncomfortable with how openly he swears in front of me/disrespects my authority for no reason at all. He would really benefit from a conversation with admin about this. Clearly he has stopped taking my redirection/comments seriously, so maybe another person could get through to him.

Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] plagiarized his essay submission on The Catcher in the Rye by uploading a junior's essay from last year to turnitin.com and calling it his. I conferenced with [redacted]o after school on 12/12/18 and he admitted to this immediately. The other student, [redacted], gave him his essay to use. [redacted]s explanation was that he ran out of time to submit the essay, even after he came to me to plead for an extension on the assignment (which I granted).
Interventions Tried	Conference was held with student regarding plagiarism on 12/12/18 (see above). Student had been given an extension on the assignment, but still chose to cheat.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration,	Since this is [redacted]s first offense, according to the AVCHS academic honesty discipline matrix, the following should occur: • Opportunity to re-do assignment and obtain lowest passing grade. • Notification of parent, counselor. • Conference with the administrator. • Noted on discipline record. • Potential removal from honor roll. I would like for an administrator to pull him and speak with him about the seriousness of this offense, and for a parent phone call to be made. Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	A few weeks ago, [redacted] told Ms. Koenes that students have been bullying him. He described the action as other students walking up to him and slapping his upper back as if to give him a hearty greeting. However, [redacted] said that he does not enjoy this and he wants them to stop. Apparently these students have continued doing so and hide the action from teachers. During lunch on 12/12, I was getting water by the upstairs bathrooms. [redacted] was standing there. I then saw [redacted] walk by me, give [redacted] a hearty slap on the shoulder without saying anything to him, and quickly walk down the stairs. It took me a second to realize what happened, and I looked at [redacted] to see how he had reacted. He was smiling/laughing, but it did not seem to be out of amusement. It seemed that he was trying to diffuse the situation, and he turned and disappeared in the bathroom.
Interventions Tried	I did not react in the situation because it happened very quickly and both boys disappeared right away. I want to proceed cautiously because calling out bullying requires a unified approach.
Recommended/requested	I think that someone should pull [redacted] and talk to him about this. [redacted] has already reported this bullying as coming from several other students, and the behavior that consequence, restoration, or intervention	he reported was exactly what I witnessed from David. I'm not exactly sure what protocol is in place for bullying, but we need to address this as soon as possible.

Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	[redacted] parents are going through a divorce, which has clearly had an impact on her behavior in the spring semester. This referral serves to document some of her behaviors today, all of which have been repeated and represent patterns. [redacted] came into class screaming, talking to other students about drama (thereby distracting them from getting started), and physically hitting her friends (horseplay). I told her numerous times to please find her seat, and I even had her walk out of class and come back in. None of it helped, and she ignored me many times. Throughout the lesson, [redacted] attempted none of her work, talking the entire time and ignoring my redirection. At one point she openly yelled the n-word, and at another she was loudly telling a group about how some people drink urine. [redacted] did not attempt her software or read in the reading station. At every attempt of redirection, she either ignored me or talked over me.
Interventions Tried	I spent the entire class redirecting her individually, but she was the only student who struggled with understanding directions. She dis not attempt to read my written directions from the board, and she did not attempt to listen to my verbal directions the first time I gave them. Josh came in at one point, and [redacted] did not fully stop disrupting the room or begin reading. She pretended to be on task. So admin presence did not help either.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	The ninth grade team is calling home on Friday during teacher prep, but [redacted] needs to be pulled from class in the future. She does not respond to anything that I tell her in class, and admin presence does not help her while in the class either. On this day, she disrupted my class to the point that we did nothing productive and the majority of kids were distracted from their learning. So in the future, I would like to be able to send her out for the rest of us to continue learning.

You are so awesome! I'm going to do my best to make it in today. If I don't I have an instructional day planned for Friday so I could see 5th or 6th period that day. ☺

Looking back at my notes the last thing I see us putting on our agenda was ELD proving behaviors. Does that sound familiar?

Hey, Sherrie!

Happy New Year! I wanted to invite you to come observe one of my English 11 classes sometime in the near future so you can let me know what you think of my new strategy for sharing and then looping back to objectives (both content and language) and proving behaviors. If you let me know what day you might come, I can give you some time parameters to shoot for. For example, if you came on Tues./Wed. of this week, you could see it in action (along with student discussions) around the 20-minute mark.

Also, do you have notes from our last meeting? I know we talked about focusing on a particular area for our future observations and debriefs, but I cannot for the life of me remember what we said. The last two weeks of Semester 1 are a blur of exhaustion!

Best,
Sara

We're on hold for that right now, and may know by the end of the week. But, whomever we have start may take up to 2 weeks to get processed because of paperwork that can't be started until an offer is given and accepted.

Hello all,

I am so excited to have you join us this year for Transform LA. We have a terrific line up of speaker, workshops, lunch, and campus tour for your students.

Please send out your field trip permission slips immediately so that you can get them returned in a timely fashion from your students.

I am looping in Bracy Fuentes, our Lead Program Associate. Bracy will be setting up transportation. Bracy will also be the point of contact for this event. Please send us the exact addresses of the schools and any bus parking logistics.

Please reach out to Bracy or I with any questions/concerns. We look forward to hosting your students at Transform LA!

Again I'm sorry for the impact to planning we are not sure how there came to be two separate calendars.

Mil gracias

So since it is unrestricted, for this year can I use it to pay for Juanita and Jessica extra hours? If not that is okay we will continue to work on it.

Is this funding that we can use to support the counseling so I do not have to use our reserves?

Happy Tuesday ☺

Just a quick note --- I met with John Kannofsky last Thursday on campus. He reached out with some general questions about the AP process changes since he wasn't able to attend a teacher meeting and we set up a time to meet on his prep. Pretty straightforward conversation and he was relatively aligned with our rationale ☺

He also had some larger picture questions about how GD supports the Arts and he may choose to come speak at a Board meeting about it in public comment.

Just keeping you in the loop – no action needed!

Thanks

Hi team,

Due to the rain storm we are asking that if it is at all possible you allow students to be with you in your rooms during lunch.

Thank you!!!

Hi Amber and Harpreet,
I just finished meeting with [redacted] about first semester grades. [redacted] has had a very difficult first semester due to confidential reasons. This is the first semester she may fail classes, she is not a non-grad but might be a non-graduate after first semester. Are your grades final or will she have time from now until Friday to submit work in hopes to bring her grade up to a D-? [redacted] will be reaching out to you personally to inquire about possible work she can make up.

Thank you,

Hi All,

I reviewed the assignments turned in by [redacted] and they do not meet even the minimum requirements. I had told her to come and talk to me during office hours or at lunch, or seek the help of a classmate to ensure that these were completed correctly, but she did not do any of these things. As it stands, they would be considered incomplete and do nothing to help raise her grade. Therefore, she remains at a 54% for the semester.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sorry for the lateness of the plans. I've put instructions for the students onto Google classroom. They will just need the chromebooks. Please have my substitute simply over their work and keep them productive for the whole period.

Whatever they don't finish is assigned as homework.

Hi Julio,

I am writing because there was a parent concern about the film permission slip I sent home. The plan was there that were going to be some film/clips sprinkled into the English 9/10 credit recovery to supplement the units. I left the parent note/permission on your desk. At the beginning of the semester, I had briefly spoken to Sherrie a little about the is approach to help engage students more due to the lack of engagement during semester one. I informed students that they were signing the complete list just to cover myself and also because timing was not ideal due to schedules not being finalized but students being put into the class/needing to just get into the content immediately

If you can communicate to mom to ensure she understands students are not just watching movies all class period and if she does understand to then find out if [redacted] is unable to watch specific films or any time we watch a clip of any film/video clip/documentary.

Hi there all,

Cybele and I have had some really good conversations around both our discipline process and our academic integrity document and we would like to work together and with anyone else who is interested to make some headway on a process that we can all be happy with and committed to.

We are going to start on Monday after school and first focus on adapting and updating the academic integrity document (attached). I've invited Jef and Josh to join us as they have both expressed concerns and interest in this but all are welcome if this is a passion project you are interested in.

We'll meet in Cybele's room after school on Monday.

Thank you!

I would need at least ten minutes between the bell and the meeting. Since I'm not in the classroom on Monday, I have a number of students whom I have arranged to drop off work after the bell on Monday. Otherwise, I'm very interested on this.

Thanks,

Hi Sherry,

I understand the swap in meetings, however, this Friday was supposed to be Department time since it's the first Friday of the month- shouldn't we then meet in Departments and not grade level tomorrow?

Just a little confused because I thought 1st Fri is adept and 2nd Fri is Grade level.

Can you please clarify?

Sorry for the confusion on the principal's post about the collaboration on Friday. Also after checking in with our ELD Lead we are going to flip this Wednesday's PD with Friday's Collaboration.

Wednesday will be collaboration in grade level teams. (2:30 to 3:30)

Friday will be PD. Topic will be ELD PD #4 (2:20 to 3:30)

Hi Glynis,

Thanks for the update! A question came up today from a gen-ed teacher and I just wanted to check in with everyone because I wasn't sure of the answer.

Will the current sub be the point person for students in the 11th grade (who teachers go to with questions about accommodations, testing, behaviors, missing assignments, etc.?). If yes, then I think we will need to work more closely with the 11th grade team to better facilitate this transition (get out a formal introduction, get him PowerSchool access, send out his Email, etc.). If not, then I think we need to work as a department to figure out who to direct teachers to for individual students.

Additionally The long term sub is currently teaching AS and pushing in/pulling out (based on Lily's schedule), however, I don't think he's been given a run-down of the students' services/accommodations. At the end of last semester, Kristy and I mentioned that it may be beneficial to sub one of us out for half a day to go over this information with the sub (it's difficult to do this while we're also trying to work with students). I'm thinking that this may be needed if he will be with us for the full 30 days. Kristy has already taught these students so she may be better able to explain their needs/services, but I'm also happy to help.

Let me know what everyone thinks!

Thanks!

Sofia

Happy New Year Animo Venice SPED team,

I hope you all are having great first few days back, and that everyone had much deserved and need winter break. I am reaching out in regards to our plan for supporting the SPED team in Lilly's absence for this semester to ensure we are all on the same page.

January

- LTS from DE will teach AS and provide all co-teaching, push-in, and check in services as Lilly was.
- Glynis will support with DP IEP, and any other IEPs that are due in January.
- We will need a SPED teacher at Venice or divide and conquer all 3 of the SPED teachers to log service minutes. You are NOT providing services, just logging the minutes the sub provides until our credentialed SPED teacher begins. Once he begins Glynis will train him to log. Can the three of you discuss who will take which students to log minutes for?

February

- Date is TBD, but our credentialed LTS will be starting, and since he has a SPED credential he can perform the role of the SPED teacher in its entirety, meaning: teaching AS, push-in, co-teaching, check-in services, logging his service minutes, writing, and holding IEPs.
- Glynis will be setting up time to be on campus more often to coach him on how to use Welligent, timelines, LAUSD guidelines, service tracking etc.

As always, if there are questions or concerns please reach out!

Best,

Hi Sofia,

Thank you for reaching out on this, and for being willing to support! I know this situation is difficult and inconvenient for everyone, and really appreciate everyone's flexibility and willingness to help out.

Typically we have more notice on a leave so we can secure a person and allows for shadowing and co-planning with the previous teacher, but due to our circumstances this wasn't possible. In regards to who the point of contact would be: this would be a site/dept decision for how to proceed. Different sites do things differently, some sites have the LTS as the point of contact, and others have the lead as the point of contact. What is best for our kids and the dept needs to be decided at the school site level. I would recommend that your dept discuss which way they would like to go about this together to ensure best outcomes for kids and sustainability for the team. Once a decision is made it would be best to ensure that communication is clear with the 11th grade team in regards to who is the point person.

I believe Josh has already shared the accommodations with the LTS, and typically at our sites the lead will just review the accommodations and service time with the LTS (usually takes an hour to do this). However, if you believe you in need more time, and need ½ day to discuss students, services, and accommodations, then this would need approval by site admin. Julio, Josh, and Sharri can you please discuss this and determine if this is possible?

Thank you!

Hi Glynis,

Thanks for the update! A question came up today from a gen-ed teacher and I just wanted to check in with everyone because I wasn't sure of the answer.

Will the current sub be the point person for students in the 11th grade (who teachers go to with questions about accommodations, testing, behaviors, missing assignments, etc.?). If yes, then I think we will need to work more closely with the 11th grade team to better facilitate this transition (get out a formal introduction, get him PowerSchool access, send out his Email, etc.). If not, then I think we need to work as a department to figure out who to direct teachers to for individual students.

Additionally The long term sub is currently teaching AS and pushing in/pulling out (based on Lily's schedule), however, I don't think he's been given a run-down of the students' services/accommodations. At the end of last semester, Kristy and I mentioned that it may be beneficial to sub one of us out for half a day to go over this information with the sub (it's difficult to do this while we're also trying to work with students). I'm thinking that this may be needed if he will be with us for the full 30 days. Kristy has already taught these students so she may be better able to explain their needs/services, but I'm also happy to help.

Let me know what everyone thinks!

Thanks!

Sofia

Happy New Year Animo Venice SPED team,

I hope you all are having great first few days back, and that everyone had much deserved and need winter break. I am reaching out in regards to our plan for supporting the SPED team in Lilly's absence for this semester to ensure we are all on the same page.

January

- LTS from DE will teach AS and provide all co-teaching, push-in, and check in services as Lilly was.
- Glynis will support with DP IEP, and any other IEPs that are due in January.
- We will need a SPED teacher at Venice or divide and conquer all 3 of the SPED teachers to log service minutes. You are NOT providing services, just logging the minutes the sub provides until our credentialed SPED teacher begins. Once he begins Glynis will train him to log. Can the three of you discuss who will take which students to log minutes for?

February

- Date is TBD, but our credentialed LTS will be starting, and since he has a SPED credential he can perform the role of the SPED teacher in its entirety, meaning: teaching AS, push-in, co-teaching, check-in services, logging his service minutes, writing, and holding IEPs.
- Glynis will be setting up time to be on campus more often to coach him on how to use Welligent, timelines, LAUSD guidelines, service tracking etc.

As always, if there are questions or concerns please reach out!

Good morning, Animo Venice Family!

I'm Gerard Vargas, the co-founder of the Legacy Mindset Mastery. I'm very excited to introduce our Mindset Mastery Curriculum to you this Monday and to support you in being ready to deliver these lessons to your students. As a former Green Dot science teacher for 12 years and curriculum specialist for 5 years, I wanted to design a powerful research based curriculum with our students in mind, so here it is! Jose Hernandez, our co-founder, was also a Green Dot instructor with a wealth of experience in serving our students. He will be leading the first half of the training and I will be joining you in the second half.

This Monday you will need the following:

1. Laptop Charged with Charger so you can access and explore the curriculum
2. Notepad, notebook, paper, or journal for writing any notes you may have.
3. Writing utensils
4. Headphones so you can preview lesson videos and other audio features
5. In order to maximize our time together, please create your account before Sunday evening. Some of you have already created an account, so disregard this item. This 3 minute video shows you how to create your account. It takes a total of 4 minutes. Use your Green Dot email and save your password.
6. We are starting sharply at our allotted time in order to honor your time.
7. Excitement and an open-mind to a great experience for you and your students!

My contact information is below should you ever need anything at all.

Have a wonderful weekend and see you on Monday!

Hi Team,

Unfortunately, we must follow the guidelines that LAUSD has established for the UTLA strikes. LA School Police needs to be the primary point of contact if protests begin at your campus. From what information was given to me, one school police officer will be assigned per Prop-39 campus. If protests do occur and they become escalated to the point where safety is now in danger, and school police has a delayed response, do not hesitate to call 911.

Kaleem,
Great PPT presentation! Quick question about contact authorities. The last slide indicates that we should call LAUSD school police. But, we've learned through experience that we are supposed to call Pacific Division. Does this change for the strike?

Subject: Potential LMU student teachers

Hi!

As I mentioned in my original request for your placement, we are conducting phone screens with all potential student teachers prior to committing to the placement. Unfortunately, given the Winter break, the soonest we could get some scheduled, is tomorrow (Friday, 1/11). If your student teacher is a go (which most likely will be the case as we have not seen any from LMU not work out!), they will arrive to you on Monday, 1/15. I will shoot you an email asap tomorrow (as soon as we know), and include contact information. I am sorry this is down to the wire in terms of confirmation…thanks for your patience.

In addition, while most TEP programs provide you with their guidelines for effective mentoring, we wanted to give you a few suggestions that might make the student teacher's experience at Green Dot even more memorable. Because student teachers can be a key recruitment pipeline for your school site (and others), we want them to see and experience many of the things that set us apart from other districts/CMOs. We want their experience with us to put Green Dot at the top of their "where I'd like to teach" list.

Before Your Student Teacher Arrives	Your Student Teacher's First Day	Throughout Your Student Teacher's Placement
We know that placements are sometimes only	If your student teacher was not able to visit the campus prior to their start date,	As you spend time with your student teacher, if you begin to see confirmed a day or so in advance of their arrival on your campus, so some or all of the below, may or may not be feasible ahead of time. If a visit prior to the start date is not feasible, try to accomplish some/all of these suggestions within the first few days of their placement.

- Call your student teacher a few days/a week prior to their start date to welcome them to your school and see if they have any questions. Make sure they understand how to get to you, where to park, and any other pertinent information they might need on their first day.
  - If possible, have them visit the campus a day or so in advance, meet you, take a tour, etc.
- Try to arrange a desk (in a pinch, even a student desk will suffice) where they can sit, and a place where they can store their belongings/organize work.
- Let your students (and their parents) know that you will be hosting a student teacher for "x" amount of time, and what exactly that will entail. Remind your students that the student teacher is a arrange for them to meet you there earlier than normal, so you can show them around, introduce them to some of the other teachers (especially the ones with classrooms closest to yours), the office staff, and your administrative team.

- Eat lunch with your student teacher in the teacher's lounge, and use this time to go over any questions they may already have, and/or have them get to know some of your colleagues. (You should probably do this for the first week or so, and at least sporadically throughout the placement.)
- As with your students, discuss your expectations of the student teacher with him/her, and ask about their expectations of you.
- Talk to them about why they want to teach and what kind of teacher they want to be. How do they envision students describing them when they have their own classroom?

this person as a potential fit for Green Dot (at your school if there is an opening, OR at another of our campuses), please encourage your Principal and/or Assistant Principal(s) to come observe him/her, and have the three of you debrief together. Having an administrator(s) show an early interest may help convert a student teacher to a new hire more quickly. (Also, please notify Lisa Nichols in Human Capital, so we can help to convert this student teacher into a hire ☺)

- Provide your student teacher with several opportunities to observe and debrief with other teachers at your site – let them experience teaching styles different from your own, and see for themselves that many of the practices they observe/learn in your classroom are used across the board at your school.
- The more you can work with them on (and allow them to implement) classroom management, the better prepared they will be for their own classroom – regardless of where they choose to teach upon earning their credential.
- Arrange some time for your student teacher to meet with a Curriculum Specialist (preferably one in their content area) to better understand some of the new teacher supports provided at Green Dot. Ideally, have them sit in on an actual coaching session with a new teacher at your site (with that teacher's and the CS's approval, of course).
- While they will be required (per their TEP) to attend

teacher like any other, and should be accorded the same level of respect and consideration as any other teacher. ➢ Arrange for your student teacher to spend some time with your administrator during their first week or so, so they can get to know each other, too. A short coffee date would be great! ➢ Pull together all materials that your student teacher might need (copies of school calendar, bell schedule, campus map, student handbook, teacher handbook, etc.) If you can send this information to your student teacher ahead of their start date (or have it for them at the above-mentioned tour), all the better.		all collaboration and professional development with you, be sure to have them actively participate – especially in collaboration activities. We want to student teachers to see what "working together" is really like here at Green Dot. ➢ Share your reasons for coming to work at Green Dot – and most importantly, why you have stayed. Let them know what your goals are as a teacher – be it to remain in the classroom in a leadership position, or to move into administration. Again, it is a chance for them to understand what growth looks like at Green Dot. ➢ Get to know your student teacher, what makes him/her tick, likes/dislikes, how they learn best, etc. Put into practice with your student teacher, some of the same strategies you use with your students – strategies to build relationships, engage and teach. A strong and successful relationship with you will go far in converting a student teacher into a Green Dot teacher!

The Human Capital department will also be observing your student teacher, and asking you for written feedback – maybe more than once, depending on the length of placement. Please be timely in your response, as well as completely honest – providing as many specifics as possible. This will allow us to better gauge if the student teacher is a potential hire, especially if your school site does not have an appropriate opening and we want to present him/her elsewhere.

And finally, if you have concerns about a student teacher's performance, please document specifics and discuss with him/her as soon as possible - work directly with your student teacher on strategies to overcome issues. You are also welcome to address these issues with the TEP Field Supervisor, and, if you feel the situation warrants, please reach out to Lisa Nichols (Lisa.Nichols@greendot.org) with Human Capital (and notify your Principal that you are doing so). While we hope that most concerns can be addressed directly with the student teacher, we are here for you if you need us.

Again, thank you for taking on this role, and please know that the Human Capital team is truly appreciative. We are here to help and/or answer any questions you might have – so don't hesitate to ask!

Hey Miss,

I was just talking to Nicole about her goals and one thing we talked about was writing strong objectives and figuring out how to refer to them throughout the lesson in a real way and makes them very apparent for the students.

Could you in the preview time maybe talk about the objectives and then use that to lead into your planning of the exit tickets and how those should link to those objectives?

Thanks!

Hey there!

Hope you're having a great week :)

I wanted to check my thinking around what Thursday can look like with Franz and Nicole so that I can send it out to them before we meet.
I'd like to focus on questioning and exit slips but give space for troubleshooting.
Let me know what you think!

All my best,
Steph

Yes, that will be okay. Please share with the staff the following professional expectation;

1) Everyone is on campus until the end of the professional day, 3:30pm every day
2) Accurate attendance needs to be taken every day, every period the first 10 minutes of class.
3) If staff needs to leave campus to pick up lunch or needs to step off campus to please let the office know
4) When another teacher is asking for help with covering a class that others help
5) Everyone needs to arrive on campus by at least 7:45am so they can be at the door and ready to go by 7:55am

Hello!

I printed half my progress reports yesterday and was planning to print out the other half today but forgot to account for Welligent being down

Am I able to turn these in to the office when we return from break?

Hey Amber,

This was brought to my attention yesterday and I addressed it with [redacted] right away as we definitely didn't want to upset her. When I brought it up though she said that it had nothing to do with her sister and she just doesn't like that theme.

The "Vegas" theme right now was just an overarching description as the final theme will be something along the lines of "Monte Carlo," "Casino Royale," etc..the kids still have to brainstorm and come up with the final idea.

Thanks so much,
Harpreet

I know it wasn't done intentionally; however, theming the prom "Las Vegas" is triggering to [redacted] She had serious trauma as a child there & keeping it at this theme is going to upset her on many levels. I just wanted to voice my concern on her behalf.

Hi all,

I checked in with the admin team and Mr. Landicho and we are in consensus that the triggering event has already happened with the ballot and we will follow up with [redacted] to mitigate and manage that as much as possible. I also spoke to Ms. Makkar and she said that a follow up vote was going out on Instagram tonight for students to choose between cherry blossoms and Casino Royal (or Monte Carlo). We are going to honor the outcome of that vote and should the prom be casino themed we will ensure that there are no "Las Vegas" titled decorations.
Ms. Stone thank you for being a voice for [redacted] and bringing this to everyone's attention we will do our best to support her moving forward.

If there are any further concerns please let a member of the Admin team know ASAP.

Thank you,

Hi team,

Our lead teacher at ASLA has expressed potential interest in transferring next school year, Patty Ibarra. We have a few current confirmed openings in the organization, and she has expressed interest in touring these schools to see if these schools may be sites she would like to interview with. Your site currently has a confirmed opening, and I will be touring her around campus on 2/14 to aid in her determination of whether or not she will seek out transferring. Please note that she will be touring another site as well the following week.

Please let me know if you have any questions!

Good afternoon Mary,

We are sorry for the frustrations around privacy while pumping. Please know that our offices are always available for you or any other mother to use, they have only one key and we have shades to be drawn so that there is privacy. If you would like to continue to use your classroom because of the convenience of space what do you think about the attached sign that I can print on bright paper and you can place it in your window?
As far as the knocking goes we can do our best to be more vigilant at lunch keeping an eye on your door but the best option may be to come down to one of our offices at that time.

Let us know what you think about the sign. Thank you!

Hi,

I am writing to request more privacy during lunch/prep. With no private space to pump on this campus, it has become very challenging to pump during my breaks without interruption. It's extremely uncomfortable to be walked in on when door is locked.

I have made it clear to students regarding what days I am available at lunch but it is also getting out of control with the knocking/not leaving until I stop pumping to ask for the obsessive knocking to stop.

Also, the heater still hasn't been fixed. I hesitate to ask for repair as I am worried this will be fixed while pumping. If someone could fix before/after school.

Thank you!

Good Morning Administrators,

This data is coming a little later than normal – particularly because we wanted to make sense of and appropriately frame our IAB data in this first round. You can use this district data for comparison purposes and to make sense of the class and student level data on your campus. You can also share the data with department chairs or teachers if it feels meaningful and is appropriately framed.

Q2 Math IAB Data – The first two pages are context and framing for making sense of the data. The rest of the document has comparison charts and graphs by school, grade level, and test.

Q2 Science GDCAP Data – Documents are available showing average student performance at MS and HS for each of the Q2 GDCAPs by school and/or individual science teacher.

Please don't hesitate to reach out to me or your Math Curriculum Specialist with questions about any of the data reports.

Good Evening Ms. Jaureguy

Thank you for getting back to me. While I understand that we all have a lot on our plates I wish you had had for help before. I am sure we could have found a way to get it done. The other part that is difficult for me is that the other schools who also have a lot on their plates were able to get is done and we did not. As soon as you find out what Dr. Lara needs please let me know. Also if you can please give me an update with chemistry.

Ms. Jaureguy please know that one of my concern is that future AP recommendations will be impacted by the data on the GDCAP. I hope to be wrong but it is just a gut feeling right now.

Subject: FW: Q2 Math IAB and Science GDCAP Data

Importance: High

Good Morning Ms. Jaureguy

In the email below there is a link to a report showing us how our students did on the GDCAP and I see that we have nothing for us. Can you please help me understand what happen? I am concern our school data is not there. Is the a plan to get that data?

Gracias

Subject: Q2 Math IAB and Science GDCAP Data

Good Morning Administrators,

This data is coming a little later than normal – particularly because we wanted to make sense of and appropriately frame our IAB data in this first round. You can use this district data for comparison purposes and to make sense of the class and student level data on your campus. You can also share the data with department chairs or teachers if it feels meaningful and is appropriately framed.

Q2 Math IAB Data – The first two pages are context and framing for making sense of the data. The rest of the document has comparison charts and graphs by school, grade level, and test.

Q2 Science GDCAP Data – Documents are available showing average student performance at MS and HS for each of the Q2 GDCAPs by school and/or individual science teacher.

Please don't hesitate to reach out to me or your Math Curriculum Specialist with questions about any of the data reports.

Thanks,

Subject: RE: Question about AP
Date: Thursday, January 24, 2019 2:53:30 PM

Hey there,

Thanks for reaching out!

Timed writes are a great idea for AP, but here's where you can push/probe her:

- What differences do you want to see between this timed write and the next timed write? Is there a specific skill/ set of skills you want to coach students on in between timed writes?
- What are you doing during timed writes? Are you taking anecdotal notes around how students use their time? Are you actively coaching students/ the whole class?
    - I started to actively coach students during formatives a few years ago, and I saw some awesome growth for students. I would talk to individuals if they weren't using test-taking strategies the way we had practiced, for example. I would also pause the class to share positive trends or to push them to adjust what they were doing in some way. She obviously cannot do that during the AP exam, so she could take advantage of that now!
- She could also consider doing a timed write for just the introduction, for example. Or she could time students in reading a prompt/ creating their outline. I don't know how she teaches students to tackle the constructed responses on the exam, but she could use anecdotal data and/or results from previous timed writes to focus on a specific skill/ part of the constructed response in a future class.

Hope this helps! Happy to talk through any of these more on the phone or over email!

Subject: Question about AP

Hey Miss,
I'm in Ms. Rubin's AP lang class and she is using the last 45 minutes of class to have the students write a synthesis essay. I know that there is a need to have the students practice the timed writes but I'm wondering if you have any thoughts on how she could do this and keep more of her class time? Or maybe I am being way to picky and just trying to find something to talk about? Lol

Do you have time for a chat sometime soon (she asks on a Friday afternoon lol) ?

Hi Sherri,

An interesting question. The short answer…I'm not sure if there are any legal restrictions against making the request. I know that we keep photo copies of the enrolling guardian's ID. I will check and get back to you.

From the operational side, I believe that Wendy could provide valuable insight. Consideration: logistics of keeping/making photo copies of emergency contacts (potentially 3/student).

When I was at Western, this was an issue and we approached the issue by making it a point of awareness for all families (reminder notice at the beginning of each semester, signage in the office and at the main gate, etc.). Signage and announcements indicated that for safety reason, students will only be released to people listed as an emergency contact AND with a photo ID. There were still some angry parents, but that diminished over time.

Take care,

Hey Arlene,
We had an interesting question to ask. Is it allowable for us to have photo copies ID cards for people on our emergency contact list? We had an incident today where someone came to pick up a child but did not have any ID on them. We told them that we could not release a student to an adult without seeing the ID so now we are wondering if to prevent parents or people leaving angry at us if we could keep ID photos so that if it ever happened again we could check the students file to see if their ID was there?

Does that make sense and are we allowed to do that?

Thanks!

I have all the test books here in my office. Please send me a student next period and they will be able to pick them up. I have them all in two AV blue bags.

As for the computer carts Ms. Guevara needs to do inventory on them. At the end of 7th period on Friday please have a student take your cart to room 127.

1. I have a student who said she took the diagnostic 2 but we don't have scores for her for the m/c section. I have to look through the test books to see if her answer sheet is there. Where are they at this point?
2. Where should I stash my computer cart during the break? Not so sure if I feel safe leaving it here since others have accessed my room after hours.

Thank you for following up on this! I have a meeting scheduled with Ms. Cervantes tomorrow where we are specifically working on 9th grade. I think Ms. Cervantes is right on though when she asked about maybe running things by the rest of the team first.

From our meeting tomorrow we can provide a list of students who have individual class change requests from teachers and we can email that to the 9th grade team for feedback before we make any changes. We are working really hard to get all these changes done ASAP but also done right!

Thanks team!

Thank you for your email. Yes, [redacted] schedule was changed per another teacher's request to help her be successful.

I think that we are learning from this process and my suggestion moving forward is that any individual schedule change requests from teachers should be discussed in a grade level meeting first as to avoid these issues. I will commit to be a the grade level meetings where these changes are discussed to provide feedback on what is and is not possible given class sizes etc.

With that said, before I move [redacted] again, can we run this by the rest of 9th grade teachers to get some feedback as to which periods she may or may not be a good fit for.

Good Afternoon,

I was in Mr. Torres' 3rd period class this afternoon in order to offer support and noticed that [redacted] has been transferred into this class period.

This is definitely NOT a good fit for her or other students in that class. This has historically been a challenging class for Mr. Torres since semester 1, and the addition of [redacted] means that there is another very chatty, easily distracted, and not focused student. I observed her talking the entire period, and in addition, completed very little of her assignment.

Can we please move [redacted] out of Spanish 1A during 3rd period and into another class period.

I know that last semester we discussed changing some of the students schedules to ensure that they are successful- however, changing [redacted] into 3rd period completely contradicts our original purpose. I understand that her classes may have been changed for other reasons, but can we please see how we can fit a different spanish class period into her schedule.

Mary,
Sherrie told me that you had an issue with [redacted] and his hoody. I pulled him to talk about it. He said it was a self-esteem issue and we talked about why it was important to teachers to have hoods off. I'm copying Greego on this in hopes that he might check in and see if there is more to it.

Boss can you take a look at the email from Ms. Rubin below.

I can follow up on this tomorrow but if you get a chance can you pull [redacted] and have her write a statement about what she heard [redacted] talk about as he took this "order." I'll send you a picture of the post it that is written on, it is very clearly a drug list.

Hi there, Franz, Nicole, and Sherrie!

Happy Thursday! Break is so, so close, and all three of you deserve it. I hope that you get a lot of rest and relaxation but also live it up! I'm looking forward to seeing you all when we return.

For better or for worse, there are several Google docs we are using for planning (my fault!), but I do think they encapsulate different thinking or information, so it's good to have them all. However, I wanted to put some big-picture steps in one place to act as a reference tool for winter break planning.

I mentioned this to Nicole yesterday, but I am more than happy to help build out daily materials. I think I learned the most from mentor teachers when I used their tools and had a chance to ask them about the thinking behind them (as opposed to finding things on the internet, which we all do!). Getting to talk through what someone has built is a great way to learn from their process. So, as an example, I would happily build out a week of materials for y'all to use as long as I have a heads up!

Franz and Nicole, I highly recommend dividing/conquering the first two weeks. Feel free to assign me week 3! I'd love to meet on 1/15 or 1/17 during your prep if that works out with the way the schedule is that week. Let me know!

All my best,
Steph

Tools:

- Chapters summaries and planning notes.
- Quarter 3 calendar.
- Master planning document.
- Attached lesson plan exemplars for close reading (just a passage that you want to reread from HW) and a reading workout (reading most of a chapter in class/ likely what you will use most). You don't need to fill this out every day, but it should guide your thinking as you plan.

Steps to take for daily planning:

- Read the chapter. As you read, ask yourself, "What is the text telling me to teach? What are the biggest ideas in this chapter? What skill stands out to me that students would need to tackle this chapter?" Here is a standards-aligned list that can help you determine skills to focus on.
- Determine a question that is worth asking about the chapter. This can end up being your exit slip question. Then, think about the discrete skill that students will need to answer that question. That skill should become the driving force of your objective.
- Next, decide what kind of lesson plan/structure best fits your needs that day.
    - If students read a chapter for HW that you can briefly review with them, that can likely be covered by a reading check do now. If you want to dive into that chapter more deeply, I would recommend doing a close reading of 1-2 pages from the HW chapter after you review it with the reading check. From there, you can start the lesson that is built around the new chapter for the day.
    - For that day's chapter, you can either have students read with you as a class, read in partners, or read alone. You can also do a combination of those three!

Potential lesson plan for a non-Monday day:

Timing	Chunk	What's happening at this time

5 minutes	Reading check	Students use their book/notes they took to take the reading check quiz for their HW. During this time, you can check for annotations or however else you want to hold students accountable for at-home reading. My reading checks were usually relatively short but meaty. I would have a true/false question that students had to back up with a quoted line from the text. I would often have a multiple choice question. The last one would be a short answer, ideally asking them to use quoted evidence.
5 minutes	Reading check review	I would go over answers with students using a PPT slide to show the correct answers. For anything that asked for evidence, I would call on 1-2 students to share. You can find those students as you circulate during the reading check.
5 minutes	Vocabulary	Up to you how you use this time! It seems like they will get vocabulary words on Mondays in general, but there are some missing Mondays in Q3. You could do a deep dive on one word during this time or let students work on flashcards together.
5-10 minutes if doing both	Attack the prompt and/or framing for the day	This is an AWESOME strategy that I used every day of teaching. Students would look at the exit ticket question and unpack/annotate it. We would then discuss it. For example, if the question was "What impact does Boo Radley have on Scout in Chapter 4?", students would identify that Boo Radley must play an important role in that chapter. They would also realize that whatever he does or doesn't do makes Scout do or not do something, too. They knew that while we read, we would want to focus on Boo's actions and Scout's reactions. You can also use this time to frame the reading, showing students images that will help them understand the chapter better or warning them about anything they need to be particularly mature about.
5-10 minutes	Skill focus	Based on the question of that day, you're going to want to have students practice a skill to help them answer that question. You'll want to teach it briefly so that they can practice it with the chapter. With the example above, you could have students focus on looking at a character's actions and what they tell you about the character themselves. You can either use the first page or two of a chapter to teach the skill (reading it with kids as you go), or you can use a text they are familiar with. Of Mice and Men could be a great text to use because students already understand it and can then use it at a deeper level to learn a new skill or refine one they've been exposed to.

10-12 minutes x 3	Reading chunks	Students then begin reading the chapter in two to three chunks. The chunks should be 1-3 pages at most. Students are accountable, at the end of the reading, to answering a big-picture question, usually the same as the exit ticket or closely aligned. Using the same example from chapter 4, students could track "What does Boo Radley do on these pages? How does it impact Scout?" They should read for 5-7 minutes and then discuss, either as a class or in partners, for 3-5 minutes.
5-7 minutes	Optional discussion	If there's time, you can have students share their thinking with each other, almost like a mini Socratic circle. If time is short, skip it!
10 minutes	Exit ticket	Hold this time sacred so that students are consistently accountable for reading. If timing is tight, summarize the last chunk of reading for them and have them jump into writing.

Hello all,

I am administering the RI Test on Monday/Tuesday in my Read 180 classes (Periods 3, 5, and 7). I was hoping that I could have some admin support in my third and seventh periods because those classes have been hard to control in the past, and distraction/lack of focus is a big factor in less-than-accurate Lexile scores. I suspect that this happened on the last test for a number of students. Would it be possible for someone to help supervise for the first ten or so minutes of the test during those periods?

Thank you in advance,
Franz

Good afternoon Ms. Gomez,

I have a few meetings and have to start administering finals for my students per their extended time on testing accommodations tomorrow; however, I would like to address your concerns as soon as possible. When is the best time to reach you via phone?

Have a great day.

Hello team...
After reviewing the IEP document, I am requesting to reconvene [redacted] IEP as I am not in agreement with parts of the IEP and have follow up questions.

If you are able to meet tomorrow I can carve out time from my schedule, otherwise we can reconvene when we return from winter break.

I will reach out to mom to schedule time, and I will facilitate---I just need an admin to attend as I will be the SPED teacher. ☺

Good morning Ms. Quintero...the following are my concerns and disagreements:

1. Language on some of the accommodations.

2. Reduced math minutes. Page 2 Section D states he met Math goal 1 but did not meet math goal 2 objective 2 as the goal needs to be adjusted. The reduction in minutes in this area is of great concern to me since he failed math.

3. BSP from IEP dated 12/2017, there was confusion in the meeting regarding this point, however there was an ammendment IEP held 02/2018 to discontinue OT and the BSP was included. Please refer to the aforementioned IEP. On page 2 Section D of the 12/2018 IEP it states [redacted] met objective 1 but did not meet objective 2 of his Behavior goal and there is no PLP.

I will be out of the country 12/17/18-01/06/19 and can be reached via email.

I look forward in collaborating with you and the team in developing an IEP that can help [redacted] feel and be successful at school.

Wishing you a wonderful winter break.

Good Afternoon Everyone,

The final week of lottery submission window is here!

Below is the lottery collection update as of today, 12/03/18.

- In the second chart, Compton includes both 6th and 7th grade lottery form collection.
- Every other school in the first and second chart only display their entry-grade lottery form collection.
- The third chart provides data for every grade for each school.
- The red dot labeled “target” is what will determine whether the school will host a lottery. Please note some targets are still being updated.
- There was an issue with the formula in the matriculation data. I plan to have an update by tomorrow.

Good Afternoon Everyone,

Below is the lottery collection update as of today, 11/13/18.

- In the second chart, Compton includes both 6th and 7th grade lottery form collection.
- Every other school in the first and second chart only display their entry-grade lottery form collection.
- The third chart provides data for every grade for each school.
- The red dot labeled "target" is what will determine whether the school will host a lottery. Please note some targets are still being updated.

Attached you will also find matriculation data.

- For middle schools: if you want to see which of your students has not applied to a Green Dot High School yet, you can do so on the "By School" tab.
- Please note, since we do not have a PowerSchool ID number for applicants, there is a slight margin of error with this data.

Below is the update for lottery collection as of 10/22/2018. We are doing really well compared to where we were in 2017!

There is one chart for high schools and another for middle schools. These numbers are pulled from SchoolAdmin. There is a possibility schools have physical lottery forms that have yet to be uploaded on to SchoolAdmin.

Updated Articulation 19-20 xls

Good Afternoon Everyone,

Below is the lottery collection update as of today, 12/11/18. This compares the final numbers as of our lottery deadline (12/7) to last year's lottery deadline. All of our independent high schools will once again host a lottery!

- In the second chart, Compton includes both 6th and 7th grade lottery form collection.
- Every other school in the first and second chart only display their entry-grade lottery form collection.
- The third chart provides data for every grade for each school.
- The red dot labeled "target" is what will determine whether the school will host a lottery. Please note some targets are still being updated.

Attached you will also find matriculation data.

- Please note, since we do not have a PowerSchool ID number for applicants, there is a slight margin of error with this data.

Subject: RE: Recruitment Data - 11/19/18

Good Afternoon Everyone,

Below is the lottery collection update as of today, 11/19/18.

- In the second chart, Compton includes both 6th and 7th grade lottery form collection.
- Every other school in the first and second chart only display their entry-grade lottery form collection.
- The third chart provides data for every grade for each school.
- The red dot labeled "target" is what will determine whether the school will host a lottery. Please note some targets are still being updated.

Attached you will also find matriculation data.

- For middle schools: if you want to see which of your students has not applied to a Green Dot High School yet, you can do so on the "By School" tab.
- Please note, since we do not have a PowerSchool ID number for applicants, there is a slight margin of error with this data.

Good Afternoon Everyone,

Below is the update for lottery collection as of 10/22/2018. We are doing really well compared to where we were in 2017!

There is one chart for high schools and another for middle schools. These numbers are pulled from SchoolAdmin. There is a possibility schools have physical lottery forms that have yet to be uploaded on to SchoolAdmin.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hi Sherry,

Thank you for the update. I was going to call just now. His mom's response is unfortunate, but I hope we can make something work.

I have office hours today, but I'd like him to stay on Thursday for about 20-30 minutes if possible.

Thank you,

Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On 12/19, I was walking down the stairs to my car at 4:00 when I overheard some students yelling "Ask him! Ask him!" At the bottom of the stairs, I was met by a male student who asked me if he could ask me a question. I asked him if it was an appropriate question to ask a teacher because it seemed like someone else was putting him up to it. He said yes, and introduced himself as [redacted] He was still following me out to my car when he asked "Did you kiss [redacted]?" I simply said "No" to avoid engaging him further and continued walking to my car. [redacted] said something about there being rumors, but I ignored him and walked to my car, at which point he stopped following me. He rejoined his friends, whose voices I recognized to be [redacted] and [redacted]. They said something like "See, I told you!" and "He has a whole-ass girlfriend." I walked out to my car and left.
Interventions Tried	I knew, based both on the way that [redacted] (whom I do not teach or know) approached me and the shouting that I overheard seconds before, that this was going to be a line-crossing interaction, which is why I attempted to give him a chance to rethink asking the question in the first place. I also did not break off my walk to the car to signal that I was not really open to chatting. When [redacted] came out and asked me this question anyways, I felt very uncomfortable and knew that the onlooking students would make a big deal out of any reaction that I might have. That is why I said my quick "No" and walked away from [redacted]. This seemed to get him to leave me alone.
	Students following me to my car feels especially weird, and this is the second time that it has happened (first time was last year with [redacted]). [redacted] also seemed totally Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	okay with asking me this unwarranted and inappropriate question despite being given the chance to reconsider. I would appreciate if someone else aside from me or [redacted] (because he clearly feels okay saying whatever he wants to teachers) telling [redacted] what the boundaries are when asking teachers about freshman rumors or personal things. I would also add here that I have done nothing to invite heightened interrogation of my personal life, but many current first-years seem willing/eager to do so in wildly inappropriate ways. I realize that this age group may simply be curious about those things, but last year's cohort did not even approach this level of brazenness when talking to me about personal life things. Although I don't have a clear solution here, I just wanted to name this trend for what it's worth.

Hi Sofia,

I spoke to Mr. Murcia earlier this year about [redacted] assigned counselor. He indicated that he would be on Carol's caseload.

Mr. Murcia, if anything has changed, please let me know so I can take note and monitor his progress as well as attend his IEP.

Thank you.

When taking the Trigonometry final it would be important to still collect his phone; he was using it without permission (cheating) on the last unit exam.

And he would NOT have approval to use the Trigonometry study guide or solutions that I have provided in any way during the exam. They have been Allowed a green sheet with conics sections formulas on it only.

I would need to see the all of the notes, in their entirety, that he would like to use and he would need to have the rest of his belongings left with me in the classroom. It is my concern that students will copy the entire study guide into their notes and then use it as a road map during the exam. The study guide is like a twin of the final with different numbers and that would be far too much assistance.

Thanks,
Cybele

Hi Team,

[redacted] is currently being evaluated for a Section 504-Plan. He presents with difficulties in attention and nervousness which impact his concentration. While we are completing this evaluation process, please allow [redacted] access to the following accommodations:

- Testing in a different environment (e.g., counseling room, resource room).
- Access to teacher-approved notes during exams.
- Access to graphic organizers.
- Extended time on tests/exams.

Again, we are currently conducting the evaluation. If any of these accommodations are difficult to manage or if there are any questions or concerns, please direct them to me and we can discuss possible solutions. I appreciate the feedback as these are potential accommodations that will be included in his 504-plan.

Thank you all for your support and flexibility!

Thanks Mr. Ely,

I just met with [redacted] and his mom this morning. We reviewed his DRB Student Conduct Agreement, listed below. He's still being searched every day and turning in his phone and ear pods. If you do see him using any electronics, please make us aware of it immediately. Additionally, in an effort to help him get to class each period, we are going to escort him to class for the remainder of the week.

- [redacted] will be subject to daily searches by an administrator and school security.
- [redacted] will be subject to additional searches any time he is found to be in use of an unauthorized electronic device.
- [redacted] will sign-in to ARC after school each day of the week, where he must remain for at least 30 minutes.
- [redacted] will meet with Mr. Liebster (Reading Comprehension teacher) to check in on academics, weekly.
- [redacted] is prohibited from participating in any 9th grade incentives unless he has full support from all of his teachers and has demonstrated considerable improvement as determined by the School Culture Team.
- [redacted] will be subject to a behavior tracker that he must submit to each of his teachers, and checked by Mr. Stern each Friday.
- [redacted] is expected to be to all of his classes on time. Parents will be called each day following [redacted]s tardiness to his classes.

[redacted] attitude in my class has made such a drastic turn. He's actively participating in class to the point where I feel more comfortable calling on him to answer questions and he can give pretty clear reasoning as to how he got his answer. The work output has also increased as well. His exit tickets are no longer blank and in his workbook, he has relied less on the printed out PowerPoint I provide for him.

He does come in a few minutes late, but his cell phone usage in my class, as far as I can tell, has improved. He does not pull it out unless I say it's ok and if I ask him to take out his earphones, he complies.

Overall, I am so proud of the turnaround from [redacted] I've already made a few positive phone calls home on his behalf ☺

Good Morning,

[redacted] has been consistently late to class; however, he has shown much more effort in classwork. He has worked on some assignments in class, yet he has not turned in work. I am hoping he will be turning in work to bring his grade up.

Behavior: Has improved, still does not want to be in assigned seat
Phone use: He still uses phone despite reminders, however he is using it less because he is doing some classwork.
Headphones: Still has headphones in despite reminders
Work completion: he is working on assignments, but only turned in one assignment

Overall, I believe, large improvement due to a new mindset.

His grade is now a D - (a significant improvement from his 50%). he got an A in his project and needs to turn in his collision car lab packet.

Definite improvement in Physics. We discussed his progress last class and I have him a high- five!

Can you please let mom know that:

[redacted] has an issue with the use of electronics. We constantly have to ask for her to put away headphones and/or cellphone

[redacted] is not engaged in class and usually puts her head down and attempts to fall asleep

Little to no work progress
Constantly asks for bathroom breaks, and usually takes longer than 10 min (perhaps she needs an escort every time because of the drug issue)

She is very smart, but her grades do not reflect it. She failed and got D's in a few classes last semester. She will need to make up any credits she needs.

If she continues this way, she may fail more classes and will not be in track towards graduation.

Thank you for checking in Sherry

I only have [redacted] for advisory but I have seen the same observations as Sarah.

I do not know how to get through to her. I've spoke to her one on one quite a few times but havent been able to get much out of her. If anyone has any tips it would be appreciated.

In one of the conversations I had with her towards the end of semester one she did mention she has to take the bus to Culver City to her younger siblings school. She then gets picked up by mom there. She mentioned that this made it hard for her to find time to focus on homework/studying.

Thats all I can think of for now

Good morning,
Sorry for not reaching out yesterday, I wanted to inform you all that [redacted] was suspended yesterday for one day so she is not here today. We have a parent conference set up for 8:30 on Wednesday morning. We are going to be discussing [redacted] concerns with drugs as well as academics. If you have anything you would like us to share with parents please let us know ASAP through email so that we can address any issues or concerns that you have.

Thanks team!

Ms. Jaureguy,
I just tried to call you. I can touch base with you about it briefly before or after ILT and you can fill in the team.
But, the short answer is this incident is probably just a blip on the radar for him.

Good afternoon Admin team,

[redacted] has been one of our focus students and has made great strides in effort and work completion when looking back at quarter 1. Is there anything we should know about in order to better support him regarding today's early departure?

Thank you,

Subject: Regarding student [redacted]

Hi Team,

Hope you're all doing well!

In an effort to support this student's transition, please begin referring to student as his chosen name, [redacted] Additionally, [redacted] is requesting that we use the pronouns: He/Him/His/Himself.

[redacted] understands that it will take some time for us to make the switch. We talked about how people will make flubs as we get our brains to catch up with our intentions. He stated that he's just excited for this next chapter.

Additionally, I would recommend that you have a private conversation with [redacted] to let him know that you received this email and confirm that he'd like for you to transition his name/pronouns. It will be nice way to open up that line of communication and build a bridge for him to express any concerns or discomfort in class.

If there are any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out!

Thank you all for your support!

Hello team,

I wanted to share with you a conversation that I just had with [redacted]. I believe this conversation highlights the positive impact we are having on this young man and is a baby step in the right direction.

[redacted] called me just a few minutes ago asking if there was any possibility of him being able to complete final exams. He was very sincere and kind in his request. I asked him if he had spoken to anyone about why he was going to be out and he said no. I pointed out that sadly we are an hour away from the end of the last day of the semester and since he had not prepared any of us for why he would be missing there was not much to be done at this point. He was disappointed and I pointed out that it appears he may have still received passing marks in Spanish and PE but he was still upset.

The positive I see here is that he called. He reached out to us. It shows that he wants to do well but struggles to make that right decision every day. He did not share why he has been out or if there has been anything going on but the fact that he called is a really good step.

Thank you for all of your hard work with [redacted]

Subject: Reschedule Mtg.

Good afternoon David,

Would it be possible to reschedule this afternoons meeting? I am short staffed in the main office and may not be able to sit in through the entire meeting today. If I am not needed for the meetings entirety, then no need to reschedule.

Thanks,

Hi, Wendy,

Sure, and I'm not sure if the audit will happen, given that the teacher's strike is scheduled to begin on the same day.

Anyway, assuming that the audit will happen on Thursday, could you do it tomorrow afternoon?

Hi Omar,

[redacted] did come to speak with me about this today. We looked into changing the date and noticed there is a $29 fee to make that change. After speaking with admin, we're ok with those students changing their date to the June test. Please have the students see me so I can help them change their test test.

Also, please send me the names of those students so I'm aware of who they are.

Thank you.

Dear Green Dot Public Schools,

I would like to notify you that I am resigning from my position as the 11th grade Special Education teacher effective December 24.

I cannot thank you enough for the wonderful opportunity you've given me to learn from and work with my resilient students and dedicated staff. I have learned so much and will forever be grateful for the chance you took with me to serve our students and families.

Next month I will be taking a position at a university in northern California, but in the meantime and after, I am happy to help assisting in the transition of a new special education teacher.

Sincerely,
Lily Quintero

Hello Administrators,

In celebration of National School Counseling Week February 4-8, 2019, our team hopes to recognize our amazing counselors! This year's theme is "School Counselors: Providing Lessons for Life."

We are asking that you take a moment to answer "My School Counselor Helps Me Be Better By …" on this Google sheet and then we will print your shout-outs on the sign below to share with them.

Please fill in your response on the Google sheet by Friday, February 1st!

Need ideas on how to celebrate your school counselor(s) during National School Counseling Week? Here are some below:

- Treat your counselor to lunch
- Reach out to alumni for a surprise visit, surprise note/card, or video message
- Display an appreciation poster at school entrance
- Have current students write thank you notes
- Shout-out during announcements

Other resources are also available on the ASCA website.

Please reach out if you have any questions.

Thank you in advance,

Good morning, Julio.

Hope you've been well the past couple of months. I have about a month and a half left of maternity leave and so I've been making plans about my return to work as well as care for Eli once I'm gone.

My return date is 1/7 and by then, Eli will be just over 3 months old. I realized that he still won't be sleeping through the night. That along with other aspects of raising such a young baby make it hard for me to return full time. As much as I want to be able to do both, teach full time like I planned to and raise my son well, I think it's the better decision for me and my family to return part time.

From my experience with part time last year, I did learn that it'd be a more seamless transition if I was on campus every day and able to attend meetings. Therefore, my initial thought was to work periods 3, 4, 7 and advisory (the post lunch periods).

I know there must be a host of issues that you need to consider as well but I wanted to let you know where I stand as soon as possible so you can make the appropriate decisions in a timely manner.

Best,

I wanted to check in and see if there has been any progress on my part time proposal as I want to make child care and/or other professional arrangements.
If my proposal is unworkable on your end and you absolutely need someone full time, please let me know ASAP so I can make plans to find a part time position elsewhere.

I plan on visiting sometime next week with Eli, fyi.

Hello,

Thank you for getting back to me.
Unfortunately, I won't be returning for a full time position. I appreciate you looking at possible options for me, though.

Let me know how we can proceed.

Hello team!

You are receiving this invitation to attend Rachel Martinez' Annual IEP. Please note we require at least 1 general education teacher to attend this meeting.

Purpose of Meeting:

- To discuss present levels of performance.
- To determine eligibility, placement, supports and services.
- To create a plan to maintain graduation track
- To discuss any questions or concerns parent may have about special education at Animo Venice

Your input is valuable to this process. During this meeting please be prepared to share input in regards to the following areas:

- Current proficiency towards grade level standards
- Last semester and current grades
- Current progress towards IEP goals.
- Usage of accommodations, and their effectiveness to meet the student's needs.
- Assessment data
- Behavioral logs and/or notes
- Observational note

Thank you in advance,

There is a statement at the beginning of the survey that links to the rubric. Here it is:

Please download the School Leader Evaluation rubric via the link below. The rubric should be used to help provide ratings for your administrator(s) based on the criteria noted in the rubric.

SLE Rubric

There isn't any language in the actual questions that describes the rankings, it just has a matrix with each ranking listed: Entry (1) Emerging (2) Effective (3) Highly Effective (4). Here is a screen shot:
~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Domain 1 - Instructional Leadership

	Entry (1)	Emerging (2)	Effective (3)	Highly Effective (4)
Principal effectively coaches teachers to improve instruction	○	○	○	○
Principal creates and implements professional development which leads to improved teacher and student performance	○	○	○	○
Principal builds a collaborative and well-functioning team	○	○	○	○

Let me know if you have any questions!

Hello Pirates,

Here are links to the results of stakeholder feedback for S1. As always, please use this data to reflect on practice and consider how you will share your reflection with staff in January. If you have any questions or would like to talk through any of the feedback tomorrow or Friday let me know, otherwise we'll review in January.

Good morning Pirates!

In checking Powerschool this morning we found that the semester 1 gradebook set ups with the category weights does not automatically transfer to second semester. ☹

I'm attaching the how to guide from nerdfone on how to set the category weights again. Remember our weights are Other 10%, Formative 40% and Summative 50%.

Please reach out if you have any questions or concern!

Can you please remind me, did we want those meetings to take place during lunch? Advisory? After-school?

Also, a heads up with regards to the LAUSD strike. Broadway elementary is an LAUSD school. The strike is expected to begin Monday, Jan 14. We don't have school that day. But, on Tuesday, we have extra security coming in that will be with us throughout the strike. I'd like to sit down with Ebay and Enrique to show them our plan so that they are aware. We do anticipate that there will be picketers outside of the elementary school. Our goal is to just ensure that students are making to and from school without any interaction with any demonstrators outside of the elementary school, and to ensure that we are prepared in case they decide to head down towards our campus.

Happy New Year! Since our last meeting , we discussed the possibilities of using a room for impact sessions I wanted to know when we can begin. Also today our prevention case manager , Micheal Guedel, will be on campus, he will be the one conducting the groups with the prevention youth. We had also discussed the student referral list, is that available yet? We are looking into funding sources for a more comprehensive safe passage program, and hopefully that can happen soon !

Subject: SART process and students of concern

Good Everning,

During our grade level meeting on Friday, we discussed a concern regarding some 9th graders with serious to severe attendance concerns. Can you please provide us with the following information:

1) what is the process for the SART process? Please see the answer to question #2

2) what is our policy for students with frequent absences/excessive tarries. Here is what is in our GD student handbook. Ms. Guevara and Ms. Mendoza are always on top and follow the policy. They are constantly scheduling parent conferences to address attendance. The most difficult part is after a PC attendance improves for some of the students but then it goes back to and the Ms. Guevara and Ms. Ms. Mendoza.

Rights and Responsibilities Policy C. 1.0

Policy: Attendance, Absenteeism, Truancy and SART

Green Dot believes that regular attendance is critical for a student's preparation for college, leadership and life. Accordingly, Green Dot will work with parents/guardians and students to ensure their compliance with this attendance policy.

Absences

Students are expected to attend all classes every day. Students and parents should do everything in their power to ensure punctual arrival to school and preventing unexcused absences, including maintaining good health, arranging necessary appointments outside of school time, and scheduling family vacations outside of the academic calendar.

An "absence" means not being present in a class in which the student is enrolled for greater than 30 minutes in a school day.

Any absence will be recorded as an "excused absence" for the following reasons ONLY:

- personal illness;
- emergency medical, dental, and optometry appointments (verified by a note signed by a physician);
- attending funeral services of an immediate family member;

- court summons;
- observance of a religious holiday;
- school approved activity; and
- serious family emergencies, or other justifiable personal reasons, subject to approval by the Principal or designee.

Any absence not recorded as an "excused absence" shall be recorded as an "unexcused absence".

Students with absences (excused or unexcused) from a class period more than four times in a given semester will be referred to the Student Attendance Review Team (SART) for support with interventions. If a student is absent from a class period for more than 15 days during the course of a semester, he/she may not receive credit in that course.

Procedure for Reporting an Absence: The parent or guardian must notify the school office by 9:00 a.m. of each day the student is absent. If the parent/guardian does not make the call by 9:00 am, the school will notify the parent in an effort to find out if the student has an excused absence.

Procedure for Returning to School after an Absence: When the student returns to school, he/she should bring a note from his/her parent. Any student who is absent for medical, dental or other professional services must, in addition, present a note to the school office directly from the respective provider's office. The school is required to keep on file a note signed by a parent/guardian for every student absence. The note must be legible and written in ink. A valid note should contain:

- Full name of the student
- Date(s) or time of absence
- Specific reason for absence
- Telephone numbers where both parents/guardians may be reached (home and work)
- Signature of parent or guardian

If a student does not bring a note, he/she will be marked truant.

Procedure for Early Dismissal: After their arrival on campus in the morning, students may NOT leave campus until dismissal time. Students leaving campus without permission are considered truant. If a student requests an early dismissal (for example, if a parent/guardian is picking him/her up for a doctor's appointment), the parent/guardian reports to the office to sign out the student.

Tardies

A student is considered tardy if he/she is not in his/her seat when the bell rings signaling the start of class. If a student arrives late to school, he/she must obtain a late-slip from the school office. Any tardiness of more than 30 minutes for any class is considered an unexcused absence. Excessive tardies will result in disciplinary action and may result in an appearance before the SART.

Tardies between Classes: Students have an allotted time to travel from one classroom to another. Students who take longer than that time will receive an unexcused tardy from the teacher.

Passes

All students must carry passes verifying their authorization to be out of class during class time. Passes are issued by the teacher/Principal/Assistant Principal as necessary.

Dismissal for Work or Participation in Events with External Organizations

In general, students may only be released to parents, guardians, or other individuals as indicated on the student's enrollment form and/or emergency contact information. Students may be picked up for work or participation in events with external organizations by representatives of such external organizations only with prior written consent from parents/guardians. Upon student pick-up, any representative of an authorized external organization shall be required to show appropriate identification to appropriate school staff in accord with the school's standard pick-up processes.

Truancy

Students absent from any class or activity period without permission, or students who leave campus after arriving without permission are considered truant, even if they return to campus in time for class. A student is considered a habitual truant if he/she has been reported truant three or more times per school year. Consequences for truancy will include a disciplinary action, up to and including referral to the Student Attendance Review Team ("SART").

Student Attendance Review Team

The SART aims to work with families to ensure that students comply with compulsory education laws. The SART is both a prevention and intervention tool that can be utilized to address truancies, excessive tardies, and excessive absences. The SART's duties include:

- Reviewing school-wide attendance data
- Creating prevention strategies to encourage consistent student attendance
- Identifying students struggling to meet attendance expectations
- Creating intervention plans for struggling students
- Monitoring progress of students on contracts
- Determining consequences for excessive absences, up to and including, loss of course credit or referral to the judicial system

SART Members: The SART consists of the Principal and designated classified and certified staff members. The student and parent/guardian experiencing attendance issues are encouraged to participate in the SART process. Members shall be trained and shall understand the confidential nature of the SART when dealing student names and identifying information. Members should meet on a regular basis to execute the duties defined above. In addition, the SART should convene as required when a student has accumulated an excessive amount of absences or truancies.

Process for Addressing Excessive Absences:

	Totals by Semester	Contact	Person(s) Responsible	Interventions/Consequence
Phase 1	4 Absences from a Class Period	4-Day Letter	Meet with Counselor or Administrator	➢ Conference to Complete Intervention Checklist
Phase 2	7 Absences from a Class Period	7-Day Letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract
Phase 3	10 Absences from a Class Period	Certified 10-Day Letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract Reviewed and Updated
Phase 4	15 Absences from a Class Period	Certified 15-Day letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract Reviewed and Updated ➢ Potential Loss of Course Credit ➢ Potential Referral to Judicial System

Process for Addressing Excessive Tardies:

Phase 1	5 Tardies from a Class Period	Letter	Meet with Counselor or Administrator	➢ Conference to Complete Intervention Checklist
Phase 2	10 Tardies from a Class Period	Letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract
Phase 3	15 Tardies from a Class Period	Certified letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract Reviewed and Updated ➢ Potential Loss of Course Credit ➢ Potential Referral to Judicial System

Process for Addressing Excessive Truancies:

Phase 1	2 Truancies	Truancy Letter	Meet with Administrator	➢ Conference and/or Detention
Phase 2	4 Truancies	Truancy Letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract
Phase 3	7 Truancies	Certified Truancy Letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract Reviewed and Updated ➢ Potential Referral to Judicial System
Phase 4	10 Truancies	Certified Truancy Letter with Notice of SART	SART	➢ Student Contract Reviewed and Updated ➢ Potential Loss of Course Credit ➢ Referral to Judicial System

Inactive Status: After two days of consecutive absence, the SART process will begin (see truancy matrix). After 10 days of consecutive absence with no response to phone calls or certified letters, or the SART process, a student will be placed on inactive status, withdrawn for school, and records will reflect that the student voluntarily withdrew from school. Students who are inactive are no longer part of the school's enrollment count. Any student who becomes inactive will be returned to active status once he/she returns to school and will be placed on the waiting list if applicable. A meeting of the SART will be convened immediately.

Legal Interventions: The SART reserves the right to involve the judicial system in cases of excessive absences, excessive tardies and habitual truancy. Once the case is referred to the authorities, the student and parent/guardian may be subject to the following sections of the California Penal Code:

- Sections 13202.7 (a) California Vehicle Code: "Any minor under the age of 18 years, but 13 years of age or older, who is an habitual truant, or who is adjudged by the juvenile court to be a ward of the court under subdivision (b) Section 601 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, may have his/her driving privilege suspended for one year by the court." A habitually truant may loss driving privileges for one year.

- Section 601. Welfare and Institutions Code: (a) "Any persons under the age of 18 years who persistently or habitually refuses to obey the reasonable and proper orders or directions of his or her parents, guardian, or custodian, or who is beyond the control of that person…is within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court…" A student who does not follow orders of parents or guardians can be placed under the control of the court.

- Section 601. Welfare and Institutions Code: (b)"If a minor has four or more truancies within one school year as, or a school attendance review board or probation officer determines that the available public and private services are insufficient or inappropriate to correct the habitual truancy of the minor, or to correct the minor's persistent or habitual refusal to obey the reasonable and proper orders or directions of school authorities, or if the minor fails to respond to directives of a school attendance review board or probation officer or to services provided, the minor then within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court which may adjudge the minor to be a ward of the court.

3) do we have an action plan for the following students:
A) [redacted] – the office has made multiple phone calls home, send the SART letters home, schedule parent conferences and we continue to do all the things I listed
B) [redacted] – same as above
C) [redacted] – same as above
D) [redacted] (there was an issue with custody and getting them to school on time. Is there an update?) – that is correct and it is partially out of control. I know that Ms. Guevara has spoken to both parents, I have spoken to dad and still we are not getting the results we need to see.

The good thing about the twins is that they are here every day they just are late. Just like the other students above we have follow the same steps.

Mates please know that we will continue to reach our to parents and try to change things. The truth is that we have very little power behind the SART process. We have reached out to the attendance counselor at the Latino Resource Organization and she has been able to help us a little with a few students. Also when there is a social worker we get them involve. We have make phone calls to children services but most of the time they have not taken a report. They tell us to continue what we are doing at school.

Finally, I want to ask and encourage the 9th grade team to also call home or email home letting parents know how much work they are missing and how important it is for students to be at school. Please make sure those phone call and emails are also logged in.

Thanks,

Hi Everyone,

Just wanted to provide an update on SAT/ACT accommodations. I have submitted SAT requests for all the students that Lily left consent forms for. I spoke with Jessica and I will be redistributing the forms to some of the students that have nothing on file and then getting requests in ASAP. I will be submitting ACT accommodations in February once students register for the test.

Information on their requests/request status can be found here: https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1lJqOSyaE84Ox-HUpNbRjxoNRG1DeUIjDHstb9pCi_gI/edit?usp=sharing

Hi Josh,

As an English Department we revised the questions on our reading and vocabulary quizzes to look more like those found on the SBAC. We spent about 2 department times (roughly two hours) working on this collaboratively.

We used this website a lot:
https://sampleitems.smarterbalanced.org/BrowseItems

Leona also has a document with question stems and frames from the SBAC. I can't seem to find them in any of my folders, but I Cc'd her here so that maybe she can share them with you. I think they were compiled 4 or 5 years ago.

Let me know if you need anything else!
Danielle

Danielle,
I hope you are doing well. I remember you mentioning speaking about changing your ELA team's Friday vocabulary quizzes to SBAC type questions. Are you able to provide some examples of what that looked like that we could share with our ELA team?
Thanks,

Good Morning Mates

The schedule for Thursday and Friday with the advisory period is in the meeting maker. We can add the calendar for Wednesday.

As for schedules the counselors are currently working on it and students will not get their schedules until after the break.

I believe the schedule is on the calendar—check the individual dates.
Historically, students won't get schedule changes until semester 2.

Hello, admin!

I hope you guys are wrapping up a nice weekend. I have a couple of questions, and I'm copying GL leads and counselors here for efficacy of communication:

1) Do we have the schedule for the three days of finals yet? Teachers in the 11th grade level meeting were asking about the advisory additions to the schedule for those days.

2) Do we know when students with course schedules changing at the semester (e.g., students in a credit recovery class) will receive their new schedules? I'm trying to anticipate possible scenarios where they might be joining a class that has some homework assigned over the break.

Best,
Sara

I highly recommend that [redacted] and [redacted] are not in so many classes together.
Also would it be possible to move some of that "crew" out of drama. They make it very difficult to do anything productive in class & make it even more challenging than it needs to be.
This would be any of the following:
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] (she will participate if the boys aren't there)
[redacted]

There are a few more of their "crew" in the class but they will participate when I ask.

Hi, Wendy,

th

Since we're still on break the week before, the best days would probably be Monday the 7 or Tuesday the 8th, preferably in the afternoon, like 1 or 2.

Also, there is a good chance that LAUSD teachers will go on strike around this time, so I'm not sure how that will affect the audit.

Arlene, do you have any information on what this audit will entail? I have been given absolutely no information except that the audit is scheduled for the 10th and that it is a "Segregation of Duties" audit, with which I am unfamiliar.

Thanks,

Good afternoon David,

Could we set up a meeting with you to go over the financial part of our oversight visit with Julio and I ? Our oversight visit is on the 10th of January. Can you please send me a couple days and times and we will get back to you on what works best for all our schedules.

Thanks,

No worries. I was in my room from 11:45 to 12:15 because that's what the meeting maker stated, but then I went to The office and Wendy mentioned you were with Mr. Marino. She asked if I wanted her to call you, but I told her that it was okay and we would just reschedule our meeting. I'm just not sure if we still need to meet for our ICG conference.

Regarding the GDCAP, yes, I gave the quarter 2 assessment as the final exam. Since there are absolutely no multiple choice questions on the test, it is entirely based on student writing, student calculations, graphing, and claims and evidence reasoning paragraphs. There is no Multiple choice for students And the entire exam must be hand graded. I graded them over Christmas break, and it was a part of their final assessment. I had not bubbled in their responses on their score documents, because I thought the scanning deadline had passed- it was December and we returned in January. Adriana checked in with me and asked me to scan them anyway, so I printed the sheets today during my conference and I'm going to bubble in their responses, and have them scanned by this week. Unfortunately, it's just so time-consuming to grade their assessments, and bubble them in too.

I am still using the GDCAP data to inform my planning, and I'll Email you as soon as I have scanned and uploaded the documents to EADM's.

Thanks,

I am so sorry I did not see your email. We must have crossed paths. I did a quick stop in the counseling office and then your room.

I figure you were visiting other classrooms for support. I went over to Mr Moreno and Ms Jaureguy.

Once again I am very sorry

Quick question Dr Lara. Did you give the GDCAP?

I can just test them in the 202 office or 203. I can test them at any point during the testing window, right? Like it doesn't need to be on the same day the 11th grade is testing?

You can see below that we have 8, of which only 3 have IEPs. So, we'll just need to think through their accommodations for it.

Michael,
Happy Friday, I hope you are well. Can you help us with determining who will need to take the Science Test in May? Glynis informed me that any 11th grader who didn't take it last year must take it this year as a Senior. I honestly don't remember if we had both juniors and seniors take the test last year or if it was only one grade level.

Team,
Thank you for a productive and open meeting yesterday. As we dicussed, our Jan 16 PD will be mostly on the Disipline Matrix with the remaining the Tardy Sweeps. I think we'll probably need the entire time for Discipline Matrix so that we can have an effective time.

One thing that I hoped we'd have time to talk about yesterday was the evolution of acts that lead to a DRB. We didn't get a chance to discuss disciplinary responses and looking at what does lead to a DRB.

Ok. It was a copy [redacted] had told us needed to be on legal sized paper and so they had not included it in the binder. In my opinion, it's easier to reference on a daily basis.

Dear Julio, Josh, and Sherrie,

Thank you for your partnership in semester one! I enjoy working with each of you, your teachers, your staff, and your students, and I am so grateful to be a part of the Pirate team. Thank you for welcoming me to your campus and letting me support your school's work in literacy and ELD. I appreciate how hard you all work and how thoughtful you are about ELA and your campus as a whole. Your teachers and students are lucky to have you!

I hope you have a wonderful, restful break, and I look forward to continuing our work in the new year. Thank you for all that you do!

All my best,

Hi Team,

Right as the bell was ringing for Advisory, [redacted] were running, chasing, and shoving each other in and out of my classroom door. Someone threw [redacted] sweatshirt in the tree and other students were taking pictures and laughing. All three were late to Advisory but my concern is more that they are endangering themselves and other students by shoving one another and running in and out of the door while students are supposed to be sitting and focusing.

This behavior concerns me especially in light of our new expectations for the Advisory curriculum, the seniors should be setting the bar! I am speaking with the students in my Advisory ([redacted] about it but wanted to flag it as well for others.

Thanks,
Jordan

Good morning ladies!

Let's talk about SEX! Education… please don't report me. ☺

No but in all seriousness a group of our current seniors brought a concern to the SAC meeting last week that they feel that they missed out on Sex education. (not sure how it happened but it's how they feel) so they are asking us if there is a supplemental lesson we can do with them.

I haven't looked into what it would be yet but I was wondering if the three of us could work on this together and try to put something together for them for advisory?

Hey Adriana,

I wanted to touch base about the sex ed discussion we had at SAC. Mr. Stern is going to take lead on following up on this because we had planned on having sex ed taught to the 9th graders through PE. SO Mr. Stern will follow up with Mr. Rodriguez and Tessa Cedar at the home office to make sure we have a plan for that. He's also going to touch bases with you to see if there are supports that you need for your planning purposes.

Thanks!

(also I know this doesn't address this senior class I'm going to talk to Rubin and Ms. Moreno about that now☺)

Also, I will be having Reality Check teach the 10th graders Healthy Relationships and some Sex Ed in the spring. It will likely be more about communication, self image and priorities than anatomy.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Hi Carol,
During our grade level meeting today a concern about English placement came up for two students who happen to be ELs but not placed in the Sheltered English class. These two students are [redacted] and [redacted] This concern was brought up by Madison at the beginning of the school year, especially when noticing their RI level and academic success in other classes the previous year. Reviewing grades from the first semester their sophomore year, we feel it would be beneficial for these two students to be placed in the sheltered English class so they can receive more support. Would this be possible for the current semester?

Hi there, VEN admin team!

On Monday, December 10th, new ELA teachers will be attending their final New Teacher PD for the 2018-19 academic year. The Literacy Team is reaching out to school leaders (admin, ILT, mentors, etc) to write short blurbs to present to our new teachers; these little nuggets of gratitude and affirmation will be compiled and printed out for teachers to read at the end of the day. ☺

Here are a couple of examples from last year:

> Thank you for the dedication, patience, private notes, and song lyrics that you share with our students. Every day, you are changing the odds for our kids and their lives will be better because they were lucky enough to have you as a teacher. We can't wait to see what next year will bring!
> One look at Sydney's classroom will tell you how much care and thought she puts into her work: the beautiful, colorful walls show student progress trackers designed to inspire students to persevere and push toward their goals. It has been inspiring to watch Sydney reflect and grow this year, trying new strategies to get students to stay focused and, more impressively, to do the heavy lifting cognitively. I feel so fortunate to get to see Sydney shine on her year 1 journey and can't wait to see her star rise even higher next year.

We would appreciate if you could fill out this Google Form by EOD, Friday, December 7th.

If you have any further questions, please reach out to Lara and Angie (CC'd on this email).

Steph

Happy Tuesday!

Our Suicide Prevention Committee (Name change to (COST Support Team) met yesterday to discuss next steps for our mandate to meet AB2246 Suicide Prevention via SOS program. Please note that team has made a recommendation not to have a SOS lesson in the spring semester. The team will be focusing on working with school COST teams to gather data and allowing schools to make revisions to the lessons to best fit the needs of teachers and students. We will be sending communication when we return from break for more details.

For all of the early bird planners, the team is recommending SOS lessons to be administered for 6th and 9th grade students with a revised version for grade 11. We will be working with the Ed team management with regards to recommendations for staff and COST PD for the 2019-2020 school year.

One again, thank you to all of you for helping to ensure our students and staff are knowledgeable about suicide prevention. We wish you all a wonderful Holiday Break.

With gratitude on behalf of ,

Greetings everyone,

A special shout out to Animo Venice and Animo Watts for allowing Erika and I to observe their advisory SOS student lessons. The administrator team at Venice were SOS Team Strong by making sure they were in a classroom during the lessons. Watts demonstrated their Team Strong via effective collaboration between COST, teachers, and administration. The advisory teachers observed owned the lessons and delivered it with fidelity. I was able to speak with one of the students at Venice and she stated that while some of her peers may appear to be not interested, it is just their way of reacting to an uncomfortable topic. She stated that this lesson is necessary and glad it is happening. We will be visiting as many school sites during this month to see more of SOS in action. Thank you to all of you who have updated the GD SOS Program Implementation Schedule.

We are now in the weeds of implementation and students are utilizing the referral cards asking for assistance for themselves or their friends. One of our middle schools received 48 referral cards in one day. Other schools have had to change their lesson dates to accommodate for the high referral and high risk cases. Therefore, the committee has made the following recommendations and changes:

1. It is imperative that COST members are on campus ready to assess when the lessons are being administered. They have to be ready to review the referral cards, assess student risk, and intervene for those at high risk.

2. The administrators assigned to support the COST members should ensure that updates and changes are clearly communicated to staff. Assigned administrators and COST members will need to add SOS to their already scheduled COST meeting agenda. If you do not have one already scheduled, then please do so as soon as possible.

3. There is a revised version of the referral cards. You can access them on the SOS School Resources

(Please click on the yellow highlighted link to access it)

Here is the original version:

- ❑ I need to talk to someone …
- ❑ I do not need to talk to someone …

ABOUT A FRIEND OR MYSELF.

NAME (PRINT)_____

COUNSELOR OR ADVISORY TEACHER_____

IF YOU WISH TO SPEAK WITH SOMEONE, YOU WILL BE CONTACTED WITHIN 24 HOURS. IF YOU WISH TO SPEAK WITH SOMEONE SOONER, PLEASE APPROACH STAFF IMMEDIATELY.

Here is the revised version:

- ❑ I need to talk to someone within the next week, but there is no immediate danger.
- ❑ I do not need to talk to someone.

Subject: RE: Signs of Suicide (SOS) implementation Update #2

Greetings everyone,

Let's start with the great news! We have completed all of our SOS staff presentations. A special shout-out goes to administrators and COST members for your collaboration. We are now rolling into our student lesson delivery phase which coincides with September's Suicide Prevention Month. We have created a google doc to list all of the dates when schools will be delivering the lessons. COST members , please make sure to update your dates on the following link GD SOS Program Implementation Schedule. The following is a quick update for your review.

1. All SOS Kits have been delivered to school sites by our various "Team Strong" HO staff.
2. SOS Parent Consent document is now active on Power School. Blackboard scripts and instructions can be found on the SOS School Resources
3. Student lessons can be found at SOS School Resources. We highly recommend setting aside two days to ensure that students have watched the full video, participated in discussion, completed the BSAD survey, and referral cards.

4. Student Videos have Spanish Subtitles, however we recommend having a separate session with students who are newcomers so that translation can be provided.
5. If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to your COST members.

With great gratitude,

Suicide Prevention Committee (Alicia Basurto, Libby Barnish, Erika Viramontes, Zena Roowala, Sally Vo, and Charli Kemp)

Subject: Signs of Suicide (SOS) implementation Update #1

Greetings everyone,

Our AB2246 Suicide Prevention Committee have gathered feedback from schools who have completed their staff presentations. The chart below provides examples of the feedback and next steps. The team strongly recommends all staff to have logged into the SOS Website and watched the Trusted Adults and Student video. Access to this can be found below along with a link to the SOS School Resources. This resource has handouts, Power Point decks, and surveys that can be downloaded. There is also an FAQ at the end of this email for your convenience. Thank you to all of your support and efforts in ensuring that our students are aware and safe. #SOS Team Strong!!

Our Glows	Our Grows	Our Next Steps
• Admin schedules time in PD for the Staff presentations • Staff Presentations are on track to be completed by the end of August • SOS Kits will be arriving to school next week that will include	• Teachers expressed concern about not knowing in advance that they were going to have to deliver SOS lessons to students • COST members	Admin: Ensure that all staff have logged into the SOS Curriculum, watched the staff and student video, and accessed the student lesson. If your staff presentation is coming up, please inform teachers during one of your staff meetings to login and watch the video posters, cards, and stickers to market the ACT slogan • COST members were able to access materials and make revisions as needed • COST demonstrated team strong collaboration • Admin are accessing the resources and reaching out for recommendations	indicating that they ran out of time to deliver the staff presentation • Teachers requesting more signals in the lesson to start and top the video and when to do a pair share vs whole group • Schools asking for how to present SOS to parents • Admin inquiring if there is deck to help students prepare for the lessons	before the arrive for the Staff PD and that they will be required to present a lesson to students. This will allow them to complete the PD in one hour. Otherwise, it is advised to have two hours for the staff presentation. COST: You will receive a an implementation check list with recommendations. Since teachers may have questions about the lessons, it is advised that COST members host "SOS" Information hours during lunch at the staff lounge" and be open to teaching time to review it personally. Print/ Cut Referral Cards and have them organized by advisory folders. SOMS: Collaborate with COST members on Parent Consent Forms and Blackboard calls to parents. Ensure that you have watched the videos and provide copies of consent forms in the main office in case of parent request for a paper version. Look out for the Kits which will be addressed to your admin. Distribute the posters and hang one at the main office along with Newsletters handouts. Parent Coordinators: Parent presentations will be provided on the "SOS Resource" and will include Spanish slides. Connect with COST members on the best date to present to parents Advisory Leads: Ensure that at least two days is available for staff to administer the student lesson and coordinate with COST on best dates.

Frequently Asked Questions:

Q: Where can I find the SOS resources for our school?

A: Click on the following link: SOS School Resources

Q: Where can I find the SOS Videos for staff?

A: Visit http://sossignsofsuicide.org

username: greendot-imp

password: greendot

Q: Where can I find the SOS resources for Parents?

A: You can find the Parent Workshop Presentations can be found on the SOS School Resources link.

The parent SOS Portal can be accessed by Visiting http://sossignsofsuicide.org

username: greendot-par

password: greendot

Q: Why are we doing a Passive Parent Consent via Power School?

A: Passive consent forms have always been utilized for various school wide presentations in paper form. We want to ensure that parents received the information and not rely on students giving them the consent forms. We can send this information via Blackboard which can be sent via phone and email. We have over 90% of parent emails stored in Power School. Passive consent forms also allows us to also track who actually does not want their child to participate instead of sifting through 600 plus documents.

Q: Where can I find the Paper version of the Passive Consent Forms?

A: You can find the Paper versions on the SOS School Resources link. It is recommended that paper versions are printed and made available in the main office.

Q. When should we send the Blackboard calls and what should it say?

A: Send least 1 week prior to administering the student lessons and a script is available on SOS School Resources

Q: What is a BSAD Survey and how will it be administered?

A: BSAD stands for the Brief Screen for Adolescent Depression. This is a survey that will be available for students to take online. It will not have any student names but will have other demographic data. This will allow the COST members to get data on the trends of the school and work towards planning for appropriate resources. The survey can be found at the end of the student lesson. It is advised that Students are sent the Survey via their google emails at the beginning of the advisory period before they receive the lesson. Schools can decide on who would be the best person to send this email.

Q: Why do students have to complete an exit card after they complete the student survey?

A: Since the survey is anonymous, the card allow students to make a self-referral or refer a friend that they think may need additional help. The COST members will be on site collecting these cards and meeting with students to assess their needs for support. This is why the student lessons are being implemented grade level at a time to help lower the number of students so that COST ensure to meet with all students who asked for assistance.

Q: Who are the COST members at my school site?

A: The Coordination of Services Team (COST) consist of school counselors, school psychologist, Clinical Services Supervisors and their interns, and in some schools the Case Managers. You can find school counselors, school psychologist, and Clinical Services Supervisors name and contact on www.connect.greendot.org > Data and Info >School Info> School Information and Contact Sheet

Good Morning Ms. Smith,

Since I was able to make it in for your last unscheduled we can actually do the final meeting for your evaluation. I need a little more time to finish bucketing all of the evidence and then I can share that with you on Sunday evening so that you have a few days to put in your scores before we meet.
Does meeting next Tuesday instead of this Friday work for you?

Let me know,
Thanks!

This printed blurry for us, but I'm sure there are other copies of the text searchable online.

And here is the fill in the blank version we had for 95/5:

Hello there Brian,

We want to use the poem (if I were in charge of the world poem) that you all did at principal 95-5 with our staff on Monday. Do you have a soft copy of the graphic organizer that you can send us?

Thank you!

We do have Sabeena to list who is across interviewed. I suppose Ing Greenblatt school? We had hired Tom Glynis that the email might be a second specialeducation teacher needed at a district event Greenblatt Dot campus perhaps Sabeena can suppose Animo Venice while Jonathan is waiting on his client at location clean and then suppose the second choice once Jonathan is ready to take over?

Please let me know if you'd like to set up an interview with Sabeena

Thank you

Hi Joshua

Thank you for letting us know! We will speak to Jonathan and confirm his availability. The CTC let us know that applications usually take 5 business days for processing so if he sends his application as soon as he completes his license he should be reviewed by the beginning of February so

Please let us know if that timeline would work with you needs

Thank you

We invited our new review with Mr. Tompkins today and we'd like to move on was divided up acing him here at Animo Venice. He'd deep dive his last need to complete his lesson once he gets into Cal or his next week. I'm sure you'll be on top of that with him. Can you tell us what you anticipate as he's a little out of him?

We ettu in Jan 7th and want to make sure that we are set up for the students once we return from Feb break

Thank you again for all you assistance

Susana

I hope you are doing well. We are all set on our end with interview. Speed candidate Jonathan Tompkin | this Thursday at noon at 12:45. Beyond here examine we haven't received her candidates contact information so that she/we'll be available on her phone interview. Glynis reached out to the subcompany and was planning to email today/she has documenting. But since she's out I wanted to see if you could help out. I'd be happy to reach out myself if you could provide her contact info so he point of contact at the subcompany. I'd really appreciate you support with trying his suddenly open position and want to do what we are necessary to set this up

Thank you

Hi team,

And just like that it's December 10! I hope everyone had a great weekend.

Thank you to Ms. Rubin, Mr. Schilp, Ms. Makkar, Ms. Bonsignore, and Mr. Dove for sending me their finals plans ahead of time!

For the rest of our lovely team, I am happy to check in with you during your preps or you can send me your plans today ☺

Subject: SpEd finals and end of semester reminders

Hi team-

I hope Thanksgiving break consisted of tons of turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes, desserts, and leftovers. I want to gently remind you all of a few things as the semester is quickly coming to a close:

- Accommodated finals and keys must be given to me by or before Monday December 10, 8:00 a.m. In order to properly give students extended time on their assessments, the SpEd department needs to have finals a week in advance to give students a chance to start in AS and office hours. If you would like me to accommodate the finals, I ask that you provide the exams for me by December 5.
    - Some quick accommodations may include but are not limited to the following:
        - Multiple choice reduction, sentence starters, graphic organizers, reduced number of problems, math steps listed, formulas given, more blank space on page, other modalities to demonstrate mastery (e.g. orally presenting, video recording, projects in place of an assessment, etc.,), illustrations provided, hints provided,
- Students with IEPs cannot fail your class without prior notice to parents via phone call and/or letter sent home. Just so you know, I check in with parents regarding grades on a monthly basis but it's more meaningful and direct if it comes from you as you can give more information about your specific class and the different options students have to still recover their grade.

- Please log all accommodations for at least all summative assessments in Powerschool.
    - Feel free to log accommodations for formative assessments if you please.
    - Please refrain from naming other students in logs (discipline or accommodations)

Thank you so much for everything that you do! P.S. Does anyone know Mr. Dove's email? haha

Ms. Rubin,
Good morning and Happy New Year. I hope you had a wonderful break. As we are working to fill our 11th grade SPED position, and with you having co-taught with Ms. Quintero, I want to keep you updated on our progress. We are waiting on a permanent Long Term sub to be processed by the sub company. We expect this to happen early February. In the interim, we were able to find Derrick Taylor as the Long Term Sub. We expect to have him through the end of this month.

I've given him Ms. Quintero's schedule which includes 4th period planning and 5th period co-teaching with you. I'm sure you'll work with him to find the best way to serve the students.

Hey Miss,
In looking at the calendar it looks like we can do Wednesday March 6th which is the week before midterms and then Friday May 17.

How do those sound?

Hi Everyone,

Can you please send me the 2 dates for Wednesday SPED PD? Since we are all have a heavier workload this semester, I'd like to get the dates on our calendars as soon as possible. Typically one date is 2 weeks before midterms. The other date is flexible.

Thanks,

Sofia

Hey Sherri,

We were just looking at the calendar and saw that one of the days we were given for PD is a collaboration day. We need a Wednesday PD day, not a collaboration day. Is the PD calendar switched around for this week?

Thanks,

Hi Everyone,

Just wanted to give an update. I backlogged on the following student's that were owed minutes from Lily's 11th grade caseload:

[redacted]	2645
	168
	474
	18

Hi Everyone,

Thanks for the additional info. I am interested in hosting the student teacher, however, I am concerned about turning my AS classes over to a student teacher during such a high stakes semester for the seniors, especially with the various needs in this class. Perhaps she could student teach for Lily's AS class? I would like to work out these logistics before I fully commit.

Thanks,

Sofia

Subject: SPED student teacher info

Ms. Leal,

Below is some information that we have so far about the 2nd semester student teacher. Lisa will be conducting a preliminary phone screen/interview before finalizing placement.

The placement would be from approximately February 7 – June 3, 2019 and I've defined the specifics from GCU below. There would be a $500 stipend for Sofia, paid by GCU.

Special Education Requirements:
The Special Education Program of Study requires a fifteen (15) or sixteen (16) week student teaching capstone (depending on the Teacher Candidate's program of study) as a fulltime mild-moderate placement in grades K-12 with a qualified resource or self-contained Cooperating Teacher.

Placement Dates
Placement dates for each Teacher Candidate may vary depending on the school site's start dates and availability. The placement is contingent upon the Teacher Candidate remaining academically and financially eligible.

The Cooperating Teacher/Mentor will be provided with training material to support this experience.

Student Teaching Roles
The following individuals are in position to support Teacher Candidates during the student teaching experience. A Teacher Candidate will be assigned to either a Cooperating Teacher or a Mentor in addition to a GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC) and GCU Faculty Supervisor.

- Cooperating Teacher: The Cooperating Teacher is the teacher in whose classroom the Teacher Candidate is placed in to complete the student teaching experience. Cooperating Teachers are entitled to a $250 stipend for each 8 week session.

- GCU Faculty Supervisor: Teacher Candidates will be assigned a GCU Supervisor obtained through the Office of Field Experience. The GCU Faculty Supervisor is responsible for completing two (2) collaborative observations and formal evaluations per each 8 week session.*

- GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC): The Teacher Placement Counselor secures placement with the district/school site and communicates with the Teacher Candidate regarding roles and expectations of student teaching.*

- GCU Field Experience Specialist (FES): The Field Experience Specialist is the primary support resource for Cooperating Teachers/Mentors and GCU Faculty Supervisors.*

> A GCU Faculty Supervisor is assigned to work collaboratively with you and your Teacher Candidate throughout the semester. The GCU Faculty Supervisor should contact you by the second week of the placement. If you do not hear from him/her by this time, please reach out to me directly. You can find my contact information within the signature block below.

For your convenience, we have put together a GCU Cooperating Teacher Checklist to assist you in hosting a GCU Teacher Candidate this semester.

GCU Cooperating Teacher Checklist

- ð Complete the GCU Cooperating Teacher Training modules and sign verification form to receive Certificate of Completion.
- ð Provide your additional contact information (alternate email and/or phone number) to Clinical Field Experience Office at coefieldexperience@gcu.edu.
- ð Check out the Professional Learning Network (PLN) where you can connect with other Cooperating Teachers across the country, explore blog posts, find student teaching resources, and "meet" members of our team here in the College of Education.
- ð Every week, please review and initial the Clinical Practice Time Log completed by the Teacher Candidate. Check for accuracy and completeness. At the end of the student teaching placement, sign and date the completed log.

Additionally, the College of Education will be hosting a one-hour GCU Cooperating Teacher Kick-Off Webinar for the Spring 2019 semester. We invite you to attend and learn about important information for the upcoming semester, and to ensure you have all the resources you need to support your Teacher Candidate with a meaningful learning experience.

RSVP: Click Here to join the presentation on Thursday, January 17th at 4:00 P.M. (Arizona Time)

- OR -

RSVP: Click Here to join the presentation on Thursday, February 7th at 4:00 P.M. (Arizona Time)

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about how to join the webinar on the assigned day. We look forward to "seeing" you there!

I would love to speak with you if you have any questions throughout the semester. Feel free to contact me, your Clinical Field Experience Specialist, Joshua Helmer, if you have any questions or concerns during this student teaching experience. Email Joshua.Helmer@gcu.edu or call (602) 513-4737.

Thank you,

Hey there,

In order for Tableau to work, NerdFone says that your roster will activate once grades are inputted for this semester. For whatever reason, that report is activated through the gradebook.

So, for now, we have the report I sent earlier this AM, and we can get a period-by-period breakdown when grades are in. Woo!

Hey Stephanie,

Can you help Nicole and I figure out how to access students RI scores through the RI software? Tablue is super messed up right now. She's hoping she can get a score report by class period.

Also thank you for sending the RI spreadsheet I can't wait to debrief with you on Thursday!

Hi there!

I've attached all of 9th grade scores from the RI software. Unfortunately, I would only be able to pull students by period for Franz's classes because he is in the software. I'll take a stab at Tableau because that should organize the way we want it to. For now, you've got each kiddo's first test score and most recent, listed alphabetically.

See you both soon!

All my best,
Steph

Hello Green Dot Educators,

I'm writing to let you know that you are on our waitlist for Standards Institute this winter. We have your preferences for sessions noted - if a spot becomes available we will go-ahead and register you and you will receive a confirmation email. At this time we are sold out and you would be granted a spot if we have some cancellations.

Thank you - let me know if you have any questions. We're honored you want to attend!

Subject: FW: Standards Institute waitlist

Hello Annette and Tessa,

Do either of you have an update about the math standards institute PD and if our teacher got off the waitlist? Below is an email that Ms. Smith got saying she was waitlisted but we haven't heard anything else.

Thank you for any info!

Hello Green Dot Educators,

I'm writing to let you know that you are on our waitlist for Standards Institute this winter. We have your preferences for sessions noted - if a spot becomes available we will go-ahead and register you and you will receive a confirmation email. At this time we are sold out and you would be granted a spot if we have some cancellations.

Thank you - let me know if you have any questions. We're honored you want to attend!

Hi Everyone, Good morning.

Following up to this weekend's emails. Given that student did not require medical attention for injury you don't need to add police to investigation at this point. However, please have Greego conduct a threat assessment about the video that was posted when possible (perhaps have student come early to DRB).

For now, the case will be category 3 (caused physical injury, use of force). Will look at category 2 (caused serious physical injury; possession of dangerous object—this one is unclear since a pencil is a normal classroom item but was used as a weapon).

Yes, I do think this is substantial enough to look at a recommendation even though it's multiple Cat 3 offenses. I sent Glynis an email this weekend, so she knows we have a case but not the details.

Question on the video… where was it posted? Was it public or sent to an individual or small group?

I can give you a call after 8:30 to coordinate if that is helpful.

Got some input from Keith on this case… one thing that the DRB will need to determine when considering the recommendation is whether this occurred in self-defense.

Good Morning Tarah

Thank you, just a quick question. Is there a report I can ran in Tableu that will show me the list of students?

Also how do you recommend if I want to catch my students who are at for example at a 1.5 GPA and below?

Gracias

With the LAUSD strike possibly starting tomorrow, we want to make sure that you are aware that school will be in session here at Animo Venice. Please do not engage with any of the demonstrators if they are in front of Broadway Elementary. If it becomes necessary we will have alternate entrances, monitored by security, to allow students on campus. If you normally are outside on the sidewalk before campus, Mr. Dickens and the rest of the security detail will be asking you to come onto campus immediately to wait for the bell to ring. After school, we encourage you to wait on campus for your rides to pick you up. If you are going to the bus stop, administration and security will be outside making sure that you are able to get onto the bus without any issue. It is extremely important that all students are in the proper uniform so that we may easily identify everyone on campus. This Friday is not the first, or third, Friday of the month and is therefore NOT a casual dress day.

If you have any questions about this or regarding strike logistics, please let me know. We'll be touching on it at the start of PD today.
Best,
Josh

Good evening,
I wanted to put last night's reminders at the top of your inbox (see below), add a couple of reminders for the rest of the week, and give you some updated information on the strike. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Updated information regarding the strike:

- We did not have any significant activity at our schools today. However, other charter organizations did have strike-related activities in front of their schools.
- UTLA had a press conference at 5:00 pm today and shared that they plan to protest out in front of the California Charter Schools Association (CCSA) offices tomorrow at 10:30.
- Given the protest at CCSA tomorrow, I think we should anticipate an increased focus on protests at charter schools tomorrow and the rest of the week.
- UTLA has announced a plan for strike-related activities for the next 3 to 4 days, so I think we should anticipate the strike lasting through at least Thursday or Friday of this week.

Additional reminders for tomorrow:

- Please have teachers take roll within the first 15 to 20 minutes of the first period of the day.
    - We will be pulling an attendance report in the morning to get a sense for our ADA each day of the strike.
    - Prompt attendance taking will give the school operations team at your school ample time to make calls home to remind parents we are open and to try to get students to school on the same day.

Good evening,
I wanted to send you a few last minute reminders in the event that strike-related activity takes place outside of or near your campus this week. Please let me know if you have any questions.

If entrances are blocked by picketers:

- Schools co-located on an LAUSD facility should contact the LA School Police Officer on their campus to clear the entrance, or call The LA School Police Watch Command number is (213) 625-6631.
- All other schools should call your local LAPD watch commander:

1. L.A.P.D. South East Division (213) 972-7828
2. L.A.P.D. 77th Division (323) 786-5077
3. L.A.P.D. Pacific Division (310) 482-6334
4. L.A.U.S.D Police Dept. (213) 625-6631
5. L.A.P.D. Newton Division (323) 846-6547
6. L.A.P.D. Hollenbeck Division (323) 342-4100

If there is any strike-related activity outside of or near your school:

- Call your Area Superintendent or send a COBRA alert, whichever is easier.

If the media shows up in front of your school:

- Send a COBRA alert or call your Area Superintendent, whichever is easier.
- Do not speak to the media yourself. Ask them to call our Director of Communications, Sean Thibault, at 213-444-8613.

Subject: Strike resources for our call tomorrow
Importance: High

Good evening,
I wanted to share the Potential Strike Resources link with you again so you have it for our call tomorrow. We have updated some of the language in the parent letter and blackboard call script. Steve and Kaleem have also added specific safety and security plans for schools co-located on an LAUSD campus.

Here are the next steps we will discuss on the calls tomorrow morning:
-Parent letters and blackboard messages need to go out next week.

-Blackboard messages should go out again in the morning on the day we come back from break (January 7th).

-Please review the advisory lesson with students prior to leaving for break OR the Monday we return from break.

-Meet with your staff next week to share the safety and security plan with them so they know what the plan is and are prepared to support.

-Meet with your CSOs to share the security plan and get their feedback.

-Work with your OFM and SOM to develop a plan to ensure any absent students' parents/guardians are called each day we get back from break so that we can be sure they are not staying home because they think our teachers are on strike. It is important that our families know our schools are open and focused on learning, even if a UTLA strike occurs.

-The EOC (Emergency Operations Center) at the home office will be activated the Monday we return from break so that we are prepared to support any schools should any strike-related issues unfold. Please contact your Area Superintendent should strike-related issues occur at your site so that the EOC can partner with your school.

We will discuss these next steps and have time for questions on our calls tomorrow morning. If you have not already done so, please accept the invite for either the 7:00 am or 7:30 am call tomorrow. Thank you!

Hey Julio,

I have a conflict of schedules this morning. I am scheduled to be strike support for Animo Venice and I am also supposed to help lead a department meeting at ASLA. Unless you know that you need me this morning, I'm going to start at ASLA's department meeting at 7:30 to lead that and I'll be on call if you need me to head to Venice for sub or any other support. Please let me know if you need anything at all and I will head straight over.

Otherwise I'll be at Venice tomorrow morning for any support needed again.

Feel free to text or call me too 805-705-2804.

All My Best,

Janeé Gerard

Mr.Kannofsky,

Thank you for offering to host a student teacher 2nd semester. Below is some information about expectations:

The placement would run from 1/15/2019 – 5/9/2019 and the stipend (paid by LMU) would be $300.

Specifics

- Master Teacher will receive training and instructions via email. (There may be an in-person training at LMU, but it is not scheduled at this time)
- A stipend of $300.00 will be sent to Green Dot after the placement ends, to distribute to the Master Teacher through our payroll system
- At least one of the Master Teacher's class rosters should have one ELL and one identified special needs student (do not need to be in the same class period)
- The Master Teacher will complete a mid- semester evaluation and an end-of-semester evaluation sent to them by LMU
- Student teachers will have 8 scheduled observations from their LMU University Supervisor during the semester
- Student teachers are required to teach at least 3 periods but not more than 4
- Student teachers are required to be on site during all teacher hours, faculty meetings, Open House, etc.

Mr.Kannofsky,

Thank you for offering to host a student teacher 2nd semester. Below is some information about expectations:

The placement would run from 1/15/2019 – 5/9/2019 and the stipend (paid by LMU) would be $300.

Specifics

- Master Teacher will receive training and instructions via email. (There may be an in-person training at LMU, but it is not scheduled at this time)
- A stipend of $300.00 will be sent to Green Dot after the placement ends, to distribute to the Master Teacher through our payroll system
- At least one of the Master Teacher's class rosters should have one ELL and one identified special needs student (do not need to be in the same class period)
- The Master Teacher will complete a mid- semester evaluation and an end-of-semester evaluation sent to them by LMU
- Student teachers will have 8 scheduled observations from their LMU University Supervisor during the semester
- Student teachers are required to teach at least 3 periods but not more than 4
- Student teachers are required to be on site during all teacher hours, faculty meetings, Open House, etc.

Thank you all so much! I have reached out to my contact at LMU so we can do a preliminary telephone screen with the student, prior to fully committing to the placement. I am waiting to hear back and will let you know once we confirm (or not). (Same goes for the Art placement – I'm also still waiting for his/her contact information.)

Mr. Montenegro,

I think what we can do is come to your class at the end of 4th period on Thursday and hold them for a few minutes since there is a longer 10 minute passing period. We'll just need you to reach out near the end of that class to remind us.

Hi,

I just wanted to check in about a few students who left early today without permission.

[redacted], and a few others (who's names I did not get) made the decision to leave a minute early before the bell rang. As I walked out to try and get them back in the class I also noticed freshmen were in the hall, and I think that it serves as a bad example that they saw seniors leaving and not listening to me, their teacher, call them back into class.

I believe the consequence should be detention for the reason that if they chose to leave early without permission then they should lose some of their free time during lunch or after school. Preferably after school.

Sorry for not filling out the usual Referral Form. I figured emailing was easier since multiple students participated.

Thank you,
Mr.Montenegro

Good Morning Janneth,

As you know, I'm expecting a baby in May and plan to be out starting April 22nd (2 weeks before my due date- March 25th). I have met with admin about best ways to support while I'm out and they are requesting a sub to begin 1-2 weeks before spring break (as I will not be returning after break). This will allow time for the sub to get acquainted with the school, Ms. Moreno, and some of the teachers I have close communication with in preparation for my leave.

I will be submitting my official leave request to HR this week, but wanted to give you the info as soon as possible.

Please let me know if there is anything I/we need to do on our end in the mean time.

Thank you.

Subject: Sub for Cervantes

Good Morning Janneth,

As you know, I'm expecting a baby in May and plan to be out starting April 22nd (2 weeks before my due date- March 25th). I have met with admin about best ways to support while I'm out and they are requesting a sub to begin 1-2 weeks before spring break (as I will not be returning after break). This will allow time for the sub to get acquainted with the school, Ms. Moreno, and some of the teachers I have close communication with in preparation for my leave.

I will be submitting my official leave request to HR this week, but wanted to give you the info as soon as possible.

Please let me know if there is anything I/we need to do on our end in the mean time.

Thank you.

-Jessica Cervantes

Thank you.

Hello Jessica,

Time is flying by and I appreciate the update. We are currently working on getting applicants to bring before your team. I am thinking that we should conduct your interviews mid-February. Could your team provide 2-3 dates that work best for an interview?

subplans.

Please have student volunteer assist with attendance. Remind students chance for 5 extra credit points for all students who are on task and completing work.

Sub — please don't students who are not following AV core values/following your expectations. Please remind students all phones should be a way and student should remain in clsssroom until bell rings quietly working.

Period 5 — if possible can Admin/counselors Check in on this class. Substitute teacher should be informed that no student should be sent out of classroom. If emergency office should be called for security escort. Additionally no cell phone use for all classes. If phones are out substitute should call office for security to remove phone from student.

1. Turn in syllabus page with signatures
2. Packet — when students enter room pick up Steve Jobs packet (blank lines/6 sentence summary — if these run out send student to office)
3. Students complete all activities for 2013 Jobs film TO BE TURNED IN AT END OF PERIOD.

4. If done early students work on work for other classes

Period 6-7

1. Students pick up DNA dystopia packet (more should be on side table. If run out, call office for more copies to be made

2Students work on Steve Jobs packet (if run out or packers please call office + send student to office for more copies (45 mins)

2. Students organize papers with paper clip and complete self reflection for each document. On top of table of contents page/students should assign final score (4 3 2 1) for packet. All students should turn in packet. If incomplete student needs to come to Morning office hours on Thursday from 7-8 am.

3. Last 30 minutes of class should be spent reading "here kitty kitty" article in dna dystopia packet and complete annotations.

When done score annotations 4 3 2 1

Advisory — study hall.

Remind student of school policy — no leaving room for any reason. Office should be called for security escort in event or student needing to leave classroom.

Please provide general feedback on all classes and specific on students who stand out for positive and negative behaviors.

Hey Julio,

Unfortunately, my mother in law, not my mother, is in the process of passing away. My wife just found out last night and this morning.

I arranged for Ms. Tang to take my period 3 and Mr. Castro to take care of my period 4.

I appreciate this.

I will probably be going to Switzerland in the next few days. I will probably combine this with seeing my own mother. I may be out for a while.

This happened over the last few days and was quite unexpected.

Hi Julio—

Per the Prinicipal's Post, I just wanted to make sure that you knew Kevin and I were both interested in teaching both Summer Bridge
And Summer School.

I think we both signed on to teach the same summer school courses as last summer if they are again needed, and we are interested in Meeting the new freshman class and seeing what improvements can be made with establishing our school culture for the upcoming year.

You may have already written us down; I just wanted to be sure ☺

Hi!

I am interested in this but need more info on how it is run/if I am able to use my own curriculum and how flexible the planning time is (can it be done before school vs. after)

Also what the school coordinator position entails

Also I am interested in summber bridge

Good afternoon,

Ms. Tartan, The sub in the math support class room 222, would greatly appreciate your support during any of your conference periods. If you could, just stop by, stand in the back of the room, or walk around for about five minutes, it would increase the presence of more than one adult in the classroom , and she will feel greatly supported.

Her most challenging classes are periods 1 and 7.

Thanks,

Sarah Iraheta Lara, Ed.D.

that would be great!

For Geometry: Ms. Shariff if you could please share you lessons for geometry so that I can get those to the substitute teacher so that geometry students stay on track that would be great.

For Math support: Mr. Castro can you identify 8 to 12 skills that Alg. 1 students need support in that you and I and Cybele and maybe Christina could help develop some short lessons on so that I can support the substitute with rotations between computer and instruction. That would be very helpful.

Thank you all in advance for you supports!

Mr. Castro have you had a chance to think of what support skills would help with your new algebra 1 topics for this semester? I can work on some lessons for this week I just need a little support in topic finding.

Thanks all and Happy New Year!

Subject: Support for SBAC planning on Jan 28th

Hello fabulous CS team,

I am reaching out to see if you would be available on January 28th for all and or a part of the day. We are going to be doing some planning on how to make SBAC real and how we can make a really strong plan.

Please let me know if this is something you might be able to support with.

Hi Tina,

I really appreciate you loping me in so quickly on this. Thank you! I am also including Greego to this email just to keep us all on the same page. If this is the first and only suspension this school year, then next steps are just for admin to hold the re-entry meeting the date of return. If the student is exhibiting any pattern of behavior with physical aggression then we should consider holding an amendment to discuss supports needed. If not, and this is an isolate incident then there is no IEP meeting needed. However, if he is suspended again at all this year then we will need to hold a meeting.

Best,
Glynis

Hello all,

We are watching a documentary in class, and I was in the back near [redacted] when I smelled a skunky, weed-like smell. He looked at me and turned away and blew air into the opposite direction from me. He then got up without my permission and walked over to another student trying to tell him something. He returned to his seat after I asked him to do so several times. I think that he vaped just now based on the smell and his breathing away from me. V is in here and taking [redacted] out of class.

Thanks as always for support,
Franz

Boss, how does this sound for the Tardy sweep text and calls to parents?

Hello parents, next week we will begin tardy sweeps at Animo Venice. In an effort to help all students get to class on time, the classroom doors will be locked when the tardy bell rings. We will collect student names before they are allowed to enter the classroom. You will then receive a phone call notifying you that your child has been late to his or her class. This will happen each period that a student is late to class. We know that you value your child's education and we would like for you to have a conversation with your child about ensuring that they are getting to class on time each period of the day. These phone call will begin Monday, February 4th. Thank you,

Great. I'll get one from her today and share with Kirstin tomorrow.

My says it is very empowering and she would highly recommend for her.

Reached out to Amber and says she doesn't have copies for students to "keep". No worries. I'll buy a copy for her today. Thank you for helping.

[redacted] actually saw me in the hall during passing period and asked to check in with me about her grades and she was proud of herself for already improving in some of her classes. ☺

Date: Tuesday, December 4, 2018 9:10:23 AM

Yes that sounds good. I think the main issue right now is the management of keeping the students on task while at the computers because she does give them computer time most days. I'd love to brainstorm some supports we could give, maybe a competition or award for the class with the highest completion rate, or free dress for any student who passes a certain number of lessons. Also though I think we'd have to look at how to support her with the management.

Hi Julio,

A couple things I would like to discuss:
-the ELL PD (as Laura's email alluded to)
-switching drama back to 7th period

Can we meet at one of these times?
-at the beginning of 4th period tomorrow
-during advisory Wednesday
-during 4th period on Thursday (any time)

I am including Sherrie on the email in case you can't meet with me I could meet with her instead.

Hey ma'am,

Would you be able to stay with us here at Venice from 2:30 to 3:30 tomorrow to work with our new math sub and train her on iReady? Also can you and I look at how to use the software so I can gather data from it when we meet?

Thanks in advance!

Hi all,

FYI, Ms. Gauthier and I called mom. Mom was upset that we got her phone number. She asked how I got it and I told her that "our assistant principal" gave it to me.

Sorry for throwing yall under the bus! I was caught off guard that she was upset and, in the moment, my thought process was either blame you or blame[redacted] SORRY!

Anyway, mom does not want to continue with the assessment. She said she will be coming to school tomorrow morning so we can talk about the IEP, however, did not confirm a time. We will need an admin at this meeting.

Let's stay in contact about this. I am waiting for some guidance from Glynis on how to proceed on the IEP end.

Hey there, TKAM team!

Happy Friday :) I was in the CS 95/5 meeting yesterday when I saw this email, and I had a huge/crazy smile on my face as I read it. I think this is an awesome idea, and certainly something that would be joyful and memorable for students.

It certainly would hit important standards, especially speaking and listening, which usually fall by the wayside. Here are the S&L standards that are supposed to be covered in the unit:

Speaking and Listening:
9-10.1: Initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grades 9-10 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.
9-10.2: Integrate multiple sources of information presented in diverse media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively, orally) evaluating the credibility and accuracy of each source.
9-10.3: Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric, identifying any fallacious reasoning or exaggerated or distorted evidence.

A mock trial would extend student learning about the book and the criminal justice system, too. There are likely many resources we can use to bring this in, but here's are two quick ideas the internet gave me:

Civil Case

This case is brought by Tom Robinson's widow, who has suffered an impairment of reputation and standing in the community in addition to personal humiliation and mental anguish as a result of the publicity of her husband's trial. (Remember, he died a convicted felon.) She is asking for compensation for these losses. The numbers in parenthesis indicate numbers of students.

Criminal Case

This case is brought against Boo Radley for the alleged murder of Bob Ewell. (Unlike in the book, in the present day, we have decided that this case must be tried.)

Prosecutor Team, representing the public (2)
1. District Attorney

One way that this could work as a summative is to have students participate in the mock trial and then do some sort of timed writing afterwards.

Let's add this to our work together on Thursday! Let me know any thoughts/ideas you have in the meantime.

All my best,
Steph

Hey Steph,
I just had my debrief with Franz and we both got really excited about a potential mock trial at the end of the TKAM unit! We were talking about how to have rigorous and JOYFUL learning experiences, those ones you remember when you are old like me. ☺ We wanted to get your thoughts on how we might plan on a mock trial maybe as part of the midterm, would it fit? And does it address the important standards (ELA and ELD) of the unit? Are questions we're hoping you can help us with.

Thanks as always for being awesome!

Good morning Amber and Sofia,

This message is from Josh and I (we're here together making sure we get this right) and while we wanted to respond right away we are also going to come check in in person today.

You are absolutely right that we never should have made jokes about the two of you working together. It was unprofessional and harmful to our relationships with you and with the ILT. We did not mean to make you feel bad in anyway be we understand that that was the outcome.

While we do believe that you two are a "power couple" we did not mean for that to be construed in a negative way. Amber I have told you before how I believe that when you speak people listen and that your voice and opinions have power and Sofia Josh has had conversations with you about the immense impact you have here. And we value you both immensely! We do sometimes separate you at PDs not because we don't think you work well together (you do work well together!) but because we want your voices to impact more people.

Please accept our apology and we hope that through our future actions and words we are able to show you how much you each are valued and respected.

Sofia and I were both disappointed by the comments made today at the ILT meeting. Although they were said in a joking manner, it seemed like there have been conversations by admin about Sofia and I working together. Making statements such as, we have a powerful dynamic, are a clique, are the mean girls, or that we can't sit by each other.

It has never been something that has been brought up to us personally, so to have those things stated at an ILT meeting came as a surprise. Additionally, being put on the spot in this way in front of our peers was demeaning. For all that we both do for the school, this was very disheartening for us. It's hard to assume best intentions when comments are made like that in a large group setting.

Sorry…hit send too fast. Felicia is in similar situ as Allison, except that as soon as her credential posts she's good to go…since her credential is in Math and she's teaching Math. (Allison's cred is in Bio and she's going to be teaching Chem, so she has an additional step/permit involved.)

But again, you can offer Felicia so we can start her processing internally. It should be fairly soon that the CTC posts creds!

We typically as that school allow at least two weeks for internal processing – but it always depends on how quickly the hire moves on their Live Scan and TB, as well as when the Live Scan results come back. In terms of her credential – if she accepts your offer, please ask her to contact USC as soon as possible with regard to how quickly they will be sending her info to the CTC. Again, we can't complete her hire until it actually posts on the CTC site, so you may want to ask her to register with Direct Ed as well (like Allison) as a 30-day sub so she can start with you sooner (if USC won't give her a specific timeline and/or the date is still a few weeks away…)

Subject: Training Allision Lee

Hello Joshua and Julio,

I wanted to give both of you an update about Allision Lee and onboarding her as a new teacher. On 1/8/19 and 1/9/19 I have schedule 4 schools between the two days that we will be visiting and observing in the morning session, then debriefing and planning in the afternoon. I am under the assumption that Allision will transition into the classroom the 2nd week back with co-teaching with the current long term sub, then fully taking over the classroom in the 3rd week. Below I am attaching the schedule for both days, please let me know if there are any issues:

1/8/19: Focus - Classroom Management

- Observe Animo Pat Brown
  - 8:00 am – 9:30 am
- Observe Animo Florence Firestone
  - 10:00 am – 11:30 am
- Break for Lunch
  - 11:30 am – 12:30 pm
- Strong Start New Teacher Training (Locke)
  - 12:30 pm – 3:30 pm

1/9/19: Focus – Chemistry Planning/Lesson Design

- Observe Animo Leadership
  - 8:00 am – 9:30 am
- Observe Animo Inglewood

    - 10:00 am – 11:30 am
- Break for Lunch
    - 11:30 am – 12:30 pm
- Unit Planning Chemistry (Animo Venice)
    - 12:30 pm – 3:30 pm

The goal is that by the end of these 2 days, Allison will have role-played and practiced classroom management/structures with me to begin 5E lesson planning. I will of course add her to my new teacher caseload and make coaching her a priority, seeing her in the beginning 3 – 4 times a month. Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Sincerely,

Just to clarify…you "qualify" for a permit now in Social Science and would "qualify" for one in Chemistry once you pass the CSET. You are not automatically permitted – there is an application process and fee to the CTC – as well as time for them to process the application.

Thank you and all for still pushing to help make this situation work out to my and our mutual benefit. I am currently enrolled in my credential/MAE program for Chemistry. I am still trying to lock-in an exact CSET date but I anticipate mid-January 2019. Great news that I will then be permitted for both subjects, anything other movement that can be created given these facts?

Please let me know of any further information that I can provide.

Hi all!

First, thank you Damien, for sending these over. I ran your transcripts by our Credentials Specialist and the only content area for which you have enough units to qualify for a permit, is Social Science. Please remind me what single-subject credential you are working on at Alliant and when you plan to take the CSET? Once you pass that CSET you will also qualify for a permit in that content area.

Hi all!

First, thank you Damien, for sending these over. I ran your transcripts by our Credentials Specialist and the only content area for which you have enough units to qualify for a permit, is Social Science. Please remind me what single-subject credential you are working on at Alliant and when you plan to take the CSET? Once you pass that CSET you will also qualify for a permit in that content area.

Greetings Lisa,

Thank you and all for still pushing to help make this situation work out to my and our mutual benefit. I am currently enrolled in my credential/MAE program for Chemistry. I am still trying to lock-in an exact CSET date but I anticipate mid-January 2019. Great news that I will then be permitted for both subjects, anything other movement that can be created given these facts?

Please let me know of any further information that I can provide.

Always best,
Damien

Schedules are completed. Just a reminder, the 9th grade student [redacted] needs to take SRI to determine placement. She is missing a 7th period, can she start taking test now so we can make sure to take care of missing period?

Jess:

FYI-Some of your 11th grade classes are now at 34, when I created schedule there was space for student.

Subject: Twins' passes

Hi team,

Today during my 4th period AS class [redacted] knocked on the door and wanted to hang out because, according to him, he was kicked out of Mr. Torres' class and had nowhere to go. If [redacted] is in need of a break, please make him use one of his passes. Also, let him know that rooms 202 and 203 are not to be used for breaks as this interrupts instruction and the testing environment for those with accommodations. I called down to the main office to let them know that [redacted] should be expected there as he was not allowed in to his Spanish class and I did not want him floating around outside with nowhere to go for the remainder of the period.

Also during my 4th period AS class, I gave [redacted] permission to take a computer assessment in room 202 because he said he needed to use headphones. The assessment was completed quickly but [redacted] wanted to stay in 202 and did so until I picked up the phone to call the office for support. In the future, the twins both have their own headphones and should bring them with, like all other students, if they want to use headphones. The headphones in 202 are for use in our classroom.

Honestly, I think the twins are looking for reasons to come visit me. With Lily gone now I see them MUCH more often seeking attention. I am totally willing to be that person they come to when they need something but during my 4th period, this is a time I need to focus on my AS class, while providing the class with an environment with as few distractions as possible.

I am reaching out to all of you for your support for myself and the twins. Thank you!

Hello,

The team found that [redacted] had an IEP due this week, which we are taking care of. However, for the remainder of the 11th grade IEPs, many of which are due within the upcoming months, we are not clear on a plan. Who is responsible for writing and holding these IEPs? We were told that the new 11th grade RST would be able to do this, but there is no clear start date.

Thanks so much!

Hey Sofia,

The expectation was that Lilly was going to have his IEP written prior to leaving. I am sorry to hear that this did not occur. I can write up the rest of the IEP if the PLOPs are in there for me to go off of. Just let me know, and I can take care of this part!

However, I am unable to attend on Thursday to facilitate this meeting due to Oversight at another school. If the strike postpones the Oversight then I can make it, but as of now it is still scheduled for Thursday. If you can facilitate that would be fantastic.

Hello Math Teachers and Leaders,

Thank you to everyone that has been reaching out, asking questions, and working with us to trouble-shoot and address any issues that come up in our first round of IAB administration!

Last week , I sent you an email about accessing data and how a separate account is required to do so. After sending that, we realized that in addition to creating accounts, all teachers and administrators had to be linked to specific groups to be able to access the data. Thank you to KM for spending the last week on the phone with CAASPP and figuring out how to get all of that done!

At this point, all teachers and administrators should have access to the data through the CAASPP reporting system. If you signed in earlier last week or this week and saw an error alert or were unable to see any available tests, those errors should be fixed now and you should be able to access the data via the instructions in the email below. We'll provide more specific analysis resources and comparison data in early January to support your Q2 Data Day.

Please feel free to continue reaching out to myself, your Math Curriculum Specialist, and NerdFone if you encounter issues administering the assessment or accessing the data.

Thank You,

Subject: Upcoming IAB Administration Updates + Accessing Data!

Good Afternoon Math Teachers + Administrators,

I wanted to email you today to share some updates on IAB testing as well as information on how to access data.

Several schools have tested some of their classes already. While some classes have been able to finish within a class period (at the MS level) or block period (at the HS level), a few classes have needed more time. Therefore, we recommend planning for a second day of testing that can be used if needed just in case.

Remember that students will need their login information printed out for them. You will need support from office staff or admin to run the logins report from PowerSchool. Directions are included here:

- How to Print Student Login Cards_Class Roster.pdf
- How to Print Student Login Cards_All Students.pdf

Here are some supporting resources to help you understand how to plan for and administer your IAB.

- Interim Assessment Viewing System One Pager – This shows you how to login and preview the IAB you will be administering to your students.
- IAB Implementation Guide – This shows you how to access the TOMs system and administer the test to students.
- IAB Intro for Students – This is a presentation with some messaging and instructions for students on taking IABs.

Accessing the data from the assessment requires a separate login than the one used to administer the assessment (thanks, State of California ☺). You should have received an additional email you can use to set-up the SBAC Reporting System website. If you can't find the email, you can try to follow the Forgot Your Password link on the site. The system will allow you to access data for your students by test and to explore the data by student scale scores or specific item. We've put together a presentation on Accessing IAB Data that should guide you through the process.

Please reach out to me or your Math Curriculum Specialist with any questions.

Thanks,

Subject: Upcoming IAB Administration

Good Evening Math Teachers,

I'd like to share some updates and information with you regarding our upcoming round of IAB testing. By now, you should have received an email with your CAASPP login information that gives you access to the Interim Assessment platform.

As a reminder, the IABs are Interim Assessment Blocks created by SBAC. We will be administering them in place of our Q2 GDCAPs this year.

- They are relatively short (10-16 question) assessments focused on a particular content strand of 6th, 7th, or 8th grade or HS math standards. The assessments are composed of questions written for the SBAC and we've chosen IABs similar to the CAT (computer adaptive) portion of the test. They are given in the same TOMs platform where the SBAC will be administered.
- The assessment is not summative of all standard covered so far but it is appropriate to be given as a final or a portion of a final if other summative assessments have been administered throughout the semester.
- These assessments will provide student exposure to the type of test they will take with SBAC at the end of the year. While the assessments are as content-aligned as possible, there may be a few unfamiliar items for students. This is what will happen on SBAC, so it's a good opportunity to apply some of their sense-making skills.
- The assessments will also provide us a snapshot of student progress towards SBAC on some of the standards covered so far this year and allow us to analyze item-level data in a way that we do not get to do with SBAC.

Here are some supporting resources to help you understand how to plan for and administer your IAB.

- Interim Assessment Viewing System One Pager – This shows you how to login and preview the IAB you will be administering to your students.
- IAB Implementation Guide – This shows you how to access the TOMs system and administer the test to students.

- IAB Intro for Students – This is a presentation with some messaging and instructions for students on taking IABs.

Hi!

According to your HR tracker, we still do not have Live Scan or TB test results, and she is not yet cleared from a credentials standpoint either.

She did sign her offer letter on 1/10, so not sure if she hasn't done her Live Scan yet, or if the results just aren't in yet (there was some delay in receiving FBI results during the govt shutdown). But, she has not sent in TB. I'm looping in HR in case they have addtl information, and Carol for more detail on where she is credential-wise.

HI there,

So I would like to put in an order for some subway for Monday through Thursday of next week.

I am thinking two sandwhich platters one cookie platter and two capri sun orders for each day.

How does this sound to everyone?

Sharon,

Good morning and thank you for getting back to me. Thank you for the information, I have provided a breakdown of the platters below. I think that if we can place the order by Thursday December 6th, that will give enough time to provide an initial order and make any last minute adjustments by Friday December 7th.

Classic Combo Platter: $39.99, 15 portions per platter, feed 5-9 people.
Featuring the Cold Cut Combo, Black Forest Ham, Turkey Breast, Tuna and Italian B.M.T

Cookie platter: $18.99, 36 cookies in the platter (chocolate chip, oatmeal, white chip macadamia nut)
Caprisun Juice pouches: $6.99, 30 count fruit punch

The total comes up to $185.94 not counting tax and delivery.

Hi Edison!
I was thinking subway because I think it's a little healthier for the kiddos. I was thinking sandwich platters because it feels more cost effective then the lunch boxes. I haven't done much looking into it but right now I'm thinking that two of those sandwich platters would be plenty. I was thinking of getting some cookies and drinks though so I don't know how the costs would work out. I'm hoping for anywhere from 20 to 50 but I'm going to try and get sign ups.

I guess the real question is how much lead time do you need in order to place orders? The dates are Dec. 10th – 13th

Sherrie,

Good morning! I would love to help you get food orders in. Can you please let me know what dates you had in mind and the amount of food you will need? If you are looking for subway sandwiches, we have ordered lunch boxes in the past or party platters.

Lunch boxes come with everything you need at about $7.00 per student. The boxes come with a 6-inch sub, chips, cookie and a bottle of water.

We could also do pizza which would be most cost effective if you are trying to feed a larger crowd. Looking forward to hearing from you so I can place your order.

Best,

Hi Sherrie,

Sounds like a great idea. Edison can help you out with your orders. Can you please just make sure students sign in so we can capture the attendance?

Awesome! Yes I want to do some grade level study café nights in the second week of December as study nights for finals week. We are thinking of doing real food like subway sandwiches and maybe ome cookies. I'm not sure the exact dates yet but is something like that something you can order?

Hey David,
Am I allowed to use my portion of the grant to buy food? Like pizza for a movie night or boxes of popcorn or snacks to have around for different events?

Thanks!

Subject:	RE: UTLA strike Day 2 - new information and reminders for tomorrow
Date:	Tuesday, January 15, 2019 8:23:35 PM
Importance:	High

Good evening,

Thank you all for the work you did today to ensure a focus on teaching and learning at your schools. See below for new information regarding the strike and reminders for tomorrow. Let me know if you have any questions.

Updated information regarding the strike:

- We did not have any significant activity at our schools today. We did have about 25 protestors show up in front of Ánimo Florence Firestone for about 20 minutes holding signs and chanting, "No more charters!"
- UTLA held a rally in front of the California Charter Schools Association (CCSA) offices today at 10:30, and emphasized their desire for a charter cap/moratorium.
- UTLA also held a press conference in front of Accelerated Schools, a group of schools unionized by UTLA who also went on strike today. They are the first charter in California to do so.
- Our understanding is that UTLA has told teachers to focus on protests at school sites tomorrow and Thursday, so we could have more activity in the next couple of days than we have had so far.
- Some parents from other charter organizations have received phone calls with a false message that their school is closed tomorrow. Please let your area superintendent if any parents at your school say they have received similar messages.

Additional reminders for tomorrow:

- Please have teachers take roll within the first 15 to 20 minutes of the first period of the day.
  - We will be pulling an attendance report in the morning to get a sense for our ADA each day of the strike.
  - Prompt attendance taking will give the school operations team at your school ample time to make calls home to remind parents we are open and to try to get students to school on the same day.
  - Our average attendance today was at 86%, a drop from our normal 95% ADA. Please be diligent about calling families to make sure students come to school.

Date:	Wednesday, January 16, 2019 9:08:44 PM

Good evening,
Thank you all for your continued focus on students! See below for new information regarding the strike and reminders for tomorrow. Let me know if you have any questions.

Updated information regarding the strike:

- We did not have any significant activity at our schools today. We did have protestors show up in front of Ánimo Florence Firestone once again for a short period of time.
- In a morning press conference, UTLA President Alex Caputo-Pearl noted that UTLA wants to reach, "a local agreement with LAUSD," and that they would continue working with the Mayor to get back to the negotiating table. UTLA announced that they would update members with information on when negotiations would resume. The California Charter Schools Association believes this means that UTLA is angling for an LAUSD Board resolution to regulate existing charters or ban new ones.
- Also at that press conference, City Councilmember Paul Koretz announced that he supports a charter moratorium.
- At a press conference on Monday, the Mayor stated he was also in favor of a charter moratorium.
- The California Charter Schools Association had an uptick in calls reporting protests that blocked entrances and picketers shouting explicitly anti-charter rhetoric today.

Additional reminders for tomorrow:

- Please have teachers take roll within the first 15 to 20 minutes of the first period of the day.
    - We will be pulling an attendance report in the morning to get a sense for our ADA each day of the strike.
    - Prompt attendance taking will give the school operations team at your school ample time to make calls home to remind parents we are open and to try to get students to school on the same day.
    - Our average attendance today remained at 86%, a drop from our normal 95% ADA. Please be diligent about calling families to make sure students come to school.

Good Morning Tea

One more question. If we bring the other person in for an interview and we happen to like him. When is he able to start? Can it be faster than Ms. Lee?

My understanding about Ms. Lee is that she is being delay in staring or being eligible to start because of her life scan that she has no control of it. She has successfully passed the CSET in order to do chem. So I just want to make sure we also do not do her wrong.

Gracias

JM

Allison has a conditional offer of employment right now so yes this can be rescinded since the stipulations of employment still have not been fulfilled (as of today we've only received her signed conditional offer and her transcript).

Hi!

I'm going to loop in Ellen and Victoria since I don't really know the answer.

Background: VEN had to hire someone as teacher-of-record for their open Chem position, even though they really just wanted her as a long-term sub. Because she needed a STSP we couldn't put her through an agency. But, they still want to see other candidates. I sent them a strong one yesterday, and since Allison has not yet been able to start…what is their legal standing with her. Can they rescind the teacher-of-record offer?

To make it even more convoluted…since it has taken so long to get her actually hired, it looks like she may not need the STSP after all, since she recently passed the Chem CSET. If USC recommends her for a prelim cred in both Bio and Chem, then I think she can go register with a sub agency and stay in the classroom indefinitely through them, since she will actually have a credential in Chem!

Hi!

Although Allison Lee will be teacher-of-record when she is clear to start, I know you were still interested in seeing other potential candidates, since technically Allison is considered a temporary employee given she started after the beginning of the school year.

Attached is the resume of Olumuyiwa Adewumi. He has been subbing since coming to the U.S. in 2015, while working on his credential. He has passed all 3 Chem CSETs, is aligned to Green Dot's mission and is able to clearly articulate his professional goals. His application and resume are attached, as well as the link to his strong video interview. He does have a 30-day sub permit, and would wither qualify for a short-term staff permit or be intern-eligible through his program at LACOE.

We have NOT yet sent him the lesson assignment as I wanted to be sure you do still want to demo/interview other candidates. Please confirm that with me, prior to reaching out to him to schedule – so I can get his started on his lesson plan.

Hi All,
Allison has a conditional offer of employment right now so yes this can be rescinded since the stipulations of employment still have not been fulfilled (as of today we've only received her signed conditional offer and her transcript).

I'm just wondering if something like this (rescinding a conditional offer) has happened before – I'll let Ellen chime in on that piece.
Thanks,

Hi!

I'm going to loop in Ellen and Victoria since I don't really know the answer.

Background: VEN had to hire someone as teacher-of-record for their open Chem position, even though they really just wanted her as a long-term sub. Because she needed a STSP we couldn't put her through an agency. But, they still want to see other candidates. I sent them a strong one yesterday, and since Allison has not yet been able to start…what is their legal standing with her. Can they rescind the teacher-of-record offer?

To make it even more convoluted…since it has taken so long to get her actually hired, it looks like she may not need the STSP after all, since she recently passed the Chem CSET. If USC recommends her for a prelim cred in both Bio and Chem, then I think she can go register with a sub agency and stay in the classroom indefinitely through them, since she will actually have a credential in Chem!

Lisa,
We're talking about this and wondering if it's appropriate to have this candidate come in since we've offered her a position and she's accepted. Even though she doesn't have union protections, is there any legal restriction should we decided to rescind the offer to Allison?

Hi!

Although Allison Lee will be teacher-of-record when she is clear to start, I know you were still interested in seeing other potential candidates, since technically Allison is considered a temporary employee given she started after the beginning of the school year.

Attached is the resume of Olumuyiwa Adewumi. He has been subbing since coming to the U.S. in 2015, while working on his credential. He has passed all 3 Chem CSETs, is aligned to Green Dot's mission and is able to clearly articulate his professional goals. His application and resume are attached, as well as the link to his strong video interview. He does have a 30-day sub permit, and would wither qualify for a short-term staff permit or be intern-eligible through his program at LACOE.

We have NOT yet sent him the lesson assignment as I wanted to be sure you do still want to demo/interview other candidates. Please confirm that with me, prior to reaching out to him to schedule – so I can get his started on his lesson plan.

Hey all, Lisa and I spoke Wednesday evening. I was out sick yesterday and didn't get a chance to fill you all in on our conversation. Lisa was waiting for me to send this e-mail.

Lisa was under the impression that we wanted to see candidates for the Chemistry position for this semester. We wanted to know if we could still get candidates for 2019-20 school year and were concerned that wouldn't happen because of Ms. Lee filling the current position. She thought that we were asking for candidates interested in this semester. This is where the miscommunication all started. We don't need to move forward with this candidate and will wait until hiring season starts again to look at any potential hires for next school year.

Thank you, and apologies for the miscommunication.

Good Morning Tea

One more question. If we bring the other person in for an interview and we happen to like him. When is he able to start? Can it be faster than Ms. Lee?

My understanding about Ms. Lee is that she is being delay in staring or being eligible to start because of her life scan that she has no control of it. She has successfully passed the CSET in order to do chem. So I just want to make sure we also do not do her wrong.

Gracias

JM

Hi!

Although Allison Lee will be teacher-of-record when she is clear to start, I know you were still interested in seeing other potential candidates, since technically Allison is considered a temporary employee given she started after the beginning of the school year.

Attached is the resume of Olumuyiwa Adewumi. He has been subbing since coming to the U.S. in 2015, while working on his credential. He has passed all 3 Chem CSETs, is aligned to Green Dot's mission and is able to clearly articulate his professional goals. His application and resume are attached, as well as the link to his strong video interview. He does have a 30-day sub permit, and would wither qualify for a short-term staff permit or be intern-eligible through his program at LACOE.

We have NOT yet sent him the lesson assignment as I wanted to be sure you do still want to demo/interview other candidates. Please confirm that with me, prior to reaching out to him to schedule – so I can get his started on his lesson plan.

Hey all, Lisa and I spoke Wednesday evening. I was out sick yesterday and didn't get a chance to fill you all in on our conversation. Lisa was waiting for me to send this e-mail.

Lisa was under the impression that we wanted to see candidates for the Chemistry position for this semester. We wanted to know if we could still get candidates for 2019-20 school year and were concerned that wouldn't happen because of Ms. Lee filling the current position. She thought that we were asking for candidates interested in this semester. This is where the miscommunication all started. We don't need to move forward with this candidate and will wait until hiring season starts again to look at any potential hires for next school year.

Thank you, and apologies for the miscommunication.

Good Morning Tea

One more question. If we bring the other person in for an interview and we happen to like him. When is he able to start? Can it be faster than Ms. Lee?

My understanding about Ms. Lee is that she is being delay in staring or being eligible to start because of her life scan that she has no control of it. She has successfully passed the CSET in order to do chem. So I just want to make sure we also do not do her wrong.

Gracias

Hi All,
Allison has a conditional offer of employment right now so yes this can be rescinded since the stipulations of employment still have not been fulfilled (as of today we've only received her signed conditional offer and her transcript).

I'm just wondering if something like this (rescinding a conditional offer) has happened before – I'll let Ellen chime in on that piece.

Hi!

I'm going to loop in Ellen and Victoria since I don't really know the answer.

Background: VEN had to hire someone as teacher-of-record for their open Chem position, even though they really just wanted her as a long-term sub. Because she needed a STSP we couldn't put her through an agency. But, they still want to see other candidates. I sent them a strong one yesterday, and since Allison has not yet been able to start…what is their legal standing with her. Can they rescind the teacher-of-record offer?

To make it even more convoluted…since it has taken so long to get her actually hired, it looks like she may not need the STSP after all, since she recently passed the Chem CSET. If USC recommends her for a prelim cred in both Bio and Chem, then I think she can go register with a sub agency and stay in the classroom indefinitely through them, since she will actually have a credential in Chem!

Hi All,
Allison has a conditional offer of employment right now so yes this can be rescinded since the stipulations of employment still have not been fulfilled (as of today we've only received her signed conditional offer and her transcript).

I'm just wondering if something like this (rescinding a conditional offer) has happened before – I'll let Ellen chime in on that piece.
Thanks,

Hi!

I'm going to loop in Ellen and Victoria since I don't really know the answer.

Background: VEN had to hire someone as teacher-of-record for their open Chem position, even though they really just wanted her as a long-term sub. Because she needed a STSP we couldn't put her through an agency. But, they still want to see other candidates. I sent them a strong one yesterday, and since Allison has not yet been able to start…what is their legal standing with her. Can they rescind the teacher-of-record offer?

To make it even more convoluted…since it has taken so long to get her actually hired, it looks like she may not need the STSP after all, since she recently passed the Chem CSET. If USC recommends her for a prelim cred in both Bio and Chem, then I think she can go register with a sub agency and stay in the classroom indefinitely through them, since she will actually have a credential in Chem!

Hi!

Although Allison Lee will be teacher-of-record when she is clear to start, I know you were still interested in seeing other potential candidates, since technically Allison is considered a temporary employee given she started after the beginning of the school year.

Attached is the resume of Olumuyiwa Adewumi. He has been subbing since coming to the U.S. in 2015, while working on his credential. He has passed all 3 Chem CSETs, is aligned to Green Dot's mission and is able to clearly articulate his professional goals. His application and resume are attached, as well as the link to his strong video interview. He does have a 30-day sub permit, and would wither qualify for a short-term staff permit or be intern-eligible through his program at LACOE.

We have NOT yet sent him the lesson assignment as I wanted to be sure you do still want to demo/interview other candidates. Please confirm that with me, prior to reaching out to him to schedule – so I can get his started on his lesson plan.

He does have a 30-day sub permit, and would wither qualify for a short-term staff permit or be intern-eligible through his program at LACOE.

We have NOT yet sent him the lesson assignment as I wanted to be sure you do still want to demo/interview other candidates. Please confirm that with me, prior to reaching out to him to schedule – so I can get his started on his lesson plan.

Hi all!

Attached please find GCU's handbook on student teaching. I also checked, and it's fine if the student teacher only takes over 4 of Ms. Leal's 6 classes (meaning not the two AS classes), as long as she can observe the other 2. Please let me know if you are good to go with this placement, so we can do our preliminary phone screen of the student teacher before fully committing. Thank you!

Hi all, and thank you! I just reached out to my contact at GCU to see if they have any sort of guidebook for student teaching that would provide more details. This is the student's last phase of the program, so at some point she would need to actually be teaching – not just observing. Will let you know as soon as I hear back from them.

Subject: VEN - GCU SpEd Student Teacher Placement Request

Hi!

I am working with the Placement Coordinator at Grand Canyon University – and we'd like to place a SpEd student teacher at VEN next semester. Based on input from the Area Superintendents and the SpEd team, as well as evaluation data, we'd like to place her with Sofia Leal, with your approval and Sofia's agreement:

The placement would be from approximately February 7 – June 3, 2019 and I've defined the specifics from GCU below. There would be a $500 stipend for Sofia, paid by GCU.

Please note: we will be conducting a preliminary telephone interview/screen with all prospective student teachers before finalizing the acceptance of any placement. However, I don't want to ask that of the student, unless/until I have a mentor lined up.

Thank you in advance, and please let me know if you have any questions. We're hoping to lock this down by EOD Monday, 12/17.

Special Education Requirements:
The Special Education Program of Study requires a fifteen (15) or sixteen (16) week student teaching capstone (depending on the Teacher Candidate's program of study) as a fulltime mild-moderate placement in grades K-12 with a qualified resource or self-contained Cooperating Teacher.

Cooperating Teacher/Mentor Qualifications:

- A valid current professional license with proper endorsement for the teaching assignment
- Master's degree or exceptional experience
- A minimum of three years teaching experience
- Full recommendation of the building principal to serve as a Cooperating Teacher
- Desire and ability to work cooperatively with Teacher Candidates

Placement Dates
Placement dates for each Teacher Candidate may vary depending on the school site's start dates and availability. The placement is contingent upon the Teacher Candidate remaining academically and financially eligible.

The Cooperating Teacher/Mentor will be provided with training material to support this experience.

Student Teaching Roles
The following individuals are in position to support Teacher Candidates during the student teaching experience. A Teacher Candidate will be assigned to either a Cooperating Teacher or a Mentor in addition to a GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC) and GCU Faculty Supervisor.

- Cooperating Teacher: The Cooperating Teacher is the teacher in whose classroom the Teacher Candidate is placed in to complete the student teaching experience. Cooperating Teachers are entitled to a $250 stipend for each 8 week session.

- GCU Faculty Supervisor*: Teacher Candidates will be assigned a GCU Supervisor obtained through the Office of Field Experience. The GCU Faculty Supervisor is responsible for completing two (2) collaborative observations and formal evaluations per each 8 week session.*

- GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC): The Teacher Placement Counselor secures placement with the district/school site and communicates with the Teacher Candidate regarding roles and expectations of student teaching.

- GCU Field Experience Specialist (FES): The Field Experience Specialist is the primary support resource for Cooperating Teachers/Mentors and GCU Faculty Supervisors.

Lisa,
Ms. Leal only has 2 classes. Sorry for the confusion. SPED teachers teach Academic Success. But don't carry a regular 6 class load because they are pushing in providing services to students, co-planning and/or co-teaching in a class.
We might have to revisit this.

Hi again!

I heard back from Grand Canyon Univ and this placement works fine. They are looking primarily for push-in, pull-out RSP work for this student teacher. We will try to conduct the phone interview with her today or tomorrow so we can confirm the placement. Thank you again!

Hi all!

Attached please find GCU's handbook on student teaching. I also checked, and it's fine if the student teacher only takes over 4 of Ms. Leal's 6 classes (meaning not the two AS classes), as long as she can observe the other 2. Please let me know if you are good to go with this placement, so we can do our preliminary phone screen of the student teacher before fully committing. Thank you!

Subject: VEN - GCU SpEd Student Teacher Placement Request

Hi!

I am working with the Placement Coordinator at Grand Canyon University – and we'd like to place a SpEd student teacher at VEN next semester. Based on input from the Area Superintendents and the SpEd team, as well as evaluation data, we'd like to place her with Sofia Leal, with your approval and Sofia's agreement:

The placement would be from approximately February 7 – June 3, 2019 and I've defined the specifics from GCU below. There would be a $500 stipend for Sofia, paid by GCU.

Please note: we will be conducting a preliminary telephone interview/screen with all prospective student teachers before finalizing the acceptance of any placement. However, I don't want to ask that of the student, unless/until I have a mentor lined up.

Thank you in advance, and please let me know if you have any questions. We're hoping to lock this down by EOD Monday, 12/17.

Special Education Requirements:
The Special Education Program of Study requires a fifteen (15) or sixteen (16) week student teaching capstone (depending on the Teacher Candidate's program of study) as a fulltime mild-moderate placement in grades K-12 with a qualified resource or self-contained Cooperating Teacher.

Cooperating Teacher/Mentor Qualifications:

- A valid current professional license with proper endorsement for the teaching assignment
- Master's degree or exceptional experience
- A minimum of three years teaching experience
- Full recommendation of the building principal to serve as a Cooperating Teacher
- Desire and ability to work cooperatively with Teacher Candidates

Placement Dates
Placement dates for each Teacher Candidate may vary depending on the school site's start dates and availability. The placement is contingent upon the Teacher Candidate remaining academically and financially eligible.

The Cooperating Teacher/Mentor will be provided with training material to support this experience.

Student Teaching Roles
The following individuals are in position to support Teacher Candidates during the student teaching experience. A Teacher Candidate will be assigned to either a Cooperating Teacher or a Mentor in addition to a GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC) and GCU Faculty Supervisor.

- Cooperating Teacher: The Cooperating Teacher is the teacher in whose classroom the Teacher Candidate is placed in to complete the student teaching experience. Cooperating Teachers are entitled to a $250 stipend for each 8 week session.

- GCU Faculty Supervisor: Teacher Candidates will be assigned a GCU Supervisor obtained through the Office of Field Experience. The GCU Faculty Supervisor is responsible for completing two (2) collaborative observations and formal evaluations per each 8 week session.*

- GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC): The Teacher Placement Counselor secures placement with the district/school site and communicates with the Teacher Candidate regarding roles and expectations of student teaching.*

- GCU Field Experience Specialist (FES): The Field Experience Specialist is the primary support resource for Cooperating Teachers/Mentors and GCU Faculty Supervisors.*

Hi!

Attached is the resume of another potential Math candidate for your opening, who is actually a referral from Kristy Koenes . Sheila Soleau has a Clear Single-Subject credential in Frenchm with a supplementary Math authorization. This means she can teach 9th grade and below for Pre-Algebra, Algebra I, and Integrated Math. If your needs do not fall into these parameters, she can still be eligible for hire on a Limited Assignment Permit. Evidentially, she recently passed the Math CSETs I and II as she is hoping to obtain a Foundational Math credential anyway. The other caveat here is that Ms. Soleau lives in Huntington Beach and does NOT plan to relocate. She says she can make the commute, but that does give me pause.
~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

We have not yet sent her the lesson assignment, so please let me know if you plan to reach out and when. Once I hear from you, we can send the assignment if you're interested. Attached is her application and resume, and below is her video interview link and synopsis.

https://greendot.hiringplatform.com/profile/1545061244/1553742-sheila-soleau
Glows: Passionate about teaching math, mentions experiential/discovery-based learning. Takes ownership over student learning. Experienced teacher who left the classroom after having kids, ready to go back – has been a sub in the meantime.
Grows: does not seem to have understanding of struggles and differences of LIC, though believes that all students can learn at high levels. Prefers middle school or lower level HS, West LA. Note: lives in Huntington Beach, is aware of the commute and still said she would like to be considered for VEN.

Glows: Passionate about teaching math, mentions experiential/discovery-based learning. Takes ownership over student learning. Experienced teacher who left the classroom after having kids, ready to go back – has been a sub in the meantime.
Grows: does not seem to have understanding of struggles and differences of LIC, though believes that all students can learn at high levels. Prefers middle school or lower level HS, West LA. Note: lives in Huntington Beach, is aware of the commute and still said she would like to be considered for VEN.

Hi!

Attached is the resume of another potential Math candidate for your opening, who is actually a referral from Kristy Koenes . Sheila Soleau has a Clear Single-Subject credential in Frenchm with a supplementary Math authorization. This means she can teach 9th grade and below for Pre-Algebra, Algebra I, and Integrated Math. If your needs do not fall into these parameters, she can still be eligible for hire on a Limited Assignment Permit. Evidentially, she recently passed the Math CSETs I and II as she is hoping to obtain a Foundational Math credential anyway. The other caveat here is that Ms. Soleau lives in Huntington Beach and does NOT plan to relocate. She says she can make the commute, but that does give me pause.

We have not yet sent her the lesson assignment, so please let me know if you plan to reach out and when. Once I hear from you, we can send the assignment if you're interested. Attached is her application and resume, and below is her video interview link and synopsis.

Subject: VEN - MSM Bio & Physics Student Teacher Placement Requests

Hi Julio,

I hope you are enjoying your break this week! I will actually be leaving tonight for NYC and CT…brrrrr.

I am working with the Placement Coordinator at Mt. Saint Mary's School of Ed – and we'd like to place both a Biology and a Physics student teacher at VEN next semester. Based on input from the Area Superintendents and Tessa, as well as evaluation data, we'd like to place the students as follows, with your approval and their agreement:

Biology – Adriana Jaureguy (I know she's finishing up with Allison on Nov. 30th)
Physics – Sara Iraheta

The placement would be from January 7 – May 3, 2019 and I've defined the specifics below. There would be a $300 stipend for each mentor teacher, paid by Mount St. Mary's. (Please know that I am also reaching out to a couple of other schools, as MSM would like the two placed together if at all possible. However, if only one of the above is willing to mentor, please do let me know that as well.)

Going forward, we will be conducting a preliminary telephone interview/screen with all prospective student teachers before finalizing the acceptance of any placement. However, I don't want to ask that of the student, unless/until I have a mentor lined up.

Thank you in advance, and please let me know if you have any questions. We're hoping to lock this down by EOD Thursday (11/29) of next week. Again, Happy Thanksgiving!

Our candidates are expected to be on campus all day, every day during the rotation. The intent is for the candidate to experience the professional responsibilities of a teacher - as part of a team - on a middle school campus. She would observe and assist the cooperating teacher during instructional periods with the goal to gradually take responsibility for two periods. She would participate in meetings and school activities shadowing her cooperating teacher's daily activities to the extent that this is appropriate.

The cooperating teacher completes a preliminary and a final evaluation of the candidate's competency on forms provided. In a manner most natural to the cooperating teacher and the candidate, ongoing feedback and suggestions are made throughout the student teaching experience. The college will send a supervisor out once a week for visits to observe the candidate. These visits are planned in advance with the cooperating teacher. This supervisor will also be available to clarify expectations and respond to questions the cooperating teacher might have. There is a meager stipend of $300 for the cooperating teacher.

Subject: VEN - Student Teacher Placement - Art/LMU

Hi again!

I just received request from the Placement Coordinator at Loyola Marymount's School of Education – and they are looking to place an Art student teacher for next semester, specifically at Venice. The placement would run from 1/15/2019 – 5/9/2019 and the stipend (paid by LMU) would be $300.

We'd like to make this placement with John Kannofsky – with your approval and his agreement. Specifics of the LMU program are below and attached.

Given we leave on break as of Friday, if you could let me know by EOD Tuesday, 12/18, I'd appreciate it – just in case I need to try and find a placement at another site. Thank you!

Specifics

- Master Teacher will receive training and instructions via email. (There may be an in-person training at LMU, but it is not scheduled at this time)
- A stipend of $300.00 will be sent to Green Dot after the placement ends, to distribute to the Master Teacher through our payroll system
- At least one of the Master Teacher's class rosters should have one ELL and one identified special needs student (do not need to be in the same class period)
- The Master Teacher will complete a mid- semester evaluation and an end-of-semester evaluation sent to them by LMU
- Student teachers will have 8 scheduled observations from their LMU University Supervisor during the semester
- Student teachers are required to teach at least 3 periods but not more than 4
- Student teachers are required to be on site during all teacher hours, faculty meetings, Open House, etc.

Hi there team,
Are we concerned with the number of student teachers we are potentially hosting? I know that student teaching is important and we want to cultivate the relationship with LMU but I'm a little worried about the impact on our students.

Just thinking my thoughts out loud ☺

Good Morning VEN Team,

We are all set for your lottery tomorrow! Thanks to all of your team for their hard work in entering and verifying data and recruiting students. I've done a full data audit and everything is looking good (attached the Excel sheet as an FYI but no need to review).

You will be running four lotteries tomorrow, starting at 5:00PM:

- 9th grade: 209 applicants for 180 seats
- A lottery to waitlist students for 10th, 11th, and 12th grades.

Here are logistics to get ready for tomorrow:

- Please find the script attached. Please have someone available to read this script in English and Spanish, ideally the principal should read one of the parts. Reminder to please stick to the language as much as possible because it comes straight from our charter petitions and our HO Support Staff have been trained to run the computer portion of this lottery based on the script.
    - Please plan to have a third staff member available to answer parent questions
- Keep track of any parent questions that need to be followed up on post-lottery here
- Arlene and Jamie will be your Home Office Support staff and will run / project the computer automated lottery. They will be at the school between 4:00-4:30PM.
- Please send us the name of the printer we should connect to in order to print lottery results to post. We can download the printer in advance to save time.
- Make sure you have a room with good wifi, a projector setup and seating ready.

Please call or text me at 213-222-7543 if you have any questions or concerns before, during or after the lottery.

Thank You,

Pedro Jimenez

Yes, they will be going via Workday as planned. Instructions for completing are being finalized now and should go out to teachers/counselors by EOD today. We are also working on instructions for Admins on how to access the report of who has completed, etc., and hope to send those today or tomorrow.

Yes, LOIs are due back by 2/14, but changes are accepted thru 3/1…which means 3/1 is really the deadline.

Yes, teachers are still asked if they wish to transfer, but are not asked to which schools. After March 1st, RIFs (if any) will need to be placed. Once RIFs are placed, we will send all those who indicated a transfer interest, access to a Google doc with all expected 2019-20 openings (based on LOIs). Teachers with access to this list will reach out to the schools in which they are interested. This Google doc is continually updated as openings fill or others open.

Okay gracias, just a few questions?

Are they going out via Workday? If so will teachers be able to share that they want to transferred and to what school?

And just to make sure they are due back by Feb. 14th?

Gracias

Hi!

As your Human Capital point person, I'm hoping you can add me to the distribution list of your school newsletter (assuming there is one). It will just help me keep abreast of what's happening at VEN and talk in a little more detail to potential candidates – especially as we head into the upcoming recruitment season! I have received a couple of newsletters from VEN, but not sure if I get them regularly. Also, please let me know how often it comes out (weekly, monthly, quarterly)…thank you!!

Hey Josh, Thanks for the heads up. Would it be too much to ask the IEP team to push back 30 minutes so we can finish with everyone together?

Also, since we've had this come up a few times it might be helpful to send our coaching schedule to the IEP team to avoid future conflict.

Talk soon.

As I was submitting the log entry for [redacted] today, I noticed there are 2 new incidents from this week- one in Libster's class and another in Torres' class. I am wondering if you were able to check in with the her because this behavior seems to be out of her nature. Something much deeper may be going on that may be the reason why she is so angry and tense this week.

Subject: Violating Conditions of a DRB

Hello team!

I think I have included everyone on the school culture team -- please let me know if I forgot anyone! I was reaching out to inquire what the process is when a student violates the conditions of their first DRB. I'm the case carrier for the student [redacted], so I want to be sure that I understand what the next steps are. [redacted] had a DRB last quarter with the following action plan:

Action Plan

[redacted] has served a three-day suspension. In addition, campus leaders and DRP have determined tha [redacted] attendance at Ánimo Venice is subject to the following terms

- [redacted] is encouraged to participate in individual and/or group counseling services provided by Ánimo Venice.
- [redacted] will complete 20 hours of drug-related community service approved by administration (must be approved by Nov 30). Service must be completed by May 1, 2019.
- [redacted] will be subject to random searches by an administrator and school security.
- [redacted] will participate in after-school tutoring three times per week. Must show proof of attendance to Mr. Stern every Friday afternoon.
- [redacted] will not participate in the upcoming 9th grade incentive trip. He will instead report to Mr. Stern to complete a research project on the effects of drugs (Vape, marijuana and controlled substances) on teenagers. 2 pages, with citations.
- [redacted] will be subject to a behavior tracker that he must submit to each of his teachers, and checked by Mr. Stern each Friday.
- Each time [redacted] is ditching his class, he will be escorted back to class and receive a lunch detention.
- [redacted] will refrain from committing any further infractions as described in the school handbook.

Yesterday, he was sent home from school because he was clearly high on drugs at 2pm. I'm also unsure as to whether he has attended any after school tutoring or had drug-related community service approved. He is serving a 1-day detention for consuming drugs at school, but I'm wondering how this affects his DRB contract and what the next steps are?

Thanks so much and please let me know if there is anything I can do on my end.

Hello team!

I think I have included everyone on the school culture team -- please let me know if I forgot anyone! I was reaching out to inquire what the process is when a student violates the conditions of their first DRB. I'm the case carrier for the student [redacted] so I want to be sure that I understand what the next steps are. [redacted] had a DRB last quarter with the following action plan:

Action Plan

[redacted] has served a three-day suspension. In addition, campus leaders and DRP have determined that[redacted] attendance at Ánimo Venice is subject to the following terms

- [redacted] is encouraged to participate in individual and/or group counseling services provided by Ánimo Venice.
- [redacted] will complete 20 hours of drug-related community service approved by administration (must be approved by Nov 30). Service must be completed by May 1, 2019.
- [redacted] will be subject to random searches by an administrator and school security.
- [redacted] will participate in after-school tutoring three times per week. Must show proof of attendance to Mr. Stern every Friday afternoon.
- [redacted] will not participate in the upcoming 9th grade incentive trip. He will instead report to Mr. Stern to complete a research project on the effects of drugs (Vape, marijuana and controlled substances) on teenagers. 2 pages, with citations.
- [redacted] will be subject to a behavior tracker that he must submit to each of his teachers, and checked by Mr. Stern each Friday.
- Each time [redacted] is ditching his class, he will be escorted back to class and receive a lunch detention.
- [redacted] will refrain from committing any further infractions as described in the school handbook.

Hi Team,

I wanted to give you an update on this investigation so far.(Sofia this is what you and I talked about on Friday but I need your help with the list.)

On Friday I was able to talk to [redacted] and ask about where she may have been logged in. She thought the last computer she had logged into was a computer in Mr. Kannofsky' s class in 5th period. I talked to her about the importance of making sure she logged out and we changed her password (she was still using the generic one… which leads me to think we need to do a better job of having all students change their passwords).

I then pulled the roster from Mr. Kannofsky' s 6th period class and pulled a few students to try and gather information. It is an honors and AP class and after pulling a few students even one who had received the email I was unable to get anything solid. I then shared the roster with Ms. Leal to see if any names popped out to her as someone who would send and email like this and she said no name did.

I reached out to Nerdfone as you all saw and they are unable to trace anything back to a particular computer. So at this point we are a bit stuck in the figuring out who it is part.

Our Next steps:
After speaking with Ms. Leal and Mr. Murcia separately we believe that the best next step is to pull the group of boys who received the email (as well as a few who we know associate with the group and who have picked on Innis in the past, that's where I need your help Ms. Leal) and talk to them about being decent human beings and let them know that while we do not yet know who sent he email they are all on our watch list and if we find out anything about bullying or harassment from this group of boys directed at Innis their senior activities will be at risk.

Needs:

Ms. Leal I can't remember the other boys you named who are not already on the email list. Can you reply with those names?
Also I will pul [redacted] separately before the meeting like we talked about.

Thank you and please let me know if any of you have any other thoughts or ideas!

Good afternoon Sir,

I wanted to give you an update on what I was able to figure out regarding the emails. I spoke to [redacted] and had her change her email password. She said the last class she had logged in from was Ms. Bonsignore's class. I spoke to her and she said that Mary had the computers during advisory when the emails were sent. I spoke to Mary and she said that she did not see anything suspicious and that she only had one student she might even suspect of this. I spoke to that student and he said he was not on a computer during that class and did not see anyone acting weird. I tend to believe him.

As follow up I have also identified and spoken to two out of the three young ladies and called their parents just to let them know that this happened and that their image was used. The third young lady was identified as a student that no longer attends our school.

I just sent an email preparing the staff for a visit from the admin team tomorrow during advisory informing our students of email security and internet expectations. We will also meet with the staff tomorrow really quickly in the afternoon to talk to you all about checking in on students and making sure that they change their passwords and be extra vigilant about circulating and checking computers while they are in use.

Please let me know if anything else happens and if you have any more concerns or questions.

I'm going to pull in Ms. Chavez so that I can ask if she remembers the last computer she logged in to and have her change her password right away.

Please continue to forward any emails like this so that we are aware of them ASAP. I will keep you informed of our next steps as we make them.

Jesse,
I just wanted to follow-up with you about our conversation yesterday. Do you know if IT has been looking at getting WIFI connectors instead of HDMI cables. We want to do this for Rm 227 since the connecting doc on the wall is broken.

As I mentioned Mr. Rombro (out today) has one that he uses. Not sure if you had a chance to speak with him yesterday about the one he uses. But, would need to know the specs and if it connects with our teachers' laptops.

Thanks,

Thanks. This is one that we are ordering now for Rm 227 just so we can address that issue.

Hey Wendy,

Thanks for the reminders.

My requests:

1. Back wall under windows needs patching / northwest corner
2. Leak – one ceiling panel has stain – by back windows / northwest corner

Floor is good.

Could paint door if it's no problem.

All else is good.

We are also pleased to inform that your 2018 W-2 is available for viewing now, using ADP W-2 Services. Through ADP, our W-2 provider, we are able to offer access to your 2018 W-2 forms 24 hours per day, 7 days a week!

Upon registration, you will be able to access your 2018 W-2 statement. We suggest you use Google Chrome or Firefox for best results and please anticipate about 5 minutes to complete the registration process.

Note: If you registered for this online service last year, your registration is still active and there is no need to register again, this year.

How to Register for ADP W-2 Online Services

1. Go to https://my.adp.com.
2. Click “Register Now”.
3. Enter the Registration Pass Code which is: GreendotPS-GDPW2
4. Enter your Name and select W-2 Services as the Service.

5. The following information is required for validation purposes:
   - Tax Year which is: 2018
   - Employee ID # (found to the right of your name on your Workday pay slip)
   - Company W-2 Code which is: T9P
   - Employee Zip Code (your 5-digit home zip code as listed in Workday)
   - Full Social Security Number

You will be prompted to complete a registration process during which you will select a unique password. Your password must contain between 8 to 20 characters and at least one alpha and one numeric character. You will also be assigned a system generated User ID. Once you have completed the registration process, please bookmark or add the URL, https://my.adp.com to your favorites listing.

We appreciate the opportunity to provide you with this quick no hassle process for viewing your yearend information and hope you will enjoy this feature. Please do not hesitate to reach out to Payroll via email at payroll1@greendot.org or feel free to give us a call on the Payroll Hotline at (323) 565-3299, should you have any additional questions during this process.

Hi there, Franz, Nicole, and Sherrie!

Happy Thursday! Break is so, so close, and all three of you deserve it. I hope that you get a lot of rest and relaxation but also live it up! I'm looking forward to seeing you all when we return.

For better or for worse, there are several Google docs we are using for planning (my fault!), but I do think they encapsulate different thinking or information, so it's good to have them all. However, I wanted to put some big-picture steps in one place to act as a reference tool for winter break planning.

I mentioned this to Nicole yesterday, but I am more than happy to help build out daily materials. I think I learned the most from mentor teachers when I used their tools and had a chance to ask them about the thinking behind them (as opposed to finding things on the internet, which we all do!). Getting to talk through what someone has built is a great way to learn from their process. So, as an example, I would happily build out a week of materials for y'all to use as long as I have a heads up!

Franz and Nicole, I highly recommend dividing/conquering the first two weeks. Feel free to assign me week 3! I'd love to meet on 1/15 or 1/17 during your prep if that works out with the way the schedule is that week. Let me know!

All my best,
Steph

Tools:

- Chapters summaries and planning notes.
- Quarter 3 calendar.
- Master planning document.
- Attached lesson plan exemplars for close reading (just a passage that you want to reread from HW) and a reading workout (reading most of a chapter in class/ likely what you will use most). You don't need to fill this out every day, but it should guide your thinking as you plan.

Steps to take for daily planning:

- Read the chapter. As you read, ask yourself, "What is the text telling me to teach? What are the biggest ideas in this chapter? What skill stands out to me that students would need to tackle this chapter?" Here is a standards-aligned list that can help you determine skills to focus on.
- Determine a question that is worth asking about the chapter. This can end up being your exit slip question. Then, think about the discrete skill that students will need to answer that question. That skill should become the driving force of your objective.

- Next, decide what kind of lesson plan/structure best fits your needs that day.
    - If students read a chapter for HW that you can briefly review with them, that can likely be covered by a reading check do now. If you want to dive into that chapter more deeply, I would recommend doing a close reading of 1-2 pages from the HW chapter after you review it with the reading check. From there, you can start the lesson that is built around the new chapter for the day.
    - For that day's chapter, you can either have students read with you as a class, read in partners, or read alone. You can also do a combination of those three!

Potential lesson plan for a non-Monday day:

Timing	Chunk	What's happening at this time
5 minutes	Reading check	Students use their book/notes they took to take the reading check quiz for their HW. During this time, you can check for annotations or however else you want to hold students accountable for at-home reading. My reading checks were usually relatively short but meaty. I would have a true/false question that students had to back up with a quoted line from the text. I would often have a multiple choice question. The last one would be a short answer, ideally asking them to use quoted evidence.
5 minutes	Reading check review	I would go over answers with students using a PPT slide to show the correct answers. For anything that asked for evidence, I would call on 1-2 students to share. You can find those students as you circulate during the reading check.
5 minutes	Vocabulary	Up to you how you use this time! It seems like they will get vocabulary words on Mondays in general, but there are some missing Mondays in Q3. You could do a deep dive on one word during this time or let students work on flashcards together.
5-10 minutes if doing both	Attack the prompt and/or framing for the day	This is an AWESOME strategy that I used every day of teaching. Students would look at the exit ticket question and unpack/annotate it. We would then discuss it. For example, if the question was "What impact does Boo Radley have on Scout in Chapter 4?", students would identify that Boo Radley must play an important role in that chapter. They would also realize that whatever he does or doesn't do makes Scout do or not do something, too. They knew that while we read, we would want to focus on Boo's actions and Scout's reactions. You can also use this time to frame the reading, showing students images that will help them understand the chapter better or warning them about anything they need to be particularly mature about.

5-10 minutes	Skill focus	Based on the question of that day, you're going to want to have students practice a skill to help them answer that question. You'll want to teach it briefly so that they can practice it with the chapter. With the example above, you could have students focus on looking at a character's actions and what they tell you about the character themselves. You can either use the first page or two of a chapter to teach the skill (reading it with kids as you go), or you can use a text they are familiar with. Of Mice and Men could be a great text to use because students already understand it and can then use it at a deeper level to learn a new skill or refine one they've been exposed to.
10-12 minutes x 3	Reading chunks	Students then begin reading the chapter in two to three chunks. The chunks should be 1-3 pages at most. Students are accountable, at the end of the reading, to answering a big-picture question, usually the same as the exit ticket or closely aligned. Using the same example from chapter 4, students could track "What does Boo Radley do on these pages? How does it impact Scout?" They should read for 5-7 minutes and then discuss, either as a class or in partners, for 3-5 minutes.
5-7 minutes	Optional discussion	If there's time, you can have students share their thinking with each other, almost like a mini Socratic circle. If time is short, skip it!
10 minutes	Exit ticket	Hold this time sacred so that students are consistently accountable for reading. If timing is tight, summarize the last chunk of reading for them and have them jump into writing.

Hello all,

I am administering the RI Test on Monday/Tuesday in my Read 180 classes (Periods 3, 5, and 7). I was hoping that I could have some admin support in my third and seventh periods because those classes have been hard to control in the past, and distraction/lack of focus is a big factor in less-than-accurate Lexile scores. I suspect that this happened on the last test for a number of students. Would it be possible for someone to help supervise for the first ten or so minutes of the test during those periods?

Thank you in advance,
Franz

Boss,
Below are the 4 students who are eligible for reclassification. If they all reclassify, only 2 need to have their classes shifted. I asked Ms. Pina to have the forms completed by Friday.

[redacted] – not in ELD class. A's and Bs in all of his classes currently. No class change needed
[redacted] – currently enrolled in R180 ELD and Sheltered English.
[redacted] – Currently enrolled in Sheltered English. Receiving D's and F's in his classes.
[redacted] – not enrolled in ELD classes. Passing most classes except Algebra 1. No class changes needed

Mr. Liebster,
I'm sorry about your interaction with [redacted] after school. We became aware of this behavior after you had already left. Several of the students involved have been told not to return to the afterschool program for the rest of the week and their parents were notified. We were not aware of [redacted] and will follow-up with him today and have a discussion additionally with him about approaching teachers after school and respecting them.

Your form has a new entry. Here are all the answers.

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	On 12/19, I was walking down the stairs to my car at 4:00 when I overheard some students yelling "Ask him! Ask him!" At the bottom of the stairs, I was met by a male student who asked me if he could ask me a question. I asked him if it was an appropriate question to ask a teacher because it seemed like someone else was putting him up to it. He said yes, and introduced himself as [redacted]. He was still following me out to my car when he asked "Did you kiss [redacted]?" I simply said "No" to avoid engaging him further and continued walking to my car. [redacted] said something about there being rumors, but I ignored him and walked to my car, at which point he stopped following me. He rejoined his friends, whose voices I recognized to be [redacted] and [redacted]. They said something like "See, I told you!" and "He has a whole-ass girlfriend." I walked out to my car and left.
	I knew, based both on the way that [redacted] (whom I do not teach or know) approached me and the shouting that I overheard seconds before, that this was going to be a line-crossing interaction, which is why I attempted to give him a

Interventions Tried	chance to rethink asking the question in the first place. I also did not break off my walk to the car to signal that I was not really open to chatting. When [redacted] came out and asked me this question anyways, I felt very uncomfortable and knew that the onlooking students would make a big deal out of any reaction that I might have. That is why I said my quick "No" and walked away from [redacted]. This seemed to get him to leave me alone.
Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	Students following me to my car feels especially weird, and this is the second time that it has happened (first time was last year with [redacted]). [redacted] also seemed totally okay with asking me this unwarranted and inappropriate question despite being given the chance to reconsider. I would appreciate if someone else aside from me or [redacted] (because he clearly feels okay saying whatever he wants to teachers) telling [redacted] what the boundaries are when asking teachers about freshman rumors or personal things. I would also add here that I have done nothing to invite heightened interrogation of my personal life, but many current first-years seem willing/eager to do so in wildly inappropriate ways. I realize that this age group may simply be curious about those things, but last year's cohort did not even approach this level of brazenness when talking to me about personal life things. Although I don't have a clear solution here, I just wanted to name this trend for what it's worth.

Boss,
How does this sound? Please let me know if I leave anything out.

Coach Fletcher,

Thank you for meeting with Mr. Murcia and I on December 7th , to conclude your personal leave. In our meeting we discussed that actions that you previously reported, that led to your personal leave. The investigation and disciplinary process was followed and office staff were reminded about appropriate conduct, as well as that appropriate discussions take place in school and that personal matters regarding employees and coaches should not be discussed in front of others (teachers, other adults and students).

In our meeting we also discussed that it was expressed by office staff that mention of our meeting had been made to students and a request was made that there be no reciprocation of actions towards office staff such as speaking negatively about them to students.

Hello team,

I'm meeting with [redacted]. As a reminder, he is aware that he gets himself into trouble in class when he is confused or not sure what to do on an assignment. He would greatly benefit from frequent checks for understanding. If you notice him to be off task, he's requesting that he be made aware of what he should be doing.

Hi Team,

[redacted] is currently being evaluated for a Section 504-Plan. He presents with difficulties in attention and nervousness which impact his concentration. While we are completing this evaluation process, please allow [redacted] access to the following accommodations:

- Testing in a different environment (e.g., counseling room, resource room).
- Access to teacher-approved notes during exams.
- Access to graphic organizers.
- Extended time on tests/exams.

Again, we are currently conducting the evaluation. If any of these accommodations are difficult to manage or if there are any questions or concerns, please direct them to me and we can discuss possible solutions. I appreciate the feedback as these are potential accommodations that will be included in his 504-plan.

Thank you all for your support and flexibility!

Good afternoon team,

We just found out this morning that [redacted] is back in a cast for his leg. Mom will be brining a doctors note. For final grades we would like you to endter [redacted] overall grade as an incomplete. We will work with Ms. Gauthier and the Family to figure out a plan to support [redacted] and make up the work he has missed so that he can show mastery and earn credits for first semester, for now you should mark his grade as incomplete.

Thank you!

Team,

I met with [redacted] and his mother yesterday morning with the intention of having her shadow him for the day. We discussed his late arrival to school and to each of his classes. He was also reminded of his Conduct agreement from the DRB. She was unable to stay to shadow yesterday, but intends to come Friday to do so. He will continue to turn in his electronics at the start of the day and be subject to random searches.

We are working to have him stay after school for 30 minutes with ARC each day. He will not receive his electronics until after that 30 minute period. If you need him to stay for office hours, please remind him that he can come to you during that time as well.

Please continue to log interactions with him so that we can maintain and updated record for him.

Good morning Team,

This is to note that a 2nd DRB was held for [redacted] this morning. I'll be sending you an update with further details, but wanted to provide the immediate information you'll need.

- He's being checked each day, when he arrives at school. He'll have to turn in his electronics. If he has a friend who is holding a phone for him, and you see him using it in class, please notify Animo Venice Main Office immediately and we'll send security to confiscate the electronics.
- If he is late to class, parents will be notified each day.
- He will continue to use his behavior/academic tracker. Please continue to ask for it and fill it out.

These are the immediate details that you'll need for class. We can go over more information at the next grade level meeting.

Hi Team,

Hope you're all doing well!

In an effort to support this student's transition, please begin referring to student as his chosen name, [redacted]. Additionally, [redacted] is requesting that we use the pronouns: He/Him/His/Himself.

[redacted] understands that it will take some time for us to make the switch. We talked about how people will make flubs as we get our brains to catch up with our intentions. He stated that he's just excited for this next chapter.

Additionally, I would recommend that you have a private conversation with [redacted] to let him know that you received this email and confirm that he'd like for you to transition his name/pronouns. It will be nice way to open up that line of communication and build a bridge for him to express any concerns or discomfort in class.

If there are any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out!

Thank you all for your support!

Hi team,

At times, [redacted] experiences nervous feelings while she's in class. During these episodes, she may be looking down at her desk, be less focused on the task, and/or rubbing her hands together. In support we are asking the following be available to her:

- If she asks for a break, please allow her 10-minutes outside of your class. This will give her the opportunity to reset and practice some calming strategies.
- If you notice this that she is less focused, looking down at her desk and/or rubbing her hands together, please offer her to take a break outside. She may be feeling nervous/anxious but not thinking about taking a break.
- If after 10-minutes Mariana is still feeling nervous/anxious, she may ask to speak to me. Please call my office to ensure that I am available. Otherwise, please allow her to go to the front office and I will check in with her as soon as I can.

If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out to me.

Thank you all for your support and flexibility.

Good morning Team,

I DRB was held for [redacted] last night. Today one of his parents will be shadowing him for the day. Below are items from his conduct agreement that will apply in class with you. In addition to the below, please take a moment to review his BSP on Powerschool as a refresher on steps to take as antecedents to misbehavior.

- [redacted] must receive an escort to any bathroom or water break.
- [redacted] will participate in a Student-Teacher Mediation with Ms. Pina

Team,

After meeting with [redacted] and his Uncle, the team has come up with the following.

- [redacted] will attempt to participate in class
- Teachers will call on his to participate.
- He has acknowledged that he must let his teachers know if he needs help or doesn't know what to do.
- Use CFU's on [redacted] to make sure he know's what he is supposed to do.
- Continue to acknowledge [redacted] positive contributions in class.
- Check in with him to see if his seat location is in his best interest (ie, is he sitting next to someone who is distracting him?)

Dear Green Dot Public Schools,

I would like to notify you that I am resigning from my position as the 11th grade Special Education teacher effective December 24.

I cannot thank you enough for the wonderful opportunity you've given me to learn from and work with my resilient students and dedicated staff. I have learned so much and will forever be grateful for the chance you took with me to serve our students and families.

Next month I will be taking a position at a university in northern California, but in the meantime and after, I am happy to help assisting in the transition of a new special education teacher.

Sincerely,

Date:	Thursday, January 17, 2019 12:27:20 PM

Hello Administrators,

In celebration of National School Counseling Week February 4-8, 2019, our team hopes to recognize our amazing counselors! This year's theme is "School Counselors: Providing Lessons for Life."

We are asking that you take a moment to answer "My School Counselor Helps Me Be Better By …" on this Google sheet and then we will print your shout-outs on the sign below to share with them.

Please fill in your response on the Google sheet by Friday, February 1st!

Need ideas on how to celebrate your school counselor(s) during National School Counseling Week? Here are some below:

- Treat your counselor to lunch
- Reach out to alumni for a surprise visit, surprise note/card, or video message
- Display an appreciation poster at school entrance
- Have current students write thank you notes
- Shout-out during announcements

Other resources are also available on the ASCA website.

Please reach out if you have any questions.

Thank you in advance,

Counseling and College Persistence Team

Subject:	Restorative Practices PD Follow Up
Date:	Tuesday, January 22, 2019 8:44:38 PM

Hi Everyone,

I wanted to follow up on something I brought up at last week's PD. I didn't realize School Culture PD would be scheduled for this week, or else I would have sent this Email sooner.

I think the fact that restorative practices are mixed in with consequences on the discipline matrix is problematic. I think a lot of teachers' frustrations with discipline and restorative practices come from the fact that RPs are being used to replace consequences. Restorative Practices are meant to be used in tandem with a discipline and consequence system, not in replace of it.

If we are going to move forward with using restorative practices, I think it is important that we use them correctly, as many teachers have already lost faith in a system that I have seen be largely successful, both in my classroom and at the school site level.

As I suggested in PD, it may be beneficial to move restorative tasks (conferences, mediations, reflections, etc.) to a separate column on the discipline matrix. That way it is easier to see how the practices coexist with discipline and consequences. I also think that it would be beneficial to revisit, as a staff, the purpose of restorative practices and how they are meant to be implemented. It may be helpful to to see/hear how restorative practices are being implemented at other GD schools?

Please feel free to pass this Email along to the rest of the school culture team. I wasn't sure who to send it to, as I know there have been some shifts. I'm also happy to follow up in person.

Thanks,

Sofia

Hi there!

Happy Friday!

I wanted to share what I've learned about some of the RI data questions you raised yesterday which were great food for thought!

Firstly the baseline scores were slightly different than the averages on the first tab because of a strange time slide filter I had to use to generate the report. They are meant to be the same.

Secondly it sounds like we don't have a sense of how a mid-year % impacts an EOY % in terms of students meeting growth goals. I'm going to check in with Ceci in-person when I see her next to see if she has any additional insight but Leona didn't have any historical information from her end.

The last thing I wanted to share is a report so new that I just learned about it yesterday and it's now available in News from the Dot. I've screenshotted my favorite report below and it's likely right up your mathematical alley)

If you go to the Internal Literacy – CA section to the RI Current Students tab in Tableau you'll be able to see each kids growth their current proficiency band and their expected growth range. The students who are far from their expected growth range as well as those that are close are probably the best ones for ELA teachers or grade-level teams to further investigate. Happy to talk through this more when I see you next and/or hop on the phone if you'd like.

Hope you have an awesome Friday and weekend!

All my best
Steph

Hello Admin.

Yesterday [redacted] was transferred to my 3rd period. I don't know, if you are aware, but my third period is one of my most disruptive class I have. That's the class I have the most "D's" and "F's". Its also the period I always need assistance from security and/or faculty when my period 3 is out of control.

During 6th period, [redacted] is one of the students who is a student who I have hard time keeping quiet or getting off her seat during 6th period, luckily my 6th period isn't one of the most difficult class.

When [redacted] was transferred to my 3rd period, she blended well with the chaos. I believe she is not going to work well in this class, because the way the class. If she ca get transferred to any class, that would be great. I just thing she will not concentrate or work well with others in 3rd period. Thank you.

As we had predicted, the charter petition we submitted to Sana Ana Unified was denied last night by a unanimous vote of the Board. We are currently working on the timeline for next steps, including an appeal to the Orange County Office of Education. I want to thank everyone who contributed to the many steps required to submit this charter petition. Nearly every department in the home office was part of this effort. We also had several Santa Ana parents and community members speak in favor of a Green Dot school in Santa Ana last night and at the public hearing. They spoke clearly about the need for more quality options and about the life-changing opportunities a Green Dot school would bring.

We continue to face challenges with finding a facility in Santa Ana, and the district has responded to our request for Prop 39 space and offered us zero classrooms. Just to give you a sense of the environment we are facing in Santa Ana, I have attached a flyer that was placed on every chair in the Board room last night. We knew this process would be challenging, and disrupting the status quo is always difficult. The need for high-quality options in Santa Ana is clear, and we remain committed to trying to do everything we can to fulfill that need. I will keep you posted on next steps. Don't hesitate to reach out with any questions.

Good Everning,

During our grade level meeting on Friday, we discussed a concern regarding some 9th graders with serious to severe attendance concerns. Can you please provide us with the following information:

1) what is the process for the SART process?
2) what is our policy for students with frequent absences/excessive tarries
3) do we have an action plan for the following students:
A) [redacted]
B) [redacted]
C) [redacted]
D) [redacted] (there was an issue with custody and getting them to school on time. Is there an update?)

Thanks,

Hi Everyone,

Just wanted to provide an update on SAT/ACT accommodations. I have submitted SAT requests for all the students that Lily left consent forms for. I spoke with Jessica and I will be redistributing the forms to some of the students that have nothing on file and then getting requests in ASAP. I will be submitting ACT accommodations in February once students register for the test.

Information on their requests/request status can be found here: https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1lJqOSyaE84Ox-HUpNbRjxoNRG1DeUIjDHstb9pCi_gI/edit?usp=sharing

Dear SpEd Teachers and School Psychologist:

We are quickly approaching testing season. In order to ensure our students with disabilities and 504 plans receive the appropriate accommodations on this year's CAASPP exams, we will be performing three audits—one now, one in February, and one in March.

SpEd teachers, please follow these instructions to check the assigned accommodations for students with IEPs.

1. Click Here to View Your Site's Audit Tool
2. Using the third tab of this workbook, please review the list of students and their currently assigned accommodations.
3. Ensure that all students on your caseload that are testing are included.
4. If a student's accommodations are all correct, list "Reviewed - Accurate" in Column B
5. If a student is missing an accommodation or has the incorrect accommodation assigned, please list "Reviewed - Changes needed in IEP" in column B.
6. Make a note of the specific changes needed in column B

Please Note:

- If you have assigned a rare or logistically tricky accommodation, this column title will be red. Please follow-up with me to confirm this is the appropriate accommodation and that all testing logistics can reasonably be met.
- You cannot adjust accommodations in this sheet. You must adjust accommodations through an IEP meeting, and KM will update this sheet on the subsequent audit.

School Psychologist, please follow these instructions to check the assigned accommodations for students with 504s.

1. Click Here to View Your Site's Audit Tool
2. Using the fourth tab of this workbook, please review the list of students and their currently assigned accommodations.
3. Ensure that all students on your caseload that are testing are included.
4. Using the Setting Specifications tab, please add the appropriate accommodations for each student, by marking an x in the columns appropriate on the fourth tab.
5. If a student is missing, please add him or her to this Google Sheet (including the appropriate accommodations).

Please be sure to review and update by Friday, February 2nd at 3pm. I will send a meeting maker reminder. If you have any questions, please reach out to me.

Let me know if you have any questions and/or need any support with usage of this tool.

Hello, admin!

I hope you guys are wrapping up a nice weekend. I have a couple of questions, and I'm copying GL leads and counselors here for efficacy of communication:

1) Do we have the schedule for the three days of finals yet? Teachers in the 11th grade level meeting were asking about the advisory additions to the schedule for those days.

2) Do we know when students with course schedules changing at the semester (e.g., students in a credit recovery class) will receive their new schedules? I'm trying to anticipate possible scenarios where they might be joining a class that has some homework assigned over the break.

Best,
Sara

Also would it be possible to move some of that "crew" out of drama. They make it very difficult to do anything productive in class & make it even more challenging than it needs to be.
This would be any of the following:

[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] (she will participate if the boys aren't there)

There are a few more of their "crew" in the class but they will participate when I ask.

Good morning Mr Murcia,

I am writing to request a change in my budget and to use funds from the science department budget to cover the deposit of the Naturebridge trip. I will be fundraising and replenishing the funds for department use Below is an outline of the overall cost and the deposit

We have been granted a scholarship for $4,445 28 of the cost I must provide 25% of the total cost as a deposit: $1,989 50 I must provide this by tomorrow But I think if I communicate with them regarding the matter today and send it by tomorrow, it will be okay I apologize for the last minute notice on this need of mine It was up in the air if there would be space or us after the fires and they have just settled things regarding our reservation this week

Please confirm that this will be okay and I can meet with Wendy to send a payment for this deposit I will also meet with Wendy regarding making deposits from donors and grants into our account and sending checks to Naturebridge since I will be sending in payments to them on a monthly basis as I raise monry until April to finish paying the difference of our charges

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns as soon as possible Thank you!

Michael,

Happy Friday, I hope you are well. Can you help us with determining who will need to take the Science Test in May? Glynis informed me that any 11th grader who didn't take it last year must take it this year as a Senior. I honestly don't remember if we had both juniors and seniors take the test last year or if it was only one grade level.

Hi everyone,

Happy New Year! I just wanted to let you all know that after much deliberation and reflection over the holiday break, I have decided to step down from SCT and, consequently, ALT for second semester. I met with Josh today to elaborate on my decision, and he will notify Wendy for stipend purposes. Please feel free to reach out if you'd like further detail.

Thanks so much for your understanding,

Hi, everyone!

Happy pre-finals week! After today, there will only be 9 school days left until break – let the holiday countdown begin! Just a couple announcements from the SCT as we head into the last two weeks of Q2:

- Festive Christmas Sweater Day: this will be Friday Dec. 14th, which is also the day of our staff holiday party! Dust off your most festive (or ugliest) holiday sweater to wear to work if you'd like to participate.
- Holiday party: Don't forget to sign up for an item to bring on our Google spreadsheet, plus a white elephant gift (This is optional! Must be $25 or less)
  - Link to spreadsheet: https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1qfYafVSEnH8HARZDljUXsSJn6JpRIIGyW62zGnwibzk/edit?usp=sharing
- Secret Santa: please deliver your gift to your recipient sometime during finals week.

Cheers!

Team,
Thank you for a productive and open meeting yesterday. As we dicussed, our Jan 16 PD will be mostly on the Disipline Matrix with the remaining the Tardy Sweeps. I think we'll probably need the entire time for Discipline Matrix so that we can have an effective time.

One thing that I hoped we'd have time to talk about yesterday was the evolution of acts that lead to a DRB. We didn't get a chance to discuss disciplinary responses and looking at what does lead to a DRB.

My ask is that our time on the afternoon of Dec 10th be devoted to talking through the evolution of discipline responses and working on the PD.

Please let me know your thoughts.

Hi Sharon and Josh-

I tried to write more thoughtful, detailed restorative practices for the 12th grade page on the few that I got to. I think this is the direction we should be headed in for restorative…a thoughtful teaching/learning activity that helps the student see the issue from a different perspective or from the "injured" parties perspective.

If staff or the working group were going to continue creating that column, we should creatively think of activities or mini lessons that help the student see the issue from an alternate perspective. Just more of my thoughts.

Hi Team,

Right as the bell was ringing for Advisory, [redacted], [redacted], and [redacted] were running, chasing, and shoving each other in and out of my classroom door. Someone threw [redacted] sweatshirt in the tree and other students were taking pictures and laughing. All three were late to Advisory but my concern is more that they are endangering themselves and other students by shoving one another and running in and out of the door while students are supposed to be sitting and focusing.

This behavior concerns me especially in light of our new expectations for the Advisory curriculum, the seniors should be setting the bar! I am speaking with the students in my Advisory [redacted]) about it but wanted to flag it as well for others.

Let's talk about SEX! Education… please don't report me. ☺

No but in all seriousness a group of our current seniors brought a concern to the SAC meeting last week that they feel that they missed out on Sex education. (not sure how it happened but it's how they feel) so they are asking us if there is a supplemental lesson we can do with them.

I haven't looked into what it would be yet but I was wondering if the three of us could work on this together and try to put something together for them for advisory?

Let me know what you think!

I wanted to touch base about the sex ed discussion we had at SAC. Mr. Stern is going to take lead on following up on this because we had planned on having sex ed taught to the 9th graders through PE. SO Mr. Stern will follow up with Mr. Rodriguez and Tessa Cedar at the home office to make sure we have a plan for that. He's also going to touch bases with you to see if there are supports that you need for your planning purposes.

Hello Sexual Education Teacher (Many of You Be Default ☺),

We're trying to do our best to keep track of when Sexual Health curriculum was implemented or will be implemented this year. This is both to help with compliance but also to help us plan for implementation next year and coordinate any support or follow-up training as needed.

For this purpose, we've put together a Sexual Health Curriculum Tracker. If you haven't already, please complete the spreadsheet with the potential dates or time frame when you plan to implement the curriculum on your campus (or already did). If you're working with an outside provider, please provide those dates as well.

If you need to teach the Sexual Health curriculum and have not been trained or would appreciate any follow-up support, please reach out to me or the Science Curriculum Specialist on your campus.

These two students are [redacted] and [redacted]. This concern was brought up by Madison at the beginning of the school year, especially when noticing their RI level and academic success in other classes the previous year. Reviewing grades from the first semester their sophomore year, we feel it would be beneficial for these two students to be placed in the sheltered English class so they can receive more support. Would this be possible for the current semester?

Hi there, VEN admin team!

On Monday, December 10th, new ELA teachers will be attending their final New Teacher PD for the 2018-19 academic year. The Literacy Team is reaching out to school leaders (admin, ILT, mentors, etc) to write short blurbs to present to our new teachers; these little nuggets of gratitude and affirmation will be compiled and printed out for teachers to read at the end of the day. ☺

Here are a couple of examples from last year:

> Thank you for the dedication, patience, private notes, and song lyrics that you share with our students. Every day, you are changing the odds for our kids and their lives will be better because they were lucky enough to have you as a teacher. We can't wait to see what next year will bring!
> One look at Sydney's classroom will tell you how much care and thought she puts into her work: the beautiful, colorful walls show student progress trackers designed to inspire students to persevere and push toward their goals. It has been inspiring to watch Sydney reflect and grow this year, trying new strategies to get students to stay focused and, more impressively, to do the heavy lifting cognitively. I feel so fortunate to get to see Sydney shine on her year 1 journey and can't wait to see her star rise even higher next year.

We would appreciate if you could fill out this Google Form by EOD, Friday, December 7th.

If you have any further questions, please reach out to Lara and Angie (CC'd on this email).

Steph

Hi Jef,

I know you texted me about [redacted] last week but I was not available to talk when you messaged me. After meeting with dad and [redacted] today I collected the completed work that [redacted] says she was missing to complete the course. Since she complete a good amount of the course I don't want to have to put her in a whole semester of Spanish 1 again when we can grade the work she turned in and hopefully give her a grade. Now, if the work she turned in is not enough to help her pass the class, then she understands she will have to retake the course in a different way.

I will drop off the completed work she gave me to your room in a bit (I'll leave it on your desk if you're not there). Please grade her work and let me know if she's good to get a completed grade or if the work is not enough for her to finish the course.

Thanks you!

School Leader Evaluation

Thank you for your patience as we revised the School Leader Evaluation (SLE) templates and process in Ed Reflect. You may now schedule a SLE in Ed Reflect. Supervisors take the first step by calendaring the Goal Setting Conference and Goal Setting Upload steps. Evaluatees are responsible for submitting (via Ed Reflect) the (new for 2018-19) Goal Setting Template.

- The Supervisor guidance deck and Evaluatee guidance deck will walk you through the process.
- Please reach out to Rachel Provost for EdReflect Support and Julia Fisher for evaluation process support.

Good Morning Ms. Smith,

Since I was able to make it in for your last unscheduled we can actually do the final meeting for your evaluation. I need a little more time to finish bucketing all of the evidence and then I can share that with you on Sunday evening so that you have a few days to put in your scores before we meet.
Does meeting next Tuesday instead of this Friday work for you?

Beyond the resume, we haven't received the candidates contact information or confirmation that she/he will be available for the phone interview. Glynis reached out to the sub company, and was planning to e-mail today if she heard something. But, since she's out, I wanted to see if you could help out. I'd be happy to reach out myself if you could provide the contact info of the point of contact at the sub company. As we are working to fill our 11th grade SPED position, and with you having co-taught with Ms. Quintero, I want to keep you updated on our progress. We are waiting on a permanent Long Term sub to be processed by the sub company. We expect this to happen early February. In the interim, we were able to find Derrick Taylor as the Long Term Sub. We expect to have him through the end of this month.

I've given him Ms. Quintero's schedule which includes 4th period planning and 5th period co-teaching with you. I'm sure you'll work with him to find the best way to serve the students.

Hi Everyone,

We have solidified a temporary plan for the 11th grade. We sent out an Email that outlines how we will be supporting the 11th grade teachers and trying our best to support with case management of the 11th grade. There are a few other updates we wanted to share, as well as things we still have questions on/need support with:

- We have drafted a letter to send home to 11th grade parents that informs them that Ms. Quintero is no longer the 11th grade RSP teacher and lists Kristy as the point of contact for parents regarding IEP questions (letter is attached). Ms. Guevara is translating the letter for us today.
- Can we please get our LTS PowerSchool access? He needs it to grade, access students' schedules, and submit PS logs
- Can we assign a structured amount of time for Kristy or Tina to meet with Mr. Taylor to help him get situated? Could it be during PD one day?

Thanks!

Subject:	SPED student teacher info
Date:	Monday, December 17, 2018 12:41:01 PM

Ms. Leal,

Below is some information that we have so far about the 2nd semester student teacher. Lisa will be conducting a preliminary phone screen/interview before finalizing placement.

The placement would be from approximately February 7 – June 3, 2019 and I've defined the specifics from GCU below. There would be a $500 stipend for Sofia, paid by GCU.

Special Education Requirements:
The Special Education Program of Study requires a fifteen (15) or sixteen (16) week student teaching capstone (depending on the Teacher Candidate's program of study) as a fulltime mild-moderate placement in grades K-12 with a qualified resource or self-contained Cooperating Teacher.

Placement Dates
Placement dates for each Teacher Candidate may vary depending on the school site's start dates and availability. The placement is contingent upon the Teacher Candidate remaining academically and financially eligible.

The Cooperating Teacher/Mentor will be provided with training material to support this experience.

Student Teaching Roles
The following individuals are in position to support Teacher Candidates during the student teaching experience. A Teacher Candidate will be assigned to either a Cooperating Teacher or a Mentor in addition to a GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC) and GCU Faculty Supervisor.

- Cooperating Teacher: The Cooperating Teacher is the teacher in whose classroom the Teacher Candidate is placed in to complete the student teaching experience. Cooperating Teachers are entitled to a $250 stipend for each 8 week session.
- GCU Faculty Supervisor*: Teacher Candidates will be assigned a GCU Supervisor obtained through the Office of Field Experience. The GCU Faculty Supervisor is responsible for completing two (2) collaborative observations and formal evaluations per each 8 week session.*
- GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC): The Teacher Placement Counselor secures placement with the district/school site and communicates with the Teacher Candidate regarding roles and expectations of student teaching.
- GCU Field Experience Specialist (FES): The Field Experience Specialist is the primary support resource for Cooperating Teachers/Mentors and GCU Faculty Supervisors.

Subject: Strike information for students
Date: Wednesday, January 9, 2019 8:04:18 AM

Team,
The latest news that we have received is that the strike may start tomorrow and it also may be delayed until January 14. Please give your students, during advisory, the following information:

With the LAUSD strike possibly starting tomorrow, we want to make sure that you are aware that school will be in session here at Animo Venice. Please know that we will have extra security on campus during the strike. Please do not engage with any of the demonstrators if they are in front of Broadway Elementary. If it becomes necessary we will have alternate entrances, monitored by security, to allow students on campus. If you normally are outside on the sidewalk before campus, Mr. Dickens and the rest of the security detail will be asking you to come onto campus immediately to wait for the bell to ring. After school, we encourage you to wait on campus for your rides to pick you up. If you are going to the bus stop, administration and security will be outside making sure that you are able to get onto the bus without any issue. It is extremely important that all students are in the proper uniform so that we may easily identify everyone on campus. This Friday is not the first, or third, Friday of the month and is therefore NOT a casual dress day.

Date:	Sunday, January 13, 2019 9:13:42 PM
Importance:	High

Good evening,

I wanted to send you a few last minute reminders in the event that strike-related activity takes place outside of or near your campus this week. Please let me know if you have any questions.

If entrances are blocked by picketers:

- Schools co-located on an LAUSD facility should contact the LA School Police Officer on their campus to clear the entrance, or call The LA School Police Watch Command number is (213) 625-6631.
- All other schools should call your local LAPD watch commander:

1. L.A.P.D. South East Division (213) 972-7828
2. L.A.P.D. 77th Division (323) 786-5077
3. L.A.P.D. Pacific Division (310) 482-6334
4. L.A.U.S.D Police Dept. (213) 625-6631
5. L.A.P.D. Newton Division (323) 846-6547
6. L.A.P.D. Hollenbeck Division (323) 342-4100

If there is any strike-related activity outside of or near your school:

- Call your Area Superintendent or send a COBRA alert, whichever is easier.

If the media shows up in front of your school:

- Send a COBRA alert or call your Area Superintendent, whichever is easier.
- Do not speak to the media yourself. Ask them to call our Director of Communications, Sean Thibault, at 213-444-8613.

Date:	Wednesday, December 12, 2018 6:49:52 PM
Importance:	High

Good evening,
I wanted to share the Potential Strike Resources link with you again so you have it for our call tomorrow. We have updated some of the language in the parent letter and blackboard call script. Steve and Kaleem have also added specific safety and security plans for schools co-located on an LAUSD campus.

Here are the next steps we will discuss on the calls tomorrow morning:
-Parent letters and blackboard messages need to go out next week.

-Blackboard messages should go out again in the morning on the day we come back from break (January 7th).

-Please review the advisory lesson with students prior to leaving for break OR the Monday we return from break.

-Meet with your staff next week to share the safety and security plan with them so they know what the plan is and are prepared to support.

-Meet with your CSOs to share the security plan and get their feedback.

-Work with your OFM and SOM to develop a plan to ensure any absent students' parents/guardians are called each day we get back from break so that we can be sure they are not staying home because they think our teachers are on strike. It is important that our families know our schools are open and focused on learning, even if a UTLA strike occurs.

-The EOC (Emergency Operations Center) at the home office will be activated the Monday we return from break so that we are prepared to support any schools should any strike-related issues unfold. Please contact your Area Superintendent should strike-related issues occur at your site so that the EOC can partner with your school.

We will discuss these next steps and have time for questions on our calls tomorrow morning. If you have not already done so, please accept the invite for either the 7:00 am or 7:30 am call tomorrow. Thank you!

Good afternoon,

I wanted to share some information with you that could influence how the UTLA strike plays out in January. At 3:00 today, UTLA will have a press conference to call for a cap/moratorium on charters in Los Angeles. While they cannot bring this request to the union negotiations table, they can use it to get some deals behind closed doors. In my conversation with the LAUSD superintendent today, it seems that a strike will happen no matter what. We are monitoring this situation closely and working closely with the California Charter Schools Association and LAUSD Board members to try to protect the best interest of our students and families. I believe we are prepared no matter what happens in January, but I wanted to give you the latest information.

I am working with Angel on a joint message to go out to teachers when we come back from break so that our teachers understand the stance UTLA is taking on charters and recognize the importance of being there for our students during the strike. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out. Have a restful break!

Over the past couple of weeks, we have noticed a behavioral change in [redacted], she seems sad, upset, and is emotional. Both Landicho and I have tried to reach out to her but she is not forthcoming about what she is going through. We have called parents and recommended counseling and they have agreed to send her to counseling. We ask that you please keep an eye out for her, if you notice her appearing distracted, teary eyed, or irritable please reach out to Landicho and I.

Hey Admin,

Some students cannot get into their GD Gmail accounts. Passwords have been changed.

Do we have a generic password that they can use to enter their email then change the password?

Please advise.

Hello Team,

As a friendly reminder from the SPED team, please ensure that all Teacher Input forms (PLOPs -> student present levels of performance) are returned to the Case Carrier (SPED Teacher) in the requested time. They need this mandatory information to be prepared for their IEP meetings. Also, your attendance at an IEP meeting is essential to the meeting taking place. Your input helps the student and parent gain a greater understanding of their performance and is a Federal requirement.

On behalf of the SpEd Team, we thank you for your continued diligence and support.

Mr.Kannofsky,

Thank you for offering to host a student teacher 2nd semester. Below is some information about expectations:

The placement would run from 1/15/2019 – 5/9/2019 and the stipend (paid by LMU) would be $300.

Specifics

- Master Teacher will receive training and instructions via email. (There may be an in-person training at LMU, but it is not scheduled at this time)
- A stipend of $300.00 will be sent to Green Dot after the placement ends, to distribute to the Master Teacher through our payroll system
- At least one of the Master Teacher's class rosters should have one ELL and one identified special needs student (do not need to be in the same class period)
- The Master Teacher will complete a mid- semester evaluation and an end-of-semester evaluation sent to them by LMU
- Student teachers will have 8 scheduled observations from their LMU University Supervisor during the semester
- Student teachers are required to teach at least 3 periods but not more than 4
- Student teachers are required to be on site during all teacher hours, faculty meetings, Open House, etc.

Hi,

I just wanted to check in about a few students who left early today without permission.

[redacted], and a few others (who's names I did not get) made the decision to leave a minute early before the bell rang. As I walked out to try and get them back in the class I also noticed freshmen were in the hall, and I think that it serves as a bad example that they saw seniors leaving and not listening to me, their teacher, call them back into class.

I believe the consequence should be detention for the reason that if they chose to leave early without permission then they should lose some of their free time during lunch or after school. Preferably after school.

Sorry for not filling out the usual Referral Form. I figured emailing was easier since multiple students participated.

Thank you,
Mr.Montenegro

Good Morning Janneth,

As you know, I'm expecting a baby in May and plan to be out starting April 22nd (2 weeks before my due date- March 25th). I have met with admin about best ways to support while I'm out and they are requesting a sub to begin 1-2 weeks before spring break (as I will not be returning after break). This will allow time for the sub to get acquainted with the school, Ms. Moreno, and some of the teachers I have close communication with in preparation for my leave.

I will be submitting my official leave request to HR this week, but wanted to give you the info as soon as possible.

Please let me know if there is anything I/we need to do on our end in the mean time.

Thank you.

Hi- I didn't get a chance to print out my sub plan for Wednesday, but the students have their own materials, so it should be fine.

5th & 6th:
Spend the period working with your group, catching up on reading, finding evidence for your specific lens, etc. Remember, your novel needs to be read and annotated by 2/1.
Sound and Sense ch. 2 assignment due Sunday, 1/27 readings and assignment are on Google classroom

7th
Read ch 2 & 3 of Frankenstein
-make sure reading questions for letters and ch 1-3 are complete
Work on symbols and antithesis charts
On page 15 are the reading journal directions. Start working on the journals-- I will go over this more on Friday.
Quiz Friday-letters to ch. 3
Quiz Monday- vocab 41-50

1st period drama
Play Grapes of Wrath (it is on my logged on amazon account) the students know how to use it. You can ask Natalie to help— Please make sure they are watching the movie—no phones out, no talking, Etc.

2nd & 3rd period ELA (write the reminders on the board)
Remind students that:
- their reading journals for set 1 are due Sunday to turnitin.com
- they need to read chapters 4-6 by Tuesday (there will be a quiz & I will check the reading questions)
-vocab quiz on words 41-50 Monday

Please monitor that they are working on the assignments listed above.

5th & 6th period -
Play grapes of wrath for the students- it is booked up to my back computer— many of the students know how to set it up. They may work on ap Lit homework while watching.
Remind students that their novels need to be finished by 2/1
Tell students ch 2 of sound and sense assignment due Sunday night

7th period-
Students need to work on reading journals and comprehension questions. (Directions in their packets)
Remind students that:
reading journals are due Sunday to turnitin.com
Vocab quiz words 41-50 Monday
Read ch 4-6 by Wednesday

Unfortunately, my mother in law, not my mother, is in the process of passing away. My wife just found out last night and this morning.

I arranged for Ms. Tang to take my period 3 and Mr. Castro to take care of my period 4.

I appreciate this.

I will probably be going to Switzerland in the next few days. I will probably combine this with seeing my own mother. I may be out for a while.

This happened over the last few days and was quite unexpected.

Math Support Custom Module 5: Quadratics
Supports Algebra Module 4

Guidelines on How to Use this Document:
This module is designed to support students with the prerequisite skills for solving quadratics.

Grade	Lesson Number	Lesson Title	Key Lesson Components to Implement
6	Lesson 11	Common Factors and Multiples
6	Lesson 15	Numerical Expressions with Exponents
8	Lesson 1	Properties of Integer Exponents
8	Lesson 2	Square Roots and Cube Roots lesson access: https://teacher-toolbox.com/username: christina.apostolaki@greendot.org

Password: Greendot4life

Math Support Custom Module 2: Functions
Supports Algebra Modules 2 and 3

Guidelines on How to Use this Document:
Use student data to determine where in the following sequence you begin teaching. (eg. Half my class, on average, scored in Level 7 on the Diagnostic; therefore, I will begin with Grade 7 Lessons and skip the 6th grade lessons)

Grade	Lesson Number	Lesson Title	Key Lesson Components to Implement
6	Lesson 2	Understand Unit Rate
6	Lesson 3	Equivalent Ratios
7	Lesson 10	Understand Proportional Relationships
7	Lesson 11	Equations for Proportional Relationships
8	Lesson 6	Understand Functions
8	Lesson 7	Compare Functions
8	Lesson 8	Understand Linear Functions
8	Lesson 9	Analyze Linear Functions

Importance:	High

Hello team and happy last day of first semester!

And I'm sorry to send this email now and dampen that high ☹ But we need to prepare.

I am sure you all have heard by now that Ms. Choi will not be returning second semester. We luckily already have two interviews set up for the Monday we return from break!!! However we need a plan for supports for at least the first two weeks.

So as we plan for second semester if we can share some information with each other that would be great!

For Geometry: Ms. Shariff if you could please share you lessons for geometry so that I can get those to the substitute teacher so that geometry students stay on track that would be great.

For Math support: Mr. Castro can you identify 8 to 12 skills that Alg. 1 students need support in that you and I and Cybele and maybe Christina could help develop some short lessons on so that I can support the substitute with rotations between computer and instruction. That would be very helpful.

Thank you all in advance for you supports!

The students are already very restless, and the lack of focus is going to impact scores. Could someone hang out for the first few minutes of class? [redacted] has slammed my door already, and [redacted] is throwing quarters.

We are watching a documentary in class, and I was in the back near [redacted] when I smelled a skunky, weed-like smell. He looked at me and turned away and blew air into the opposite direction from me. He then got up without my permission and walked over to another student trying to tell him something. He returned to his seat after I asked him to do so several times. I think that he vaped just now based on the smell and his breathing away from me. V is in here and taking [redacted] out of class.

Hey Wendy,

Can you switch tables between Mr. Rombro's and Ms. Pina's?

I suggested to Ms. Pina that she might do better with the small tables that Mr. Rombro has. Mr. Rombro would like to have the larger tables.

Both have agreed to it.

I think other freshman teachers may do better with the single tables.

Boss, how does this sound for the Tardy sweep text and calls to parents?

Hello parents, next week we will begin tardy sweeps at Animo Venice. In an effort to help all students get to class on time, the classroom doors will be locked when the tardy bell rings. We will collect student names before they are allowed to enter the classroom. You will then receive a phone call notifying you that your child has been late to his or her class. This will happen each period that a student is late to class. We know that you value your child's education and we would like for you to have a conversation with your child about ensuring that they are getting to class on time each period of the day. These phone call will begin Monday, February 4th. Thank you,

Dotters,
We wanted to take a moment to thank all of you for ensuring our schools maintained a focus on teaching and learning during last week's strike. Despite the rain and the strike, we were able to maintain a student average daily attendance of over 90%, and we know students showed up each day because of our teachers, counselors, classified staff and administrators. We know last week was difficult for many of you, particularly our schools co-located on LAUSD campuses. We appreciate you being there for our students and providing rigorous learning opportunities, despite the palpable tension across the city.

In the event you have not already seen them, we wanted to provide you with the summary of the agreements reached between UTLA and LAUSD (see links below). We have some concerns about a couple of charter-related pieces mentioned in the agreements: 1) language regarding increased regulations for co-located sites and 2) a resolution which calls for the State of California to institute a charter cap within LAUSD.

Our leadership team will continue to monitor both of these charter-related items, and we will follow up in food for thoughts and at upcoming site rep meetings regarding the specific impacts of both of these items on Green Dot specifically. For now, it is important to know that Green Dot's leadership team has been tracking the changing political dynamics statewide and nationwide over the last couple of years in order to make sure we are taking appropriate measures to protect against the increase in anti-charter rhetoric and increased attempts at anti-charter legislation. We look forward to continuing to work together to deliver on the promise we have made to the students and families we serve.

Dear Dotters,
Next Friday, 12/14, will be my last day in the home office. Kevin and I are moving to the East Coast to be closer to our families. We're going to live in Montclair, NJ. I'm still going to be working in education and Kevin will continue to be my favorite entrepreneur.

Thanks for letting me be part of something bigger over the past 8-ish years. I care deeply about Green Dot and our students and am thankful to have worked with so many of you who feel the same. Green Dot has shaped me as a person (in many ways big and small) and the organization will al ways hold a special place in my heart. I will continue to be a supporter and advocate for our students and for Dotters from afar.

I will miss all of you so please stay in touch! My personal email is nithya.rajan@gmail.com and my cell phone number will remain the same .

Come say bye!

All my best,
Nithya

AP Teachers-

Thank you so much for attending and participating in our meeting today about increasing access to AP courses. Your feedback was very valuable and I am grateful that you all came.

Please see attached today's presentation, along with the appendix filled with data and research.

Please reach out to me or Annette Gonzalez if you have any questions. As things progress, stay tuned for more updates as well.

If I don't see you before next Friday, have a great winter break and see you in 2019! ☺

Happy Monday everyone, we hope you all had a restful weekend!

We wanted to send a warm thank you for coming out and supporting our first Future Green Dot Leader Meet and Greet last week. The feedback we received from participants was positive and enthusiastic. Thank you for sharing your stories and inspiring others to consider a new opportunity in a school leadership role with us.

Xochitl and I appreciate you all so much and are grateful to work with such committed educators.

Have a wonderful week!

Dear parents,

It is with so much humility, respect, and deep contemplation that I share I've been offered a dream opportunity and will not be returning next semester at Animo Venice. This past semester has been one of the best working with my sweet students, great families, and incredible staff. This was the hardest decision I've ever had to make because Animo Venice has been my family for the last year and a half.

Please know that our students will continue to receive the services and accommodations listed on their IEPs. We are working hard on finding a replacement as soon as possible. Here is my personal email so that you and your students may reach me and keep me informed of all the wonderful progress: lilyquintero.24@gmail.com.

Thank you for a wonderful semester,

Queridos padres,

Es con tanta humildad, respeto y profunda contemplación que comparto que me han ofrecido la oportunidad de mis sueños y no regresaré el próximo semestre en Animo Venice. Este semestre pasado ha sido uno de los mejores trabajando con mis dulces estudiantes, excelentes familias y un personal increíble. Esta fue la decisión más difícil que he tenido que tomar porque Animo Venice ha sido mi familia durante el último año y medio.

Tenga en cuenta que nuestros estudiantes continuarán recibiendo los servicios y adaptaciones enumerados en sus IEP. Estamos trabajando duro para encontrar un reemplazo lo antes posible. Aquí está mi correo electrónico personal para que usted y sus alumnos puedan contactarme y mantenerme informado de todo el maravilloso progreso: lilyquintero.24@gmail.com.

Good afternoon,
Several of you have reached out with questions you have received from your staff and/or families regarding LAUSD's resolution to place a cap on new charters. I am attaching a few things to help you navigate questions you might get. Please do not forward or distribute these materials. They are not ready for general public consumption. Please feel free to reach out with any questions.

Attachments:

-Truth About Charters – We will be using this in food for thoughts with your teachers this semester. We will also be doing an activity using these and other talking points during the February offsite with admin. These should help you understand why we think a cap on new charters is bad. It also gives you talking points about facilities and charter transparency and accountability.

-Op Ed – This is an op ed written by me and the Green Dot CA Board Chair. We sent it to the LA Times. Not sure it will get published, but it will give you some good framing around the charter cap resolution.

-LAUSD resolution – I have attached the final copy of the charter cap resolution that will be voted on this Tuesday.

Date: Monday, December 10, 2018 2:33:22 PM

Hey Kev here are some thoughts I had during 6th today?

Do you think students would benefit from having a hand out that has the different tools on it? Like if we just printed out that slide from the ppt?

I like that you're not letting them listen to Music. It might be cool to send out a little "here's what I did" email to the department with your recommendations.

Students who have had a "preferred name" entered in Powerschool may get messed up on test days. Have them try their given name. For example Kirsten had to sign in as Amari even though her little card said Kirsten.

I was wondering if you had some time to talk this morning about a student we are struggling with. I need ideas on ways to change behavior that is sexual harassing in nature. Like what kind of interventions I can try with a student who is really struggling to integrate into our community.

If you have time I'd really like your insight.

A couple things I would like to discuss:
-the ELL PD (as Laura's email alluded to)
-switching drama back to 7th period

Can we meet at one of these times?
-at the beginning of 4th period tomorrow
-during advisory Wednesday
-during 4th period on Thursday (any time)

I am including Sherrie on the email in case you can't meet with me I could meet with her instead.

Subject: New form response notification

Your form has a new entry. Here are all the answers.

Email address	franz.liebster@animo.org
Teacher Name	Franz Liebster
Student Name (Only one student per form)	[redacted]
Student Grade level	9
Does student have and IEP, 504 or BSP? (You can find this information on powerschool)	No
Level of Behavior	Moderate - handled in class but admin follow up is requested (not immediate)
Description of Incident (Antecedent, behavior, conclusion)	At 2:52 on Tuesday 1/29, [redacted] was out of class early and walked to my door, which was closed (completely locked and shut). He proceeded to rattle and bang my door for two whole minutes without stopping. I had drawn the blinds and told students to ignore the sound because I knew he would walk into my class if I opened the door, but then [redacted] walked to the door and opened it anyways, at which point [redacted] walked in. I told him that banging and knocking my door was inappropriate, but he stood very close to me staring me in the face with a wordless smile. When I realized that he was not going to answer me, I walked away to fill out this referral, at which point he began mingling with other students who were packing up. When the bell rang, he asked me about taking the final, which he can no longer do, and he left.
Interventions Tried	I knew that [redacted] was going to walk into my class when I saw him down the hall [redacted] had popped out without permission and said something to him), and I closed the door and blinds to signal that my room was not to be entered. When the student opened the door, he walked right in and stared me down (very close to my body) in a way that was clearly intended to show that he was here to do whatever he wanted. I tried to explain to him why that was inappropriate and that he was not allowed to be in my classroom, but he did not move or respond, instead just smiling in my face.

Recommended/requested consequence, restoration, or intervention	I think we still have [redacted] on an escort system for the hallways, and that needs to be followed. He walked out of my class earlier today, despite the fact that Murcia was standing literally by my door. I;m not sure how to do this, but signaling to him that he cannot simply go into random classrooms because he "has something to do/say to someone in there" is not appropriate. Any support with [redacted]s return would be appreciated.

And does it address the important standards (ELA and ELD) of the unit? Are questions we're hoping you can help us with.

Sofia and I were both disappointed by the comments made today at the ILT meeting. Although they were said in a joking manner, it seemed like there have been conversations by admin about Sofia and I working together. Making statements such as, we have a powerful dynamic, are a clique, are the mean girls, or that we can't sit by each other.

It has never been something that has been brought up to us personally, so to have those things stated at an ILT meeting came as a surprise. Additionally, being put on the spot in this way in front of our peers was demeaning. For all that we both do for the school, this was very disheartening for us. It's hard to assume best intentions when comments are made like that in a large group setting.

Hi Julio,

If today's collaboration is grade level time, I am wondering when teacher prep will occur since it has not within the last three weeks. Will this happen sometime next week? We had department time last week, and grade level time the week before that, so I'm wondering why GL time is occurring again today and when teacher prep will take place. Many teachers were unaware of today's meeting, as it was not in this week's Principal's post.

Thank you for clarifying!

Dear ELA dept chairs and principals,

TODAY is the deadline for uploading your Animo Voices student winner entries via this Animo Voices Submissions Google Form! Shout out to Animo City of Champions, Animo Jefferson, Animo Westside, Animo Jackie Robinson, Oscar de la Hoya Animo, and Animo Pat Brown for submitting student entries.

Our judges' panel convenes on Monday, so please reach out if you are having a difficult time meeting the deadline and would like support. I know that the rest of you have been engaged in judging and revisions, we just don't want you to miss your school to miss this exciting opportunity for your students and teachers.

Thank you!

Subject: ELA Chair Check in/ Reminders

Good morning, ELA department chairs!

I hope that this email finds you doing well as January quickly winds to a close.

I just wanted to send out some important reminders and updates to keep in mind prior to our mtg on Feb 11th.

- Animo Voices Deadline: I just sent an email with a reminder to all ELA teachers, but would love your follow-up to make sure your school site winners and teachers receive their prizes and become eligible to win one of the finalist prizes. Please check in with your ELA department and make sure that your school site submissions for the Animo Voices writing competition have been submitted by this Thursday.
- Department Chair Planning Tool- Please update this tool to make sure that your school site tab accurately reflects your department goals and vision before our Feb 11th ILT pd session. We will review it during the pullout session.

Please don't hesitate to reach out with any questions or concerns.

Have a great day,

Dear ELA Department Chairs,

We are looking forward to our last of two ELA Dept Chair Professional Development sessions with you. Please accept this meeting maker so that we know you are attending. Please also notify your admin and SOM to secure a sub. If you are unable to attend, please work with your admin to identify a colleague who may be able to attend in your place.

Topics Covered will include:

- ELA Curriculum Transition- We will review plans for supporting teachers through the transition and invite your feedback on novel integration, future GDCAPs, and professional development.
- Programming, Master Scheduling and Ordering
- ELD ILT PD Support for Semester 2
- S2 Dept Goals, Data Analysis and SBAC planning

Please Be Sure to Bring:

- Your ELA Department Chair "Pathfinder Binder"(you should have received this at the ELA Summer Summit or your CS)
- Your "Integrated ELD Binder" (you should have received this at your school site during your Integrated ELD PD)
- A charged laptop
- Your ID to get into the Locke campus

Please reach out with any questions or concerns!

Hello Joshua and Julio,

I wanted to give both of you an update about Allision Lee and onboarding her as a new teacher. On 1/8/19 and 1/9/19 I have schedule 4 schools between the two days that we will be visiting and observing in the morning session, then debriefing and planning in the afternoon. I am under the assumption that Allision will transition into the classroom the 2nd week back with co-teaching with the current long term sub, then fully taking over the classroom in the 3rd week. Below I am attaching the schedule for both days, please let me know if there are any issues:

1/8/19: Focus - Classroom Management

- Observe Animo Pat Brown
  - 8:00 am – 9:30 am
- Observe Animo Florence Firestone
  - 10:00 am – 11:30 am
- Break for Lunch
  - 11:30 am – 12:30 pm
- Strong Start New Teacher Training (Locke)
  - 12:30 pm – 3:30 pm

1/9/19: Focus – Chemistry Planning/Lesson Design

- Observe Animo Leadership
  - 8:00 am – 9:30 am
- Observe Animo Inglewood
  - 10:00 am – 11:30 am
- Break for Lunch
  - 11:30 am – 12:30 pm
- Unit Planning Chemistry (Animo Venice)
  - 12:30 pm – 3:30 pm

The goal is that by the end of these 2 days, Allison will have role-played and practiced classroom management/structures with me to begin 5E lesson planning. I will of course add her to my new teacher caseload and make coaching her a priority, seeing her in the beginning 3 – 4 times a month. Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Sincerely,

Stephen Skoropad

Subject: Twins" passes
Date: Thursday, January 31, 2019 3:28:17 PM

Hi team,

Today during my 4th period AS class [redacted] knocked on the door and wanted to hang out because, according to him, he was kicked out of Mr. Torres' class and had nowhere to go. If [redacted] is in need of a break, please make him use one of his passes. Also, let him know that rooms 202 and 203 are not to be used for breaks as this interrupts instruction and the testing environment for those with accommodations. I called down to the main office to let them know that [redacted] should be expected there as he was not allowed in to his Spanish class and I did not want him floating around outside with nowhere to go for the remainder of the period.

Also during my 4th period AS class, I gave [redacted] permission to take a computer assessment in room 202 because he said he needed to use headphones. The assessment was completed quickly but [redacted] wanted to stay in 202 and did so until I picked up the phone to call the office for support. In the future, the twins both have their own headphones and should bring them with, like all other students, if they want to use headphones. The headphones in 202 are for use in our classroom.

Honestly, I think the twins are looking for reasons to come visit me. With Lily gone now I see them MUCH more often seeking attention. I am totally willing to be that person they come to when they need something but during my 4th period, this is a time I need to focus on my AS class, while providing the class with an environment with as few distractions as possible.

I am reaching out to all of you for your support for myself and the twins. Thank you!

Date:	Monday, December 10, 2018 12:06:58 PM
Attachments:	image002.png image001.png

Good Afternoon Math Teachers + Administrators,

I wanted to email you today to share some updates on IAB testing as well as information on how to access data.

Several schools have tested some of their classes already. While some classes have been able to finish within a class period (at the MS level) or block period (at the HS level), a few classes have needed more time. Therefore, we recommend planning for a second day of testing that can be used if needed just in case.

Remember that students will need their login information printed out for them. You will need support from office staff or admin to run the logins report from PowerSchool. Directions are included here:

- How to Print Student Login Cards_Class Roster.pdf
- How to Print Student Login Cards_All Students.pdf

Here are some supporting resources to help you understand how to plan for and administer your IAB.

- Interim Assessment Viewing System One Pager – This shows you how to login and preview the IAB you will be administering to your students.
- IAB Implementation Guide – This shows you how to access the TOMs system and administer the test to students.
- IAB Intro for Students – This is a presentation with some messaging and instructions for students on taking IABs.

Accessing the data from the assessment requires a separate login than the one used to administer the assessment (thanks, State of California ☺). You should have received an additional email you can use to set-up the SBAC Reporting System website. If you can't find the email, you can try to follow the Forgot Your Password link on the site. The system will allow you to access data for your students by test and to explore the data by student scale scores or specific item. We've put together a presentation on Accessing IAB Data that should guide you through the process.

Please reach out to me or your Math Curriculum Specialist with any questions.

Subject: Upcoming IAB Administration

Good Evening Math Teachers,

I'd like to share some updates and information with you regarding our upcoming round of IAB testing. By now, you should have received an email with your CAASPP login information that gives you access to the Interim Assessment platform.

As a reminder, the IABs are Interim Assessment Blocks created by SBAC. We will be administering them in place of our Q2 GDCAPs this year.

- They are relatively short (10-16 question) assessments focused on a particular content strand of 6th, 7th, or 8th grade or HS math standards. The assessments are composed of questions written for the SBAC and we've chosen IABs similar to the CAT (computer adaptive) portion of the test. They are given in the same TOMs platform where the SBAC will be administered.
- The assessment is not summative of all standard covered so far but it is appropriate to be given as a final or a portion of a final if other summative assessments have been administered throughout the semester.
- These assessments will provide student exposure to the type of test they will take with SBAC at the end of the year. While the assessments are as content-aligned as possible, there may be a few unfamiliar items for students. This is what will happen on SBAC, so it's a good opportunity to apply some of their sense-making skills.
- The assessments will also provide us a snapshot of student progress towards SBAC on some of the standards covered so far this year and allow us to analyze item-level data in a way that we do not get to do with SBAC.

Here are some supporting resources to help you understand how to plan for and administer your IAB.

- Interim Assessment Viewing System One Pager – This shows you how to login and preview the IAB you will be administering to your students.

- IAB Implementation Guide – This shows you how to access the TOMs system and administer the test to students.
- IAB Intro for Students – This is a presentation with some messaging and instructions for students on taking IABs.

Please reach out to myself and/or your Math Curriculum Specialist with additional questions or for needed additional support.

Dear GDPS School Leaders and Presenters,

Due to power instability at Locke, we are moving 95/5 for Principals to Animo Inglewood tomorrow. Given the last minute change in plans , the ALT and I need to ask for a bit of help. We are without our normal supplies so we ask that you please bring your own coffee, water and snacks. We will have breakfast provided by Cluster 3 and Cluster 4 but we will be scrabbling for other supplies. Please remember to bring your CRT, fully charged laptop and something to write with. We ask that you please park in the public lot to the east of Animo Inglewood and not in the front parking lot. Thanks in advance. Gordon

Dear GDPSC School Leaders,

The ALT is excited to host 95/5 for Principals on December 6th and Assistant Principals and AIRs on December 13th. As tradition, we are asking school leaders to donate a $15, unwrapped toy for a child of 5 to 14 years of age. Please bring this gift with you to 95/5. We ask that please join us early for breakfast with your peers and the Area Superintendents.

Reminder to bring your Culturally Responsive Teaching and the Brain as well as a fully charged laptops (we will be using them throughout the day). Per feedback and in attempt to make 95/5s more impactful for you and your colleagues, we have modified the agenda (see below) to include blocks of planning time (total of 75 mins) so that you can apply new learning and start making critical moves. During this time you will have an opportunity to collaborate with colleagues and/or your area superintendent. To ground all of our units for the day in our equity work, we have moved the Learning for Equity unit to the beginning of the day.

Subject:	UTLA strike Day 2 - new information and reminders for tomorrow
Date:	Tuesday, January 15, 2019 8:18:45 PM
Importance:	High

Good evening,

Thank you all for the work you did today to ensure a focus on teaching and learning at your schools. See below for new information regarding the strike and reminders for tomorrow. Let me know if you have any questions.

Updated information regarding the strike:

- We did not have any significant activity at our schools today. We did have about 25 protestors show up in front of Ánimo Florence Firestone for about 20 minutes holding signs and chanting, "No more charters!"
- UTLA held a rally in front of the California Charter Schools Association (CCSA) offices today at 10:30, and emphasized their desire for a charter cap/moratorium.
- UTLA also held a press conference in front of Accelerated Schools, a group of schools unionized by UTLA who also went on strike today. They are the first charter in California to do so.
- Our understanding is that UTLA has told teachers to focus on protests at school sites tomorrow and Thursday, so we could have more activity in the next couple of days than we have had so far.
- Some parents from other charter organizations have received phone calls with a false message that their school is closed tomorrow. Please let your area superintendent if any parents at your school say they have received similar messages.

Additional reminders for tomorrow:

- Please have teachers take roll within the first 15 to 20 minutes of the first period of the day.
  - We will be pulling an attendance report in the morning to get a sense for our ADA each day of the strike.
  - Prompt attendance taking will give the school operations team at your school ample time to make calls home to remind parents we are open and to try to get students to school on the same day.
  - Our average attendance today was at 86%, a drop from our normal 95% ADA. Please be diligent about calling families to make sure students come to school.

Date:	Wednesday, January 16, 2019 8:58:12 PM

Good evening,
Thank you all for your continued focus on students! See below for new information regarding the strike and reminders for tomorrow. Let me know if you have any questions.

Updated information regarding the strike:

- We did not have any significant activity at our schools today. We did have protestors show up in front of Ánimo Florence Firestone once again for a short period of time.
- In a morning press conference, UTLA President Alex Caputo-Pearl noted that UTLA wants to reach, "a local agreement with LAUSD," and that they would continue working with the Mayor to get back to the negotiating table. UTLA announced that they would update members with information on when negotiations would resume. The California Charter Schools Association believes this means that UTLA is angling for an LAUSD Board resolution to regulate existing charters or ban new ones.
- Also at that press conference, City Councilmember Paul Koretz announced that he supports a charter moratorium.
- At a press conference on Monday, the Mayor stated he was also in favor of a charter moratorium.
- The California Charter Schools Association had an uptick in calls reporting protests that blocked entrances and picketers shouting explicitly anti-charter rhetoric today.

Additional reminders for tomorrow:

- Please have teachers take roll within the first 15 to 20 minutes of the first period of the day.
    - We will be pulling an attendance report in the morning to get a sense for our ADA each day of the strike.
    - Prompt attendance taking will give the school operations team at your school ample time to make calls home to remind parents we are open and to try to get students to school on the same day.
    - Our average attendance today remained at 86%, a drop from our normal 95% ADA. Please be diligent about calling families to make sure students come to school.

Date:	Thursday, January 17, 2019 9:40:20 PM
Importance:	High

Good evening,

Congratulations on getting through the 4th day of the strike and the last day of heavy rain! Below, you will find new updates regarding the strike and some additional information regarding student attendance. Let me know if you have any questions.

Updated information regarding the strike:

- We did not have any significant strike-related activities at our schools today. Once again, protestors showed up in front of Ánimo Florence Firestone for a brief period and chanted, "No more charters!" Josh must have done something to make them really mad. ☺

- The strike will continue on Friday and bargaining will likely continue through the weekend. UTLA President Alex Caputo Pearl urged teachers to come downtown starting at 10:30AM tomorrow for a rally at Grand Park to generate momentum for the bargaining team, as negotiations would likely continue over the weekend.

- There were problematic picketing incidents on some charter school campuses today - both at co-located and private sites. At sites in different areas of the city, picketers escalated their language and conduct. An incident occurred at The Accelerated Schools during which protestors pushed their way into campus; CCSA is supporting the school on a logistical and communications response to this event.

- Other labor groups weighed in and announced actions. SEIU Local 99 announced a series of very few sympathy strikes - only one is at a co-located campus; CCSA has notified that school. The Associated Administrators of Los Angeles union urged LASD leaders to close schools during the strike as pressure on LAUSD administrators has mounted. The District confirmed that they will keep schools open.

- We continue to work with CCSA to ensure union negotiations are resolved without any deals regarding problematic charter policies being made. We have been in contact with the LAUSD Superintendent, LAUSD Board Members and Mayor Garcetti so that they understand our concerns about the anti-charter rhetoric that has escalated throughout the strike.

Additional reminders for tomorrow:

- Please continue to make calls home when students are absent.
    - Based on the information OFMs have collected from SOMs regarding absences, it seems the rain has made it difficult for some our students to get to school. Hopefully, we will see a spike in attendance tomorrow since the rain is expected to clear up tonight.

- Our ADA this week has actually been better than we thought.
    - The ADA percentages I have been reporting each day were pulled in the morning. It turns out, by the end of the day, these percentages are higher – most likely because students arrived late due to the rain.
    - We are still below our normal 95% ADA, but we are much better off than we thought. We were at 91.4% ADA on Tuesday and 92.2% on Wednesday. Thank you for your diligence in calling parents and getting students to school!
    - I will wait to send out today's official ADA % until tomorrow when Tableau does its nightly update.
    - Locke, ACPA, APW & Western: Your OFM should have sent you a customized blackboard message to send out tonight or first thing tomorrow morning, since your attendance has been the most impacted this week. Reach out to your OFM if you have not received this message yet.

Date:	Monday, January 21, 2019 3:00:31 PM

Good morning,
The updates from Friday are below. You can click on the blue hyperlinks in the email to read the articles and letters mentioned. Please let me know if you have any questions. Hope you had a restful weekend!

There were no significant strike-related actions at any of our sites Friday.

Bargaining resumed last week between LAUSD and UTLA and will continue through the weekend. The two sides have signed a confidentiality agreement and therefore will not offer public details about the state of bargaining. On Friday, Superintendent Beutner, the Board of Education, and select Board Members issued statements following bargaining. Notably, the Superintendent told the press that he is optimistic the District will reach an agreement with UTLA over the weekend.

Protest incidents requiring intervention were down Friday at charter school campuses, with a few exceptions. With the great mass of str king teachers making their way to Grand Park for UTLA's 10:30AM rally, protests at school sites were limited. However, there were a few notable exceptions, especially at centrally-located co-located campuses following the rally.

A major charter-supportive opinion was published in the national press. We encourage you to share the piece - which takes a charter-positive angle on the strike, through your own social media outlets and your personal networks as you deem appropriate.

Green Dot student attendance for last week:

15-Jan	16-Jan	17-Jan	18-Jan

By now, many of you have heard that contract negotiations between UTLA and LAUSD ended today. This evening, UTLA's president announced that UTLA's contract was ratified by a supermajority of members, and teachers would be returning to their classrooms tomorrow.

I have attached two items published by UTLA today: a summary of the tentative agreements reached and a Board resolution that would institute a cap on new charters within LAUSD that will be voted on next Tuesday. We are still trying to understand all of the implications of a potential cap on charters, and I will share more information once we have a better understanding of what this could mean for Green Dot.

The two pieces we are most concerned about coming out of today are: 1) language regarding increased regulations for co-located sites and 2) the charter cap resolution. I will share more information in the next couple of days. We may need to mobilize some of your parents to attend the LAUSD Board meeting on Tuesday. I will let you know asap.

Thank you for all of your hard work this during the strike. Your leadership and your focus on students ensured we had minimal disruption to learning during a tense time in Los Angeles. Thank you!

Although the dynamics surrounding negotiations with UTLA are continuing to develop, it seems extremely likely they will strike in January. Two specific dates have been floating around as possible start dates for the strike: January 8th and January 23rd. Given the 8th is the second day we get back from break, I think it's important to refresh our memories regarding our plans and set up specific plans for co-located schools. Please plan to join one of the calls, even if you are not on a co-located campus. Thank you!

Good evening,
I hope you all had a restful break. As you all know, the UTLA strike is currently set to begin this Thursday, January 10th. There is a slight possibility that the date will be postponed to next Monday, January 14th. I will let you know as soon as I know if the date is postponed. For now, we need to ensure we are ready for the 10th. You can use the Potential Strike Resources sent out before break to make sure you have covered all of your bases. I wanted to highlight a few important follow-ups we discussed before break. Let me know if you have any questions after reviewing this list. Principals will also have an opportunity to ask questions during tomorrow's 95/5 session. Thank you!

-Blackboard calls to parents should go out tomorrow reminding them school is in session.

-If you have not already done so, please review the advisory lesson provided in the strike resources folder with your students.

-Make sure your staff is aware of the safety plan for your school.

-If there are any strike actions occurring in front of your school at any day during the strike, an administrator should contact your area superintendent immediately.

-Should your own teachers call out sick for any reason during the strike, please call one of our sub companies to secure a sub. Notify your area superintendent by 6:30 a.m. on any given morning if you will have more than 5 subs on campus or if the sub company does not have enough subs to fulfill your request.

Good afternoon,

UTLA announced today that they will likely strike starting January 10th. I wanted to remind school leaders to follow up on the next steps we discussed on our call last week (see below for your reference). Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you!

Next steps:
-Parent letters and blackboard messages need to go out this week.

-Blackboard messages should go out again in the morning on the day we come back from break (January 7th).

-Please review the advisory lesson with students prior to leaving for break OR the Monday we return from break.

-Meet with your staff this week to share the safety and security plan with them so they know what the plan is and are prepared to support.

-Meet with your CSOs to share the security plan and get their feedback.

-Work with your OFM and SOM to develop a plan to ensure any absent students' parents/guardians are called each day we get back from break so that we can be sure they are not staying home because they think our teachers are on strike. It is important that our families know our schools are open and focused on learning, even if a UTLA strike occurs.

-The EOC (Emergency Operations Center) at the home office will be activated the Monday we return from break so that we are prepared to support any schools should any strike-related issues unfold. Please contact your Area Superintendent should strike-related issues occur at your site so that the EOC can partner with your school.

Good evening,

Negotiations between UTLA and LAUSD are still in session. UTLA has announced that even if a resolution is reached tonight, the strike will continue tomorrow. Given the very limited activity at our schools last week, I am going to direct all home office folks who have been supporting schools with student arrivals to resume with their normal calendars tomorrow but remain on call as long as the strike is active in the event schools need support. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns. I hope everyone had a good weekend!

Good Afternoon Team,

As we continue to prepare for a probable strike by LAUSD, we have updated the Prop. 39 Co-located school site specific Strike Plan with the following information:

- A slide that identifies a secondary Bus drop-off and pick-up location as well as steps for managing changes to the normal Bus drop-off/pick-up procedures.
- A slide that identifies a secondary entry/exit point for food vendors as well as steps for managing changes to the normal food delivery procedures.
- Vendor contact information (Food and Bus)
- For Prop. 39 Co-Located Schools (LA School Police will be the primary point of contact for law enforcement support)
- Recommendations for holding breakfast and lunch inside of classrooms at Prop. 39 co-located schools.

For Non-Prop. 39 Schools, additional Security guidelines for handling protestors can also be accessed via the following link:

Hi!

Although Allison Lee will be teacher-of-record when she is clear to start, I know you were still interested in seeing other potential candidates, since technically Allison is considered a temporary employee given she started after the beginning of the school year.

Attached is the resume of Olumuyiwa Adewumi. He has been subbing since coming to the U.S. in 2015, while working on his credential. He has passed all 3 Chem CSETs, is aligned to Green Dot's mission and is able to clearly articulate his professional goals. His application and resume are attached, as well as the link to his strong video interview. He does have a 30-day sub permit, and would wither qualify for a short-term staff permit or be intern-eligible through his program at LACOE.

We have NOT yet sent him the lesson assignment as I wanted to be sure you do still want to demo/interview other candidates. Please confirm that with me, prior to reaching out to him to schedule – so I can get his started on his lesson plan.

Hi!

I am working with the Placement Coordinator at Grand Canyon University – and we'd like to place a SpEd student teacher at VEN next semester. Based on input from the Area Superintendents and the SpEd team, as well as evaluation data, we'd like to place her with Sofia Leal, with your approval and Sofia's agreement:

The placement would be from approximately February 7 – June 3, 2019 and I've defined the specifics from GCU below. There would be a $500 stipend for Sofia, paid by GCU.

Please note: we will be conducting a preliminary telephone interview/screen with all prospective student teachers before finalizing the acceptance of any placement. However, I don't want to ask that of the student, unless/until I have a mentor lined up.

Thank you in advance, and please let me know if you have any questions. We're hoping to lock this down by EOD Monday, 12/17.

Special Education Requirements:
The Special Education Program of Study requires a fifteen (15) or sixteen (16) week student teaching capstone (depending on the Teacher Candidate's program of study) as a fulltime mild-moderate placement in grades K-12 with a qualified resource or self-contained Cooperating Teacher.

Cooperating Teacher/Mentor Qualifications:

- A valid current professional license with proper endorsement for the teaching assignment
- Master's degree or exceptional experience
- A minimum of three years teaching experience
- Full recommendation of the building principal to serve as a Cooperating Teacher
- Desire and ability to work cooperatively with Teacher Candidates

Placement Dates
Placement dates for each Teacher Candidate may vary depending on the school site's start dates and availability. The placement is contingent upon the Teacher Candidate remaining academically and financially eligible.

The Cooperating Teacher/Mentor will be provided with training material to support this experience.

Student Teaching Roles
The following individuals are in position to support Teacher Candidates during the student teaching experience. A Teacher Candidate will be assigned to either a Cooperating Teacher or a Mentor in addition to a GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC) and GCU Faculty Supervisor.

- Cooperating Teacher: The Cooperating Teacher is the teacher in whose classroom the Teacher Candidate is placed in to complete the student teaching experience. Cooperating Teachers are entitled to a $250 stipend for each 8 week session.

- GCU Faculty Supervisor*: Teacher Candidates will be assigned a GCU Supervisor obtained through* the Office of Field Experience. The GCU Faculty Supervisor is responsible for completing two (2) collaborative observations and formal evaluations per each 8 week session.

- GCU Teacher Placement Counselor (TPC): The Teacher Placement Counselor secures placement with the district/school site and communicates with the Teacher Candidate regarding roles and expectations of student teaching.*

- GCU Field Experience Specialist (FES): The Field Experience Specialist is the primary support resource for Cooperating Teachers/Mentors and GCU Faculty Supervisors.*

Hi!

Attached is the resume of another potential Math candidate for your opening, who is actually a referral from Kristy Koenes . Sheila Soleau has a Clear Single-Subject credential in Frenchm with a supplementary Math authorization. This means she can teach 9th grade and below for Pre-Algebra, Algebra I, and Integrated Math. If your needs do not fall into these parameters, she can still be eligible for hire on a Limited Assignment Permit. Evidentially, she recently passed the Math CSETs I and II as she is hoping to obtain a Foundational Math credential anyway. The other caveat here is that Ms. Soleau lives in Huntington Beach and does NOT plan to relocate. She says she can make the commute, but that does give me pause.

We have not yet sent her the lesson assignment, so please let me know if you plan to reach out and when. Once I hear from you, we can send the assignment if you're interested. Attached is her application and resume, and below is her video interview link and synopsis.

https://greendot.hiringplatform.com/profile/1545061244/1553742-sheila-soleau
Glows: Passionate about teaching math, mentions experiential/discovery-based learning. Takes ownership over student learning. Experienced teacher who left the classroom after having kids, ready to go back – has been a sub in the meantime.
Grows: does not seem to have understanding of struggles and differences of LIC, though believes that all students can learn at high levels. Prefers middle school or lower level HS, West LA. Note: lives in Huntington Beach, is aware of the commute and still said she would like to be considered for VEN.

Felicia Woo Resume.pdf

Hi!

Attached is the resume of a potential Math candidate for your opening. Felicia Woo recently finished 2 semesters of student teaching with us, from the USC program. Last spring she was with Ines Mendoza at ODH, and this semester she was with Thomas Lo at JMS. Ms. Mendoza did not provide us with written feedback prior to leaving Green Dot last year, but Mr. Lo's comments are below, as is a short blurb from Edgar Flota. (When I spoke to Ines while at ODH, she had very positive comments about Felicia's work with her.)

Our only math openings right now, are at MAE (who wants to hire their sub when he passes his CSETs), and at Locke (which was too far of a commute for Felicia). We called her today about your new opening, and she was very excited and interested. (Ms. Woo also came to our Networking event last spring – even though she was not going to be eligible for hire until now not sure if you may have met her then.)

Felicia is now in Ohio for the holidays and won't be available to demo until after we return from break. However, I wanted to send you her information to gauge your interest level and if you want to get her scheduled now for the week of 1/7. I have not sent her a lesson assignment, but can easily do so. Please let me know!

Student Teacher Name	2. University Credential Program	3. Your Name	4. Your School Site	5. Content Area	6. What are the Student Teacher's areas of strength?	7. What are the Student Teacher's areas of growth?	8. Please describe any red flags (or lack thereof)	Additional Comments/Conclusion	Would you recommend the Student Teacher as a potential hire for Green Dot?
Felicia Woo	USC	Thomas Lo	Animo Jefferson Charter Middle School	Math	Ms. Woo is very reflective in her teaching practices, well organized, and understands the basics in lesson planning.	Teacher is working on classroom and time management.	No red flags that I've been able to identify.	Ms. Woo is a strong candidate, but will still have a lot to develop once hired. She seems to have the right attitude towards teaching and would be a great new hire for any school that is willing to invest time to develop new teachers.	Strongly Recommend

Edgar Flota comments:
Felicia is green and requires support in classroom management and lesson execution, but I would say that is outweighed by her responsiveness to feedback and positive attitude. She definitely has a lot of potential. I don't feel comfortable giving her my full endorsement because it can be a toss up with new teachers once you remove the student teacher supports, but from what she has shown I would offer her a position if one were available.

Hi again!

I just received request from the Placement Coordinator at Loyola Marymount's School of Education – and they are looking to place an Art student teacher for next semester, specifically at Venice. The placement would run from 1/15/2019 – 5/9/2019 and the stipend (paid by LMU) would be $300.

We'd like to make this placement with John Kannofsky – with your approval and his agreement. Specifics of the LMU program are below and attached.

Given we leave on break as of Friday, if you could let me know by EOD Tuesday, 12/18, I'd appreciate it – just in case I need to try and find a placement at another site. Thank you!

Specifics

- Master Teacher will receive training and instructions via email. (There may be an in-person training at LMU, but it is not scheduled at this time)
- A stipend of $300.00 will be sent to Green Dot after the placement ends, to distribute to the Master Teacher through our payroll system
- At least one of the Master Teacher's class rosters should have one ELL and one identified special needs student (do not need to be in the same class period)
- The Master Teacher will complete a mid- semester evaluation and an end-of-semester evaluation sent to them by LMU
- Student teachers will have 8 scheduled observations from their LMU University Supervisor during the semester
- Student teachers are required to teach at least 3 periods but not more than 4
- Student teachers are required to be on site during all teacher hours, faculty meetings, Open House, etc.

Good Morning VEN Team,

We are all set for your lottery tomorrow! Thanks to all of your team for their hard work in entering and verifying data and recruiting students. I've done a full data audit and everything is looking good (attached the Excel sheet as an FYI but no need to review).

You will be running four lotteries tomorrow, starting at 5:00PM:

- 9th grade: 209 applicants for 180 seats
- A lottery to waitlist students for 10th, 11th, and 12th grades.

Here are logistics to get ready for tomorrow:

- Please find the script attached. Please have someone available to read this script in English and Spanish, ideally the principal should read one of the parts. Reminder to please stick to the language as much as possible because it comes straight from our charter petitions and our HO Support Staff have been trained to run the computer portion of this lottery based on the script.
    - Please plan to have a third staff member available to answer parent questions
- Keep track of any parent questions that need to be followed up on post-lottery here
- Arlene and Jamie will be your Home Office Support staff and will run / project the computer automated lottery. They will be at the school between 4:00-4:30PM.
- Please send us the name of the printer we should connect to in order to print lottery results to post. We can download the printer in advance to save time.
- Make sure you have a room with good wifi, a projector setup and seating ready.

Please call or text me at 213-222-7543 if you have any questions or concerns before, during or after the lottery.

Hey Venice Math Team!

Thank you for opening your classrooms to Sherrie and me. It was great to see curriculum in every classroom, students engaged with the material, and a culture of learning. Things to consider are how to continue to give students opportunities to make meaning of the math through student to student discourse, as well as, helping students generate their own words to describe the math and then have them revise with the precise academic language.

Thanks!

Hi team,

I hope you all had a great winter break! We are getting ready to soon administer our student surveys this school year, and therefore need to ensure that all students are appropriately tagged to the correct case carrier in PS. Attached to this email is the most current list of students to case carrier.

Please review the attached list to ensure:

a.) You are tagged correctly to all of your students.
b.) All students with IEPs are tagged in PS.
c.) Any student who was exited has their disability code removed in PS.

Please review and make any needed updates by Friday 1/11/19. As always, reach out if you have any questions about this!

Today during passing period, I heard and saw [redacted] yelling "Hey [redacted] - you are fucked up" or "you wanna get fucked up".

She yelled this loud and twice from the second floor to the first floor. Her boyfriend [redacted] was next to her, so it wasn't to him.

I pulled her aside, she ignored me and went into Pina's class. I pulled her out anyway and told her it wasn't an option.

I told her that it was completely inappropriate and disrespectful for her to yell profanity across our school.

She tried to tell me that " I didn't even know why" I asked, but she didn't want to talk about it. I then reminded her that regardless of how upset she is, that is not the way to handle it.

I also told her that aside from disrespecting everyone who hear her, there may have also been a parent or district individual at our school and it is embarrassing for anyone to hear a student yelling the F word at the top of their lungs across both floors.

Hello team!

I think I have included everyone on the school culture team -- please let me know if I forgot anyone! I was reaching out to inquire what the process is when a student violates the conditions of their first DRB. I'm the case carrier for the student [redacted], so I want to be sure that I understand what the next steps are. [redacted] had a DRB last quarter with the following action plan:

Action Plan

[redacted] has served a three-day suspension. In addition, campus leaders and DRP have determined that [redacted] attendance at Ánimo Venice is subject to the following terms

- [redacted] is encouraged to participate in individual and/or group counseling services provided by Ánimo Venice.
- [redacted] will complete 20 hours of drug-related community service approved by administration (must be approved by Nov 30). Service must be completed by May 1, 2019.
- [redacted] will be subject to random searches by an administrator and school security.
- [redacted] will participate in after-school tutoring three times per week. Must show proof of attendance to Mr. Stern every Friday afternoon.
- [redacted] will not participate in the upcoming 9th grade incentive trip. He will instead report to Mr. Stern to complete a research project on the effects of drugs (Vape, marijuana and controlled substances) on teenagers. 2 pages, with citations.
- [redacted] will be subject to a behavior tracker that he must submit to each of his teachers, and checked by Mr. Stern each Friday.
- Each time [redacted] is ditching his class, he will be escorted back to class and receive a lunch detention.
- [redacted] will refrain from committing any further infractions as described in the school handbook.

Yesterday, he was sent home from school because he was clearly high on drugs at 2pm. I'm also unsure as to whether he has attended any after school tutoring or had drug-related community service approved. He is serving a 1-day detention for consuming drugs at school, but I'm wondering how this affects his DRB contract and what the next steps are?

Thanks so much and please let me know if there is anything I can do on my end.

Hi Jesse,
At least two of our teachers, that I know of, who are being consistently locked out of their computers and being forced to create a new password. This started happening after the December password reset. It's gotten to the point where they can't hardly use their computers anymore because at any moment they get locked out.

Have you seen this happening anywhere else? Can you look at their computers or meet with them the next time you are here?

Thank you!

These emails are worse because they sent pictures of female students.

I know the student who's email it was sent from and it sounds like someone hacked her email as well.

She also does not have Carlos at all since she's a 10th grader.

Good afternoon Francisco,

I hope all is well and welcome to Green Dot! I am the HR Business Partner for Animo Venice and I wanted to reach out to you regarding a few pending items/reminders:

- I-9 documents (I've attached a list of acceptable documents) – these should've been submitted within 3 days of hire (by Thursday 1/10/19 please)
- Complete all on-boarding tasks in Workday as soon as possible
- Please review the attached New Hire Presentation that was provided to all new teachers for new teacher week that goes over all important information
    - Specifically please note the action items regarding Benefits (you have 30 days from your hire date to elect your options - our Benefits team will reach out to you as the 30 day mark gets closer but if you have any questions please feel free reach out to them directly, they are CC'd here) – you can also review our Benefits website https://www.mygreendotbenefits.com/ for more helpful information.

Your items can be scanned/emailed to HR@greendot.org or you can stop by HR at the Home Office. If you would like to set up a call to ask specific questions about the presentation please let me know and we can set that up.

Thank you and I look forward to working with you,

Hi everyone,

Unfortunately, we were just notified that Welligent will be down this weekend, and the last 2 days of our semester. We apologize for the inconvenience and the late notice---we are hearing this for the first time today. What this means for us:

- All service logs for December need to be in by Wednesday 12/19, rather than Friday 12/21
- Any IEP scheduled for Thursday 12/20 or Friday 12/21 need to be rescheduled for Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday of next week
- Progress Reports Need to Be completed, printed, and provided to the Main Office by Wednesday 12/19, rather than 12/21.

Please reach out if you have any questions or need support in meeting the adjusted timelines.

Thank you for all you do!

Best,
Glynis

Welligent Unavailable from Saturday, December 15, 3 p.m. to Sunday, December 16, 11 p.m.
And from Thursday, December 20, 5 a.m. to Tuesday, December 25, 11 p.m.

The Welligent application will not be available from December 15, 3 p.m. to December 16, 11 p.m. to allow for an upgrade to the database and again from December 20, 5 a.m. to December 25, 11 p.m. to allow for an upgrade to the operating system. We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause.

Jesse,
I just wanted to follow-up with you about our conversation yesterday. Do you know if IT has been looking at getting WIFI connectors instead of HDMI cables. We want to do this for Rm 227 since the connecting doc on the wall is broken.

As I mentioned Mr. Rombro (out today) has one that he uses. Not sure if you had a chance to speak with him yesterday about the one he uses. But, would need to know the specs and if it connects with our teachers' laptops.

Thanks,

Hey ladies,

Having not done this work for a few years, I am wondering what the process if for acquiring the school student photos to be placed in the book. Are they on DVDs?

Please let me know about this.

Hi there!

I hope you're having a great morning already! Thank you so much for inviting me yesterday. Between the morning session and ELA department time, it felt really positive, focused, and centered around what students need. How are you and the admin team feeling about the day?

In the coming months, what does vision/goals work look like? Is it something that should live in department time? If so, can you let me know when the next few department meetings are?

Thank you again!

All my best,
Steph

Dear ELA Teachers,

We have many few tentative responses to the ELA curriculum adoption fair tomorrow, so I thought it might be helpful to share a few reasons why you might want to join us in this event.

As you know by now, we hope to finalize the decision about which ELA curriculum to adopt before we leave for winter break. Tomorrow is your last opportunity to explore the curriculum with publishers present to answer questions and highlight the features of their materials. Publishers will present their materials in an open forum setting and then participate in a panel where they will answer questions from the audience. We will provide an opportunity for participants to share their thoughts with colleagues before giving final individual input via survey.

A few additional reasons to attend-

- You went to the ELA "Cookies and Curriculum" mtg at your school site, but really wanted to spend more time exploring which curriculum will most effectively meet your students needs.
- You missed the "Cookies and Curriculum" curriculum review session that your department engaged in and don't want to miss out on this opportunity to learn about the options and weigh in on the selection.
- You piloted one curriculum, but would like to spend more time digging in to the other options available.
- You piloted a curriculum and would like to ask the publisher specific questions that you have about their resources.
- You would like an opportunity for your input to be considered by other educators and the Ed Team as the curriculum is selected.

We'd love to see you tomorrow if you choose to join us. If not, PLEASE make sure that you that you completed the "Cookies and Curriculum" survey sent to you by your literacy CS, so that your input is considered in this process.

Please reach out with any questions or concerns.

Best-

Subject: ELA Curriculum Adoption Fair
Location: Jetspace at Locke High School, 325 E 111th St, Los Angeles, CA 90061

The feedback obtained from those who attend this event, as well as the feedback from pilot teacher surveys, students who are participating in the pilot, and feedback from our "Curriculum and Cookies" dept mtgs will inform our final a decision on which curriculum to adopt. We will announce the curriculum we select on Wednesday, December 19th, so don't miss these opportunities to have your input considered!

Where: Jetspace at Locke High School, 325 E 111th St, Los Angeles, CA 90061

When: 8:30-1:00

What: As a final step in our ELA curriculum adoption process, we would like to invite all English teachers and admin to join us for a curriculum adoption fair. The goal of this half day event is to provide ELA teachers and admin with one more opportunity to review the final curriculum options for a fall 2019 adoption. Curriculum representatives will be present to provide an overview of resources and answer any remaining questions you may have about the curriculum materials.

You can find a quick overview of our curriculum adoption process, pilot, and timeline here. We hope you also plan to attend our lit team's school site "curriculum and cookies" visits, where we will meet with each ELA department to review the curriculum adoption process, explore the curriculum resources, hear from some of the teachers on your campus who are piloting materials, and give some initial feedback on the options available.

Please RSVP to this event by accepting this meeting maker. Don't hesitate to reach out with any questions or concerns.
